Loans Passed by Council Last Night Carries the City $556,393 Beyond Debt Limit

The financial status of the city of Lowell reached the crisis stage today when it became known that the loans passed and authorized by the city council last night, amounting to $220,000, carried the city $556,393 beyond the debt limit.

As of July 1, the city stood $271,360.7 removed from the debt limit, but since that time, including last night, loans authorized but not negotiated total $277,500, which places the city in the unusual position of authorizing the borrowing of money beyond the borrowing power of municipalities.

To be sure, the strained condition may be only temporary, for a substantial loan payment will be made the last of this month, but the fact remains, that today the city has contracted for larger obligations than it is entitled to assume by law.

New Ordinance Proposed Believed to Be Fraught With Significance

Might Also Lead to Rearrangement of System of Assessment

Would Make it Mandatory to Report all Increases to Board of Assessors

What may become the initial step toward a rearrangement of the city's system of assessment, is incorporated in an ordinance introduced into the city council last night, by Councilor Smith J. Adams, entitled:

The gist of the ordinance is in its main provision, which is, that any and all increases made in the rental or charge for use and occupation of any building or home within the city limits, shall be immediately reported by the owner or owners to the board of assessors.

The third section carries a real bite, when it provides a fine of not less than $100 for failure so to do.

It will be recalled that some several weeks ago, Albert J. Blazon, then a member of the board of assessors, in an interview given a representative of this paper, stated that he believed thoroughly in a new system of assessment, whereby property would be taxed on its income to its owner, rather than upon its valuation.

HIGH SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION ANTICIPATES NEW BUILDING

Vast Amount of Finishing Work Yet Remains to Be Done, Although Plans Are to Have Plant Ready for Occupancy When School Opens in September—Many Features in Beautiful Building

As far as the Lowell high school itself is concerned—that is—the physical part, made up at present of the directing and teaching staff, with 1700-odd pupils in prospect when the fall term begins, the school is ready to occupy the new building tomorrow. Whatever detail has been involved in the transfer of hundreds of pupils from other buildings to under one roof, and of course, there has been a great mass of it, has been attended to and if occasion required, the school could begin to function immediately.

School begins on Sept. 11. The physical part of the school will be ready, but will the building itself be in a condition to receive pupils?

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 21.—Declaring that local officials are unable to cope with the situation and that "Gov. Davis has refused to furnish us any protection" the Consolidated Coal & Coke Co., of Butler, Pa., through its attorneys here today, telegraphed President Harding asking that federal troops be sent to guard the company's operations near New Straitsville, Perry county, Ohio.

PRESIDENT TO CALL HOOPER

Will Confer With Labor Board Chairman on Rail Questions

State Troops on Duty in Disturbance Centers in Seven States

WASHINGTON, July 21 (By the Associated Press).—President Harding was called by administration advisers, who conferred with him today, to contemplate as his next move in the railroad strike the summoning to Washington of Chairman Hooper, of the railroad labor board for a full discussion of the questions at issue between employees and executives.

The probability of the new move was revealed today after the president had been informed by Chairman Cummins and Senators Watson of Indiana and Kellogg of Minnesota, of the senate interstate commerce committee of the details of the fruitless conference held by the senators last night with leading eastern railroad executives.

Three points. The information furnished the government through the conference, according to additional disclosures today, was that the three principal points at issue in the strike controversy were restoration of the seniority and of pension rights of the strikers and setting up a national board of adjustment.

It was said that future conferences "probably" would be held but it was not stated who would participate.

Senator Cummins seemed pessimistic over the outlook but Senator Watson was more optimistic.

The railroad executives in their conference were understood to have declared emphatically that there could be no restoration of the seniority right of those employees on strike. Restoration of seniority, they were said to hold, would violate the word of the railroad, given to the workers who laid the places of those who walked out and no such violation could be considered by the railroad management. The seniority question accordingly, was held to be the big point at issue.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of labor in a statement issued today invited the government to urge that the striking coal miners and the striking railroad workers and their respective employers inaugurate direct negotiations.

Troops at Concord

CONCORD, N. H., July 21.—Two companies of the New Hampshire national guard, ordered out yesterday afternoon by Gov. Albert G. Brown on request from Mayor Henry B. Chamberlain and the Boston & Maine railroad, following a disturbance Tuesday night in which 16 new workers were driven from their quarters, were assigned early today to their posts on railroad property here. The troops comprise 150 officers and men from Batteries C and D and of the 197th anti-aircraft field artillery.

Adjutant General Charles W. Howard, who was on hand last night when the troops came in on special trains, today formed a provisional battalion. Captain Arthur L. Smith of the Portsmouth battery, was placed in command.

Major George W. Merrill, state quartermaster forwarded sufficient supplies to the troops to last for several days. Railroad officials reaffirmed statements that they have sufficient number of men to handle the emergency.

Lowell Mourns Death of One of Her Best Loved Churchmen

Passing of Rt. Rev. Mgr. William O'Brien, Pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Brings Sorrow to His Parishioners, and the City at Large—Death Came Last Night After Brief Illness—He Worked Hard and Accomplished Much for the Peace and Welfare of His Fellow Man

RIGHT REV. MGR. WILLIAM O'BRIEN

Sad tidings indeed were brought to residents in Lowell, particularly members of St. Patrick's parish, when it became known late last evening that Rt. Rev. Monsignor William O'Brien, P.P., had suddenly laid down his earthly labors in the interests of his beloved church and parishioners and answered the call of his Divine Master, to whose service he had devoted a long and useful life.

The death came early in the evening. The monsignor, apparently in his usual good health, had visited the contractor engaged in the construction of the new home for the Xaverian Brothers, and returned to the rectory for supper. During the meal he complained of slight illness and was removed to his chamber, which he has occupied for nearly 22 years. It was soon evident that the elderly pastor was in a critical condition and although everything possible in a medical way was attempted, he sank gradually and died soon after the administration of the last rites of the church.

The body of the deceased monsignor has been laid out in his own room, under the personal direction of Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, designated by His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell to take full charge of arrangements. It will repose in the rectory until Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when an office for the dead will be held by all local priests. Afterward, an opportunity will be given the people not only of the parish but of the entire city to view the remains. A guard of honor will be at the casket. The body will be interred in the Holy Name society, St. Vincent de Paul society and the C.Y.M.L.

The funeral ceremonies will take place Monday, with a solemn high mass of requiem at 10.30 o'clock and a mass for the children at 8 o'clock. The funeral will be held at St. Patrick's church, where the monsignor's residence has since been established. Ground was broken for the new parish church in December, 1883, the cornerstone laid on April 7, 1884, and after the completion of the basement, Archbishop Williams bestowed his blessing upon it on June 22, 1885. Here services were conducted until the completion of his new church in 1886. The paragonage was built next and a year later the paragonage school building was constructed.

In 1900, following the death of his beloved uncle, "Fr. Michael," while on a visit to Ireland, he was transferred to the pastorate of St. Patrick's church, and there has served faithfully and effectively for the past 21 years.

PAY TRIBUTE TO HIS MEMORY

Prominent Citizens Praise Life Work of Able and Faithful Pastor

Many Friendships Cemented by Man of Faith and Wide Vision

Hardly had the news of Monsignor O'Brien's death become generally known, than men of the city, from every station and walk of life, expressed their sincerest sympathy. Naturally, he had friends closer to him than others and many of these paid glowing tribute to his life work as it was carried out in the city he had served so long and unselfishly.

REV. JOHN J. SHAW

No other Lowell clergyman was so long associated with the late Mgr. O'Brien as was the Rev. John J. Shaw of St. Michael's church. Speaking of the passing of the good priest this morning, Rev. Fr. Shaw said: "The news of his death has shocked us most deeply. The loss of his influence and his spiritual guidance is irreparable. His life was a benediction and a living inspiration both to his clergy and his people. In directing the religious activities of his parish he was ever zealous, gentle and considerate. He was especially devoted to the relief of the poor, the sick and the afflicted. To him the people went with their troubles and sorrows, and in such cases his fatherly counsel and deep sympathy gave them renewed hope and inspiration to bear life's crosses with Christian fortitude and resignation. To the clergy, he was the exemplar of the ideal priest and father whose sympathy and guidance gave them comfort and inspiration in all their difficulties. The life of Mgr. O'Brien though quiet and unassuming, was a continuous inspiration to his priests and his people, because of his ever deep and active zeal and devotion to the service of God and the salvation of souls."

REV. D. J. KELHER, P.D.

Rev. Daniel J. Kelher, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's church, paid the following tribute to Monsignor O'Brien: "I have scarcely recovered from the shock caused by the unexpected death of my esteemed friend, Rt. Rev. Mgr. William O'Brien. He was a true priest, a Christian gentleman, an exemplary pastor of his great parish, and a solid and local citizen. Of course his loss will be felt. He leaves with his people for their consolation and guidance, the record of a long life that has fulfilled the generous aspirations of his youth when he consecrated his life to the service of God. We may well feel that our dear departed friend has already heard the voice of the Master, speaking the words of love and wisdom: 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'"

REV. N. W. MATTHEWS

Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the Gethsemane P. M. church, counting Rev. Fr. O'Brien among his host of close friends, felt the loss keenly.

"The passing of Fr. O'Brien deeply impressed us as we read of it in the press today," he said. "We have known him since 1879. As curate at St. Patrick's and pastor of St. Michael's and St. Patrick's, he manifested the sterling qualities which make an ideal servant of God. His current of life was deep, steady, constructive in the work of building up the kingdom of God on earth."

"No pyrotechnics characterized his public life. His quiet, unassuming, devoted life and deeds will speak for themselves."

Yesterday Was Lowell Day at O. M. I. Cadet Camp in Wilmington

O. M. I. CADET ATHLETES

In the presence of hundreds of parents, relatives, friends and former cadets, Lowell day was fittingly observed at the O. M. I. Cadet camp in Millman's grove, Wilmington, yesterday. Athletic sports, field events, a baseball game and an impressive "red light" parade constituted a program of unusual merit, which was carried out in characteristic O. M. I. fashion.

The morning's objective was Silver Lake where a list of water races was conducted under the watchful eye of "Mike" Ryan, athletic and swimming instructor. Competition was keen at all times but the following could not be denied and finally emerged victorious:

50-yard dash for boys under 14 years of age: Edward Gibbons, first; John Regan, second. 50-yard dash for boys under 14: Hugh McGrogan, first; Harry Greaves, second. 50-yard dash for boys under 14 years of age: Donald Lindsey, first; Patrick Mullane, second. 50-yard dash for boys under 14 years of age: Joseph Donnelly, first; J. Price, second. High jump for all cadets: James Curran, first; Daniel Crowe, second. 70-yard dash for all cadets: James Curran, first; Harry Gibbons, second. Half mile for all cadets: John O'Connor, first; John Savage, second.

The well laid diamond was the scene of the afternoon's activities, an excellent baseball game being played here between the cadets and the Belvidere of Lowell. The cadets triumphed 15 to 3, but the score does not indicate the fast play that was evident throughout the game. Gibbons for the cadets had 15 strikeouts to his credit. Ed Tooley made a beautiful home run and Frank Gargan contributed the helms feature of the game with a spectacular catch in left field.

As the shades of night were falling, the cadets entered a flaming camp fire. Father Sullivan and his staff of officers occupied the center of the beautiful picture, and the visitors found an inspiring background. Cadet "Billie" Green of New Jersey, clad with a corset, and patriotic songs filled the air, blending harmoniously with the chirping of crickets and evocative night birds. The singing ever, Father Sullivan awarded the prizes to the winners of the various athletic events. He also took advantage of the opportunity to congratulate the boys for their splendid conduct during the tour of pleasant duty, and thanked them heartily for the manifest co-operation throughout the stay at the grove.

The big red light parade followed immediately after Father Sullivan concluded. The parade resembled the well known college snake dance symbolizing victory, and the soldiers carried it out to perfection. The play's activities culminated in a ringing three cheers before the headquarters tent of the genial Father Sullivan, after which the tired cadets prepared to their respective tents to await the sound of taps.

A sham battle between two "armies," the Red and the Blue, was on the program for today, and the "war" was replete with exciting combats. Tomorrow the cadets will shoulder their packs and begin the last long mile of the homeward journey.

The officers of this year's camp are as follows: Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O. M. I. chaplain and organizer; Francis Gargan, military instructor; Edward Tooley, assistant military instructor; Michael Ryan, athletic and swimming instructor; and the following in direct charge: Lieut. Col. William Herican, Adj. Richard Thomas, Capt. William Dooley, Capt. Irving Collins, former Lieut. Col. Lester Robinson, Lieut. Albert McDonald, Lieut. R. O'Brien, Lieut. I. Price, Lieut. John Conley, Lieut. Daniel Crowe and Lieut. Jack Goller.

The officers of Co. A are as follows: Maj. John O'Connor, commanding; Lieut. Francis O'Day and Lieut. James Dean; Company B—Capt. James Curran, Lieut. Francis Curran and Lieut. Thomas Kelleher; Company C—Capt. James Bushy, Lieut. Paul Garity and Lieut. Roger Kennedy.

The camp kitchen is in charge of "Slim" McKenzie, chef, with the following as his assistants: Lieut. Edward Duffy, P. Gushing, E. Watson, W. Kilborn, W. McClunkey and E. Wood.

"I believe in giving everything its due and I want to say right now I just can't praise Tanlae too highly for what it has done in my case," declared Jas. P. Humphreys, proprietor of the Hebron Motor Co., Hebron, Md.

"For three years or more I suffered from indigestion. After eating I would bloat terribly with gas and my heart would palpitate until it interfered with my breathing. I was habitually constipated and my nerves were all upset. My sleep was unsteady, I got up mornings all tired out, and I was only a shadow of my former self."

"Well, Tanlae has given me a keen appetite, stomach trouble has disappeared, my nerves have steadied down and I have gained several pounds. Tanlae, to my mind, is the best thing ever sold for stomach trouble and run-down condition."

Tanlae is sold by all good druggists.

CRESCENT HILLS DEFEAT DIXWELLS

In the second game of the recently organized Centralville Twilight league, played last evening on the Alken street grounds, the Crescent Hills defeated the Dixwell club by the score of 6 to 2. This is the second win for the Crescents as they previously planned defeat on the Beacon by the score of 11 to 2. The batteries in last night's game were as follows: Crescent Hills, Taylor and Riley; Dixwells, McElahan and O'Neill. The batting of Dixwells for the Crescents and O'Neill for the Dixwells provided the features of the game. Tonight, the Dixwells will play the Centralville Social club on the same grounds.

KU KLUX KLAN SENDS OUT WARNING

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—Robert I. Young of St. Joseph, candidate for the democratic nomination for United States senator, in a letter made public today, said he had received notice from the Ku Klux Klan to remove a campaign advertisement which he had contracted for insertion in the Jewish Record, a local Hebrew language newspaper, because "the Jew is after the almighty dollar, and to hell with the country."

Freud Weissmann, attorney for the newspaper, made public the letter which Young wrote to H. L. White, advertising representative of the paper in explanation of his refusal to fulfill the contract.

An excerpt from the letter read: "I have always been very friendly to the Jewish people and am yet, I am no moral coward, but I do not care to get a coat of tar and feathers."

Counsel for the paper announced suit would be filed against Young to collect money due it under the contract.

City Council Votes Loans Totalling Quarter Million Dollars

FRANCIS A. CONNOR

CHIEF EDWARD F. SAUNDERS

OWEN A. MONAHAN
City Messenger

Permanently Elects Edward F. Saunders Chief of Fire Department, Owen A. Monahan City Messenger and Francis A. Connor Superintendent of Public Buildings—Planning Board Confirmed and City Officials Asked to Appear Before Council at Next Meeting to Thrash Out Packard Matter

Loans aggregating a quarter of a million dollars were adopted by the city council last night, including one for $50,000 which will purchase sufficient apparatus to completely motorize the Lowell fire department. This huge amount of new money to be borrowed did not receive the approval of the entire council membership, for a small group, led by Councillor James

J. Gallagher, favored an application of the brakes as the city's borrowing capacity neared the maximum. It was a meeting that ran the entire gamut of municipal business from soup to nuts and more actual accomplishments were jammed into the two-hour session than has been the case for some time.

Three Officials Elected
Acting upon nominations presented to it by Mayor Brown, the council unanimously elected Edward F. Saunders chief of the fire department for a term of three years; Francis A. Connor superintendent of public buildings, for a term of two years and Owen A. Monahan city messenger for a two-year term. The trio are hold-over officials and their permanent elections are retroactive to Jan. 1, 1922. Cornelius F. Cronin, nominated for the position of superintendent of the civil employment bureau, who was elected for one year but only by a majority vote, the count being 5 to 4, with Councillors Adams, Chadwick, Chretien, McMahon and McPadden registering opposition.

cluded in the mayor's statement today, to the effect that he will veto the $50,000 loan order for new fire apparatus, which was one of six that went to make up last night's total of nearly one-quarter of a million dollars. Taken from another angle, it may be said that inasmuch as the city has not actually repaid its loans to the whole amount, the debt limit has not been surpassed, but there remains the question of whether the city even has the right to authorize loans in an amount that automatically carries the municipality beyond this limit.

As has been noted, the distance from the debt limit on July 1, according to the statement of the city auditor, was $271,356.07. Since that date there has been authorized, but not negotiated, a loan of $25,000 for macadam paving and another for $32,000 for park and playground areas. These two loans, together with the $20,000 authorized last night, comprise the total which creates the excess, when comparison is made with the figure as of the first day of the month.

Last year the city borrowed within the debt limit, which is exclusive of high school, water works and auditorium money, $554,000. This year's borrowing, made by the mayor early in the spring, or during discussions on budget figures, that he would not approve loans in 1922 that would bulk greater than $300,000, loans already have been authorized to the amount of $692,000, or only $2500 less than last year's total and with the present year's only half gone.

Exclusive of $3,000,000 borrowed as temporary money in anticipation of revenue, have been authorized as follows:

Sewer construction	$80,000
Auditorium	70,000
Permanent Pvg.	100,000
First Street Const.	70,000
Sidewalks	25,000
Macadam	25,000
Park Street Parkway	10,000
Bridge	40,000
First Street Park	25,000
Fire Apparatus	50,000
Misc. Playgrounds	32,500
Total	$592,500

In addition to this total of more than half a million dollars has been transferred from the prior revenue account to various departments as supplementary budgets, $54,500. This, of course, does not count the year's closing amount of money is being used.

Councillor James J. Gallagher attempted to slow things up a bit at last night's meeting and gave warning that the city was spending pretty close to the debt line in the matter of money, but not even the councillor realized that the last volley was actually being shot. Mr. Gallagher said, "I think it is time we took out our pencils and did a little figuring today at city hall."

When asked whether he would veto any other of the loan orders passed last night, he said he had no right to give the others any study and knew nothing about them.

official report issued by the national general headquarters early today. The irregulars are now retreating southward.

Shelling Waterford
CORK, July 21.—An official bulletin issued early today by the republican insurgent headquarters here says that according to latest reports from Waterford, the national army forces are shelling the city.

Free state troops yesterday afternoon took possession of the asylum and infirmary in Waterford, says the statement. Republican snipers frustrated repeated attempts of the enemy to cross the river in boats. Owing to the fact that the cavalry barracks formed a conspicuous target for the Free State artillery, certain parts of the building were evacuated and destroyed by the republicans. The nationalists' fire from across the river killed two civilians and wounded four others. Many inhabitants have fled the city because of the bombardment, and the streets have been cleared of pedestrians.

There was considerable activity on the part of both forces in county Clare and South Galway.

The official bulletin reports inconclusive fighting in the Limerick area on July 19. Several civilians were wounded by the nationalist fire, the statement says. In East Limerick it continues, the republicans are operating mobile forces which are harassing the movements of Free State troops. The city of Cork is comparatively quiet.

CUTICURA HEALS RASH ON BACK

Spread To Neck and Arms. Itched and Burned. Lasted 3 Months.

"My trouble began with a rash breaking out on my back. My clothing aggravated it, and it kept spreading to my neck and arms. It itched and burned so that I spent many a sleepless night. The trouble lasted about three months. I tried different remedies without success. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample which helped me. I bought more and in three weeks was healed." (Signed) H. M. Kramer, 556 Hertel Ave., Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 24, 1922.

Cuticura Soap to cleanse and purify. Cuticura Ointment to soothe and heal and Cuticura Talcum to powder and perfume are ideal for daily toilet purposes.

May Curtail Rent Advances

rests no such change, its main provision is aimed at a proper classification of advances in rentals in order that the assessors may take cognizance of them and increase the valuation figures if they so desire.

The second section of the ordinance provides that all rent advances made from January 1 of this year until the time of passage of the ordinance, shall be reported to the assessors within 30 days from the date of such passage. The penalty clause also seems to apply to this section, as well.

Whether such reports, providing, of course, the ordinance becomes effective, would benefit the assessors at all this year, is a question for the time the ordinance would be passed in the ordinary course of events, the rate already will be announced, for it is now planned that the rate will have been reached by the middle of next month and surely, the new ordinance, would not come into effect much before that time.

However, the ordinance is looked upon as most significant and capable of causing more or less of a upheaval in the system of assessment and taxation, should it be followed to its natural conclusion.

The ordinance, in full, follows:

Section 1.—All persons, firms or corporations, resident or non-resident in the city of Lowell owning real estate in said city and not using or occupying the same for themselves or their family, or receiving rent or other income from said real estate, shall after the date of the passage of this ordinance, notify the board of assessors in writing of any increase made by said owners in the rental or charge for use and occupation of said real estate at the time said increase in rental or charge for use and occupation becomes effective against the tenant or occupant thereof.

Section 2.—All persons, firms or corporations resident or non-resident, owning real estate in this city, the rent or charge for use and occupation of which has been increased from Jan. 1, 1922, to the date of the passage of this ordinance, shall within 30 days from the date of the passage of this ordinance, furnish the board of assessors in writing a statement of such increase in rental or increased charge for use and occupation of said real estate.

Section 3.—Any person, firm or corporation failing to comply with the foregoing provisions of this ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not less than $100.

had not been disturbed since it was laid 38 years ago, workmen have found a statue, declared to be "pure Greek and 3000 years old" at Greystone, Samuel Untermeyer's country place. Isidore Kanti, sculptor, after a careful examination yesterday, declared that in his opinion the work not only was real Greek, but it was too good to have been done by any but a real master. The statue is of a woman and stands about 4 feet and 6 inches without the head, which had been broken off. The head was found first. Later the left hand was found, and still later the remainder of the body, all intact. It was taken to the home of Albert Millard, superintendent of Greystone. Last Tuesday afternoon, Millard reported to the city water department there was trouble with his water supply. Men were sent out and began digging in front of his cottage. It became necessary to dig under the big pipe itself and it was then that the diggers struck the head. A short time later the hand was found, and Tuesday evening they dug up the body. The cottage originally was a farmhouse, separated from the main estate. It has not yet been determined who owned it, but 40 years ago it was sold to John H. Waring, a manufacturer here. Mr. Waring later sold the whole estate, including the farm, to ex-Gov. Samuel H. Tilden, and the latter's estate sold it to Mr. Untermeyer. No theory for the presence of the statue has been advanced by the police or art experts.

HANGMAN'S BUSINESS IS NOT SO GOOD

MONTREAL, July 21.—Pleading that his business is uncertain and that his income cannot arbitrarily be increased, Arthur Ellis, hangman, has informed the court that he can spare his wife only $75 a month instead of the $110 she asks. Ellis, now on his way to Vancouver to handle the execution of three men, was brought into police court yesterday on a charge of assault preferred by his wife. The complaint was withdrawn after he promised to give Mrs. Ellis the $75 and the couple had shaken hands on the bargain. But Mrs. Ellis has reconsidered, and again is pleading for the $110. Her husband has been notified that she intends suing for a separation.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF TARIFF BILL

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Today is the first anniversary of the passage of the administration tariff bill by the house. The leaders on both sides of the senate are anxious to get it into conference. They are weary of the grind of work on what has become the longest legislative day in the history of the senate, a day that now has run 2208 hours or 121 more hours than there were committee amendments to the bill. In the senate it still is 12 o'clock noon, Thursday, April 20, 1922—the hour the tariff bill was called up—this bit of legislative fiction being indulged in with a hope of keeping it either except the most pressing legislation. But this fiction has not prevented senators from talking on most every subject under the sun.

ELECT OFFICERS BOSTON, July 21.—The National Leather & Shoe Finders' association in its final session of its 18th annual convention here yesterday elected Albert J. Bhains of Chicago as president. Peter W. Peterson of Chicago, was re-elected treasurer and the following chosen as vice presidents: J. W. Lissky, Atlanta, Ga.; L. G. Adams, Spokane, Wash.; L. Litchberger, Los Angeles; C. D. Fry, Wilkesbarre, Pa. and M. H. Goldman, Toledo, Ohio.

Railroad Strike Continued Many's work. New employees were expected to arrive today, the officials said. Crowds watched the detachment of the troops. There was no demonstration and the soldiers went quietly about their duties.

Can't Find Bullet GREENFIELD, July 21.—Physicians said today that an X-ray photograph had failed to disclose a bullet in the hip of James Rago of Boston, who, according to the reports of his company as well as the East Deerfield police and officials of the Boston & Maine railroad, was shot while swimming near East Deerfield, Wednesday night, with fellow Boston & Maine shop workers. After Rago was wounded, he was carried by his companions to police headquarters in East Deerfield and was later removed to the Greenfield hospital. His comrades reported to police and railroad officials that several shots had been fired from bushes across the river. Hospital authorities refused to say whether it was possible that the wound had been inflicted by a sharp stone.

Railroads Stand Firm CHICAGO, July 21.—The strike of railway shopmen today bore increasing external appearance of a finish fight.

An abortive conference at Washington last night between several railroad presidents and members of the senate interstate commerce committee only revealed strengthened determination on the part of the railroads not to weaken in their declaration to grant the demands of union men for reconsideration of the instructions which abolish seniority rights of the strikers, destroy their pension status and refuse creation of boards of adjustment. The conference also revealed that it was regarded as impracticable to pass legislation to deal with the present strike.

Reports from throughout the country told of annulment of nearly 300 trains and combining of numerous others. On the one hand, however, were reports of additional replacements of strikers with increasing efforts to safeguard them, while on the other the ranks of the strikers were said by union chiefs to have remained at full strength and the number actually out has been increased by walkouts in other departments of some railroads, the latest of consequence being that by 3000 clerks on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad.

Numerous reports of violence continued, spread from Fresno, Calif., to Worcester, Mass., and additional troops were ordered out. National guardsmen are on duty in Ohio, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Georgia, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Kansas. Troops were asked of Governor Kendall to protect Chicago, Greatwestern railroad property at Odawah, Ill., and outbreaks at Concord, N. H., caused the governor to send state troops there.

May Not Go Out DETROIT, July 21.—Only a remote possibility that the 400,000 members of the Maintenance of Way Brotherhood would be ordered out on strike remained today, when International officers of the union went into conference with D. E. Grable, International president, to discuss the general strike situation. So optimistic was President Grable, that he intimated the conference would devote most of its attention to members who have gone out on an unauthorized strike, rather than to a possible walkout of the entire membership.

MORE WATER POWER UNDER DEVELOPMENT
WASHINGTON, July 21.—There is more water power development under way than at any period in the nation's history, the federal power commission reported today in reviewing the results of its two years of administration under the water power act. Applications for waterpower developments have reached a total of 521 and involve approximately 28,000,000 horse power, or more than twice the existing waterpower installation of the country. In the last year they aggregated six million horse power of proposed installations. Although it has been able to take final action on more than half of the applications for permits and licenses filed, the commission, the report said, has been forced to delay action on many important projects due, it was said, to a wholly inadequate personnel.

(By N.E.A. Service)

TOLEDO, O., July 19.—"Flapper love, though fiery and passionate, cannot prevail against the deep, lasting affection of true love."

Thus Mrs. Pearl Thomas Gumm, Toledo bride of a few days, made philosopher through the suicide of Evelyn Couture, 19-year-old girl, and the wounding of her husband, summarized the tragedy.

As Mrs. Gumm nurses her husband, Kenneth, 21-year-old salesman, back to health at a hospital here, she tells of events which led to the shooting.

"Flapper love was to blame," she says. "Evelyn's love for Kenneth was of the flapper variety—very and passionate while it lasts, but shallow and impotent against true love. When I found sincere love, she weakened. I never would have done as she did. She couldn't stand to see another girl get him. It was not true love that stole her to fire the fatal shot, but pride that would not permit itself to be humbled. She was shallow, but I forgive her."

"I know men, because as a manufacturer and artists' model I have been acquainted with many. They want some girls for parties and show, but others they want for companionship and love."

Mrs. Gumm, then Mrs. Thomas, met Gumm three years ago. But there was a disagreement between them, and she left Toledo. Then she learned that Kenneth in the meantime had returned to Toledo and the old friendship with Gumm was renewed.

"Evelyn was furious," Mrs. Gumm says. "Day and night she trailed us. One night, on a downtown street, she flashed a revolver and threatened us. That night when we reached home, I told him I was going to give him up to her, but he pleaded—and I stayed by him."

A few weeks later, Mrs. Thomas and Gumm were married. After the ceremony, while a party in celebration was being held in the Gumm's apartment, there came a knock on the door. It was Evelyn.

"The Couture girl entered the room. Kenneth told her to 'go home, monkey, we are married.' The girl flashed a gun and fired. The bullet struck Kenneth in the chest. Then she turned the gun against her own temple, and fell to the floor dead."

"I love Kenneth more now than I ever did," the bride says, as she watches beside him in the hospital. "No flapper in the world can take him from me."

"Flapper love—it is a failure."

unanimous vote in each instance the mayor's nominations for places upon the new planning board, as follows: Joseph H. Gullet, five years; Albert W. David, four years; Charles E. Anderson, three years; Mrs. Bertha H. Olney, two years; and Benjamin S. Pouzner, one year.

McPadden Raps Mayor
The meeting was not without its spice and paprika and was featured by a stinging arraignment of Mayor John J. McPadden, speaking after his honor had submitted three vetoes to the council, accompanied by a lengthy communication, in which he branded the council as an "obstructionist" and the originator of the orders having to do with the purchase of a Packard touring car.

The councilor was on his feet the moment President Bagley finished reading the communication and made counter-charges of illegal and irregular conduct in the mayor's department, declared that the general expense fund, against which the purchase price of the Packard was charged, was not a fund "to be spent, played with or looted as any one man wished," but was a general fund, as the name implies, and wound up by presenting a motion to the effect that the city clerk be authorized to engage counsel to bring action against the Packard Motor Car Co. in an attempt to recover the purchase price of the machine.

Packard Matter in Foreground

Councilor Gallagher, however, went a step farther in the matter and introduced an order which would bring the mayor, purchasing agent, city auditor, budget and audit committee and board of public service before the council at its next regular meeting, with all available data concerning not only the purchase of the Packard touring car by his honor, but also the purchase of two Packard trucks for the street department.

This motion was agreeable to Councilor McPadden and it was resolved. Representatives of the Trades and Labor council presented a communication to the council relative to alleged illegal actions of the part of William A. Arnold, superintendent of state aid and charging him with sending service men to seek work in shops where labor troubles are in progress.

It was decided to take no action until both sides of the controversy had been heard and to this end Supt. Arnold will be given a hearing before the council at the next meeting.

It was thought that the mayor would send in the nomination of Mrs. Sarah Kittredge for Mr. Arnold's place, as he had stated he would do in the afternoon, but it did not appear.

Three Nominations to Expire

By failing to act on the nominations of Dr. William F. Ryan for city physician and Edwin T. Shaw and Frank J. Hubbs for assessors, the council showed a disposition to let them expire in the natural way. As all three were in the council on June 23, they will automatically become out-laws tomorrow.

Zoning Ordinance Hearing

Before the regular meeting the council gave a hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance. It was first thought that the committee on ordinances would conduct the hearing but a "rider" on the ordinance provided for a discussion before the entire body.

Councilor Gallagher, as chairman of the committee, read the ordinance, however.

Councilor Donald M. Cameron was the only absentee when the roll was called.

City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney was the first speaker. He said the ordinance had been framed as the result of a growing condition in residential sections that rapidly was becoming intolerable. He felt that such districts should be protected from the encroachments of men who seek only to make money in the building and rental of small stores. These men have no concern as to the beauty of a residential section, the solicitor continued, and expressed the hope that the council would protect home owners in all parts of the city by adopting the ordinance.

On request of Councilor Gallagher, Pres. Bagley gave the ordinance a second reading.

As there were no remonstrants, the hearing was declared closed, after proponents had been asked to register their favor by standing.

Councilor Adams moved that the ordinance be adopted, but opposition developed for the reason that several councilors felt they desired further time for study before voting upon it.

Finally it was decided to refer the ordinance back to the committee for report at the next regular meeting.

Labor Enters Protest

The first business of the regular meeting was consideration of a communication from the Trades and Labor council, signed by Charles E. Anderson, president, protesting against alleged action on the part of William A. Arnold, superintendent of state aid, in recommending to service men who approached him for aid, that they seek work at the B. & M. car shops or the Merrimack mills, in both of which places strikes now are in progress.

The communication stated that if the state aid office is being used as an employment bureau for strike-breakers, such practice should be discontinued.

Councilor Sadler said that he feels Supt. Arnold has overstepped his authority in recommending any place to a man who comes to him for aid.

"If he cannot give a man state aid," said the councilor, "he has nothing further to do or suggest. We have a civil employment bureau to handle all such requests."

Councilor Gallagher suggested a public hearing be held on the matter so that the council may learn both sides of the question and it was voted to hold it at the next regular meeting.

Loan Orders Passed

On a roll call vote the $25,000 order for acquiring land in First street for park purposes was adopted.

A permanent paving order in the sum of $50,000 also was adopted.

When the $50,000 order for motor fire apparatus was called for adoption, Councilor Gallagher expressed the thought that the council should hesitate before passing any more loan orders.

He said he believes the fire department equipment is adequate for the city's needs at present. He favored a tractor for the Babcock truck at the Central station to be purchased immediately, but felt the other motor pieces desired might well wait until next year.

The councilor favored, however, the installation of a new fire alarm system, this year.

Councilor Sadler spoke in favor of the order and stressed the needs of the department for new motor apparatus.

Councilors Moriarty and McMahon also favored the order in the same amount and expressed the belief that it will be money well spent.

Councilor Gallagher, speaking again on the matter, said that if the council is to adequately protect the lives and property of its citizens, its first duty is to provide a suitable, safe and sure alarm system.

$50,000 For Fire Apparatus

On a roll call on the question of message, Councilors Chretien, Gallagher, Ganest and Stearns voted against, but it was adopted, 10 to 4, with one absent.

An order of $20,000 for sewer construction was adopted 13 to 1. Councilor Gallagher being opposed.

The council unanimously adopted

an order for bridge construction in the sum of $40,000.

In connection with this order a letter was received from Mayor Brown, in which he stated that he would approve it, if it was understood that the money shall be spent entirely for a reconstruction of the railroad bridge over Lundberg street.

An order for $25,000 for macadam paving was the sixth loan order to be adopted and raised the total for the meeting to $220,000.

Cronin Elected 9 to 5

The mayor nominated Cornelius J. Cronin for superintendent of the employment bureau.

On a roll call vote he was confirmed, 9 to 5, with one absent. The councilors voting against the nomination were Messrs. Adams, Chadwick, Chretien, McMahon and McPadden.

On the nominations of Owen Monahan for city messenger, Edward F. Saunders for chief of the fire department and Francis A. Connor for inspector of public buildings, confirmation was voted unanimously.

Planning Board Named

PLAYGROUND DISCONTINUED

The evening "street" playground on Chapel street, which was formerly conducted on Charles street, under the auspices of the chamber of commerce, has been discontinued owing to the objections of several residents in that vicinity. Chamber officials regret the discontinuance as the location had proved convenient to about 300 children and everything was proceeding smoothly. A new playground has been opened at Hanover and Moody streets, and it is hoped that it will be well patronized by the children of that neighborhood.

THE LOWEST DEATH RATE

Death and Infant Mortality Rates Struck Low Marks in 1921

(Special to The Sun) BOSTON, July 21.—Massachusetts had the lowest death rate ever recorded in its history during the year 1921, according to the annual report of the state department of vital statistics, made public today. The lowest infant mortality rate in the commonwealth was also experienced during the same period. Alcoholism caused 97 deaths, an increase of 38 over those in 1920, corresponding to a rate of 2.5 per 100,000 population. In 1919 there were 68 deaths from this cause; in 1918, 111; in 1917, 216, and in 1915, 186. Nearly one-third (30.9) of the deaths reported in 1921 were caused by organic heart disease, pneumonia and tuberculosis in all forms. These diseases, together with apoplexy, cancer, Bright's disease, external causes, malformations and the diseases of early infancy, caused 70.1 per cent of the deaths for the year. The infant mortality table shows that there were 22,245 births in 1921 and that deaths under one year of age amounted to 7,004; 75 deaths per 1000 live births. "A still better proof of the reduction in infant mortality," says the report, "is shown in the number of live births, interrupted only by slight decreases in the years 1894, 1898, 1901, 1919 and 1920. The annual number of infant deaths under one year of age is lower in 1921 than in any year since 1885, when the live births were only 48,798."

AWAITING ARREST

Kansas Editor Is Charged With Violation of Anti-Picketing Law

EMPORIA, Kan., July 21.—(By the Associated Press)—William Allen White, Kansas editor, awaited today service of a warrant for his arrest, directed by Governor Henry J. Allen, for alleged violation of the industrial court anti-picketing law, which, he was informed last night, was in preparation by Attorney General H. J. Hopkins. Hearing of his impending arrest, Mr. White restated his defiance of the ruling of the court that to display signs in sympathy with the striking railroad shopmen was against the law. Mr. White said that he would not take down the sign which he had placed in the window of the office of his newspaper the Emporia Gazette. "The sign reads: 'We are for the striking railway men 50 per cent. We are for a living wage and fair living conditions.' As originally placed in the window the sign read: '100 per cent' but Mr. White cut the percentage to 49 per cent Wednesday, and raised it to 50 per cent yesterday. Judge J. A. McDermott of the industrial court declares that the card in the window is lending moral support to an unlawful act and thereby creating an atmosphere in favor of law violation. Said Mr. White today: "The right to a free utterance of honest opinions is a fundamental right. Our fathers fought for it at Bunker Hill and at Gettysburg, and to restrict any from this calm expression of an honest opinion merely because there is a strike on in Kansas, is unwise." The governor said that Mr. White had the wrong "slant" in placing the strike sympathy card in the Gazette window, and that he did not believe that forbidding display of the cards was an attack on free speech.

POLITICAL FIGHT STILL IN DOUBT

OMAHA, Neb., July 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Adam McMullin of Beatrice today led Charles Randall of Randolph by 209 votes with fewer than 100 precincts missing in the only doubtful contest from Tuesday's statewide primary election, that for the republican gubernatorial nomination. The general opinion was that an official tabulation would be necessary to determine the winner.

Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock's to endorsement for renomination on the democratic ticket and the victory of R. E. Howell, republican national committeeman, classed as a "progressive republican" over Congressman Albert W. Jafferis, who ran on an administration and conservative platform will bring together in November two of the state's outstanding political figures. Charles W. Bryan, brother of William Jennings Bryan, won over Dan B. Butler, in the democratic gubernatorial race.

EMPRESS IS TALENTED

Future Ruler of Japan is Considered Ideal Young Woman

TOKIO, July 21 (By the Associated Press).—Princess Nagako, the future empress of Japan, whose engagement to the prince regent has just been officially announced, has attained her 10th year, and is regarded by the nation as the personification of beauty, virtue and love.

She was born in the simplest of the princely residences of the imperial family and her infancy was spent during the absence of her soldier-father, Prince Kuni, at the Russo-Japanese war, entirely under the influence of her mother, a princess of the Shunna family, the head of the old feudal class of Satsuma that embodies all the stern virtues of traditional Japan.

She attended the Peersesses' school at a time when General Nogai was its president, and was one of the best loved girls there, being democratic in her dealings with schoolmates and teachers, of an easy and graceful bearing and quick intellect.

When two years ago she was informally selected to be the future empress, her education was especially fitted to her future duties. A study of pure Japanese style was built for her and with two girl companions she studied the Chinese classics, Japanese language and literature, ethics, history, geography and science. A special course of lectures on the trend of world events and thought. She also studies the Japanese constitution, the imperial household law, psychology, the new inventions.

She is attaining real fluency in French and is gifted with keen artistic temperament. She loves poetry and translated into music of her own composition a poem, "A Spring Morning." She has a good soprano voice and takes lessons in piano, water color, charcoal drawing and purely Japanese painting.

The princess is a little over the average height of Japanese women, and has always been fond of outdoor life. She has a small garden near her study where she cultivates herself flowers, strawberries and vegetables. In keeping with age-old customs she grows rice in a paddy-field of her own making an offering of the grains to the gods.

She is said to be remarkable in her devotion and every morning appears before the imperial shrine in the woods of the imperial palace to offer prayers to the imperial ancestors.

She also has learnt the use of the typewriter, one of which was brought back to her by her brother from Europe, and is fond of photography.

PROHIBITION IS DECLARED

A CIVIC ASSET

EVANSTON, Ill., July 21.—Prohibition was declared to be a civic asset by officials of chambers of commerce in some of the leading cities of the country in statements sent to the Union Signal, the official publication of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union, and made public by that organ.

The Union Signal quoted the following officials:

James S. Cady, secretary of the Minneapolis association: "Prohibition has proved an economic asset in our community. It has promoted thrift and has been beneficial generally to the interests of our city."

Vance C. Criss, secretary of the Springfield (Mo.) association: "Prohibition has been helpful to the community for the reason that the oncoming generation has not had the access to liquor that was had by young men and boys of four or five years ago. In other words, there would seem to be less opportunity by far for the members of the next generation to become addicted to the liquor habit."

Nelson Marsman, associate secretary, Springfield (Mass.) association: "I believe that prohibition has proved to be an economic asset to this community and that it has promoted thrift among our people. A statement from the various savings banks shows that more people have savings accounts and that the balances are larger."

The charitable organizations of the city tell me that taking into consideration the recent business depression, there are fewer people receiving aid than during the time before prohibition. The former saloons in most cases are being used for other lines of business."

COMPLETE PLANS TO ## TRANSPORT MAILS

BOSTON, July 21.—Plans for transportation of the mails throughout New England by means of trucks in the event the railroad strike assumes wider proportions, are nearing completion, W. F. Farrington, superintendent of the railway mail service said today. Every postmaster in this section has been notified to take an immediate census of the government trucks in his territory, Mr. Farrington said.

"In case there are not enough government trucks available," he said, "we will hire private trucks, no matter at what cost."

BROTHER'S BIRTHDAY

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 21.—Edward R. Shedd, aged 29, employed as an electrician in a power station of the Amoskeag mill, was caught in the belting yesterday and hurled through the air, being instantly killed. He met death on the fourth anniversary that his brother, Daniel K. Shedd, fell on the battlefield at Chateau-Thierry.

RAILWAY MEN TO MEET IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 21.—Electric railways of the United States and Canada represent an investment of about $5,000,000,000, and the American Electric Railway association, comprising nearly 600 railway and manufacturing companies, according to executives of the association, which will hold its 41st annual convention here, simultaneously with the conventions of its subsidiary organizations, the Engineering, Transportation, Manufacturers,

Accountants and Claims associations, Oct. 2-4. This will be the first Chicago convention of the association since 1912, when exhibits were displayed at the Union stock yards. Large city and inter-urban passenger cars, motor buses and machinery of various sorts will be exhibited on the Municipal pier. The entire south side of the pier, upper level, will be used. Much of this space has already been engaged by exhibitors.

New High School

who know, say that orderliness and readiness will transpire. With the first day of school less than 60 days away there seems to be a tremendous amount of work yet to be done. Of course, it is all in the general term, "finishing touches," but even so, it bunks just as great.

The great beauty, compactness, excellence and adaptability of the new building easily are apparent today for structurally it is complete, except, perhaps, for the auditorium, which still is being decorated and finished on walls and ceiling. This huge hall, with a stage larger than any other in the city, now is a not work of mingling construction, soon to be removed, however, to allow the floor to be set.

Entire Building Attractive

While the entire building is attractive and intensely interesting and comprises a plant in which the city may well take pride, one or two rooms, or features, naturally stand out prominently in the mind of one who has been privileged to stroll through the classrooms, of course, and each is properly equipped for whatever particular art or science it is to house, but, naturally, there is a marked similarity and therefore, some of the attractiveness is overlooked.

Because they are different and becomingly similar to them were included in the former school, gymnasiums for boys and girls, shower bath, rooms, dressing rooms, domestic science laboratories, chemical laboratories, lecture rooms, the beautiful auditorium, the huge lunch room and rooms containing more than 1700 individual steel lockers, stand out as the most interesting features.

Beauty Centres in Auditorium

The beauty of the entire plant centers in the auditorium, to be known as the Cyrus Wendell Irish auditorium, in memory of the man who conceived the idea of just such a school plant.

but who was not allowed to live to see it become a reality. With its attractively decorated walls and ceiling and composition floor and with many easy entrances from either the floor or balcony, the hall will be one of the most useful parts of the building. Its seating capacity will be adequate for every occasion.

The main entrance from French street, through a set of three spacious doors, leads directly into the corridor that runs around the auditorium.

In the basement are two gymnasiums, one for boys and one for girls, two large locker rooms for clothing during school hours and the lunch room. The lunch room will have seating accommodations at tables for 850 at one time. The serving counter runs the entire width of the room on one end and behind it are steam tables and urns and other paraphernalia necessary to the operation of a lunch room on such a large scale. Just off to one side is the store room, containing an ice chest, nine feet high and 12 feet wide.

Lunch Room Plans

It is the hope of Headmaster Henry H. Harris to have all food served in the lunch room come from the domestic science department. "Instead of having the girls in that course prepare food in sample amounts, only," said Mr. Harris, "we hope to have them bake in quantities sufficient to supply the needs of the lunch room. It will be excellent training for the students and will have a means of cutting down the cost of operation."

At the present time the corridors of the new building are filled with shipments of desks and chairs and other equipment. In rooms on the third floor desks already are in place and are rapidly being assembled and placed in position on other floors.

Main Office and Library

On the main floor will be the administrative offices and library. Several of the bookcases already are in place and the office equipment is being set up as rapidly as possible. From the office, through a switchboard, all class rooms will be connected by an interior telephone system.

A freight elevator will operate from the basement to the third floor. The old building is more or less torn up at present on account of repair work being done. New floors are being laid in the corridors, new stair treads are taking the place of those badly worn and all ceilings are being plastered.

Next fall's entering class numbers 750, the largest in the school's history and it is the plan of the administration to have all the freshmen—and only freshmen—in the older building. Seating arrangements for the entire enrollment, numbering 1700, already have been made.

MILL HAZARDS AND
HOW TO AVOID THEMIssued by the
Massachusetts Safety CouncilBy John P. Meade, director, state division of industrial safety.

In June, 1921, Mr. Hoover's committee on elimination of waste in industry, reported in its findings to the American Engineering Council at St. Louis, that incapacity from employment because of industrial injury reported annually an approximate wage loss of $1,184,000,000.

The total direct cost of industrial accidents in the United States for the same year, including medical aid and other legitimate charges, was not less than $1,104,000,000 of which $319,000,000 was borne by employers and $685,000,000 by employees and their dependents. The opinion is expressed by these eminent authorities that 75 per cent. of this loss could be avoided.

In Massachusetts, one of the large industrial states in the union, work accidents constitute a matter of public interest. During the past ten years more than one half million tabular accidents have been sustained by workmen in the industries of this state, and approximately 12,000 of these accidents involved permanent partial disability such as the loss of fingers, feet, hands, toes, limbs and the sight of eyes. Over 8400 work accidents resulted fatally, enough to constitute the population of a good sized town.

To diminish the number of work accidents requires constructive work. Education of the employee is the most important factor. This is especially true of the young people who enter industry. The hope of the future in preventing suffering and loss because of work accidents rests principally with them. Training the youth to exercise due care in the course of his employment will establish the foundation of a new attitude toward safety in industry on the part of the future men and women who will be employed in hazardous industries in the commonwealth.

In all the large manufacturing cities of the state, minors between fourteen and sixteen years of age who are employed, are required to attend the continuation school at least four hours each week. There are now forty-seven schools of this description in Massachusetts, to which comes each week 30,000 children from the mills, factories, and other places of employment in the state. Here they should be taught the significance of hazards that lurk in work places and the importance of exercising due care in the scope of their employment.

In communities where a single industry predominates, danger zones are well known to the workmen and employers. In nearly every manufacturing establishment a typical practice is responsible for painful and numerous injuries. In the textile mills, for instance, the habit of picking cotton waste from machinery while it is in motion constitutes the origin of many serious accidents. Cleaning and oiling machinery while it is in motion frequently ends in the amputation of fingers and other serious and permanently disabling injuries. Young people must refrain from such practices if they wish to avoid the pain and suffering incidental to occupational injury.

Accidents have resulted fatally because young boys engaged in the practice of operating elevators in the absence of the person authorized to do so. Others have sustained injury and mutilation by contact with running gears after they have removed guards covering them. It is gratifying to note, however, that a gradual reduction in the number of these injuries is taking place each year.

For the year ending June 30, 1921, 1691 minors between fourteen and sixteen years of age sustained tabular injuries, ten of which ended fatally and sixty-two resulted in permanent partial disability to the worker.

In the year ending June 30, 1921, five children of the same age group lost their lives because of accidents in industry and 13 suffered injuries of a permanently disabling nature. In 1919, approximately 50,000 minors between fourteen and sixteen years of age were employed. In 1920, 47,000, and in 1921, 35,000. While the number of minors in this group found in industry for the year 1921 was approximately 28 per cent. less than 1919, the total accident rate was reduced 60 per cent. and the rate for permanently disabling injuries reduced about 80 per cent. in that time.

The substantial progress made in reducing accidents to young workers can be attributed to the interest now manifested in preventing accidents in industry. One large corporation of Massachusetts noted for its splendid work in preventing accidents to workmen, has for its motto: "A careful workman is the best safeguard." Injuries attributed to non-mechanical causes emphasize the importance of this statement.

A careful analysis of accidents resulting in loss of time to employees for one year, revealed the fact that 68 per cent. of all accidents occurring in that time were due to falls, handling material, contact with objects falling material and infections. But 32 per cent. was due to contact with moving machinery. Exceedingly few are the injuries now due to lack of machinery safeguards. This confirms the oft repeated assertion that if industry were combined clear of hazards there would be no serious problem in connection with work accidents.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES

Texans Will Tomorrow
Choose Members for Places on State Ticket

DALLAS, Tex., July 21.—The democratic primary in Texas, which will decide many of the democratic nominees, United States senator, congressmen and the state ticket will be held tomorrow.

A second primary, Aug. 26, is expected to determine the nominees in a few races. Nomination is considered equivalent to election. A majority is required for nomination in the first primary and wherever no candidate receives a majority, the two high candidates will enter to second primary.

In the race for the United States senatorship, Senator Charles A. Culberson, incumbent, has five opponents, and in some counties possibly six.

For a time James E. Ferguson, of Temple, Tex., former governor, and Mrs. Ferguson, his wife, both filed among the senatorial candidates, and as candidates against each other. They were placed in that position because Mr. Ferguson was uncertain about the attitude of the democratic state central committee towards his own candidacy, and had the committee decided his name should not go on the ballots. Mrs. Ferguson's name would have gone on, and she would have had the support of her husband. Both filed applications to have their names placed on the ballots, and the state committee accepted both applications. Mrs. Ferguson then sought to withdraw, but the state committee replied the names already had been certified to the county chairman. The attorney general gave an opinion she could withdraw if she desired, and the matter was left to the discretion of the county committee.

wherever Mrs. Ferguson's name would go on the ballot. It may appear in some counties.

Other candidates for the senatorial nomination are R. L. Henry, of Waco; Carlos B. Shoykett, Austin; Clarence O'Leary, Fort Worth and Cullen F. Thomas, Dallas.

Texas primary elections are held on Saturdays, and the great distances make collection of returns slow. Saturday is said to have been designated election day as an outgrowth of the convention system. The conventions were held on Saturday, it is said, to accommodate those living at distances from cities. Saturday was considered a day they could best attend the political meetings. So Saturday was selected as the most convenient election day.

THE "GRAVE" MYSTERY

Problem Solved After Much Digging

WOBBURN, July 21.—The "mystery" grave in the Golden Dome cemetery was opened yesterday and as a result the authorities have wiped the mystery from the official slate. The investigation is ended, and instead of a thrilling hunt to find those responsible for the death and secret burial of a woman, all that remains is to look back over records and find out who was laid away 10 or 11 years ago in the grave and since forgotten.

For days the Montvale section has been excited over secret burials on dark nights; women buried by lantern light; victims of hidden crimes. As the story went, a woman was buried in a grave in the rear of the Golden Dome cemetery, a woman whose identity was unknown and of whose death or burial there was no record. The aged superintendent of the cemetery, Harry Kritzer, dropped dead while being questioned about the affair by members of the Jewish congregation owning the cemetery.

LARGE GROUND

This noon the burial ground had a good-sized gathering within its confines. Some were Jews, but for the most part they were Gentiles, the latter officially present to see what the exhumation of the body would indicate. After a laborious task a flimsy pine casket was uncovered, and when the portion above the head was removed there was revealed—not the luxuriant hair of a woman, but a skull entirely bald. Incidentally the body was face down.

The box was only three feet below the surface, and as previous reports had the mystery coffin six feet under ground and brand new, immediately the impression was made that someone had switched the boxes, removed the original one found there on June 1 and substituted the old one uncovered yesterday afternoon.

Not a Jew!

The grave digger carefully scraped the sand and dirt around the head, the box being filled with dirt which had filtered through the cracks in the thin boards. Immediately Jewish members of the congregation owning the cemetery voiced the opinion that, as there was no pillow of dirt, the body was not that of a Jew.

Work was continued, and in a short time the remainder of the box was uncovered. Roots of trees had grown around the box and had penetrated its sides.

After a careful examination, Medical Examiner Stewart declared it was the skull of a man. He said that someone must have been mistaken about seeing a new box six feet in the ground and declared the box uncovered had been in the ground for years without having been disturbed other than when it was discovered last June.

He decided that the body was where it belonged, that there was no mystery, and ordered the cover replaced and the dirt shoveled back in the grave. Walking from the grave he announced that, so far as he was concerned, the incident was closed. Chief of Police McCauley of Woburn took the same view.

Not Same Box, They Say

Five members of the Jewish congregation in Boston owning the cemetery, declared that on their previous visit they saw a new box, and it was six feet underground; that it was not the same box they saw yesterday and that no other grave in the cemetery had been disturbed. Attended by counsel they declined to make any further remarks other than that they would hold a meeting and decide what to do about it.

No one seemed able to explain the strange situation. It appears logical that 10 or 11 years ago some man was legally and properly buried in the grave, which is in a row exclusively for members of the congregation. The box, body and root conditions give every indication that the deceased has been buried there a long time.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

A lost record, or one not properly kept would account for a lack of data about the grave. Last February a member of the congregation died and word was sent to bury him in the grave opened yesterday. The grave was opened and a box encountered. Immediately operations on the grave ended, it was filled in and the body was placed in another grave.

Early in June a delegation from the congregation went to the cemetery to inquire about the grave that had an occupant not on the cemetery books. The grave was opened again and from that visit arose the story of the new wooden box, buried six feet or more deep.

Members of the congregation called upon Harry Kritzer, the superintendent of the little cemetery, and according to his family he was told that unless he gave up $4000 he would be exposed. He refused to pay and stories leaked out about the mysterious grave. Recently he dropped dead when investigators were questioning him.

An examination of burial permits at Boston city hall will be made in an effort to learn who the man was who was found face down in the grave yesterday afternoon. Meanwhile the bereaved members of the family of Harry Kritzer say their father was unjustly hounded to his death.

ROYAL ARCANUM
DAY OBSERVED

A joint observance of Royal Arcanum day by the members of the four local councils of the organization took place last evening in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street. There was a large attendance and the affair was graced by the presence of officers of the grand and state lodges. The program included addresses, entertainment numbers and the serving of refreshments.

In the early part of the evening a brief business meeting was held by Lowell council, 8, with Regent Frank S. Marshall in the chair. At the close of the meeting the evening's program was opened by Rodney G. Moore.

Harding To Visit Chicago

CHICAGO, July 21.—President Harding will give Chicago a tryout as a summer resort during the last in August, unless present plans go awry, F. W. Upham said today. The program for the week's visit is in the hands of Mr. Upham and Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, whose guests the president and Mrs. Harding will be.

LIE DETECTOR BARRED
FROM CRIMINAL COURT

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The "sphygmomanometer," a scientific instrument, designed to detect the presence of a falsehood, was accorded the same sort of a reception in criminal court here yesterday as was the telephone, telegraph, fingerprint system, when these inventions were first introduced to the general public.

Although many police in his refusal to believe that the instrument could detect a lie than the public was, when asked to believe that the human voice could be carried over a thin wire, Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy firmly and definitely refused to allow Dr. William M. Marston of Boston, Mass., professor of psychology at the American university, to testify with regard to his tests upon James Alphonse Frye, alleged slayer of Dr. Robert W. Brown, a wealthy colored physician.

The court also refused to allow Dr. Marston to make a test in open court before the jury and intimated that the 12 men who sat in the jury box were human "sphygmomanometers," and could just as easily detect a lie as the instrument itself could.

Going further, the chief justice declared that some day, when the instrument attained the same degree of efficiency as the telegraph or the telephone exhibits today, it might be possible to make good use of the device in court, but today, the court stated, it could not be done.

regent of the Highland council and chairman of the observance committee. The speakers were Grand Regent Henry L. Illness of Springfield, N. H. Stevens of Springfield, Dr. Hugh Walker and John S. Jackson of this city and Grand Sentries Noll Clark.

The entertainment program consisted of the following numbers: Songs, Charles Clancy, James Jones, James L. Kenney, Raoul LeClair, Frank S. Marshall; dance entitled "Lightning Steps," Al Drouin; sleight of hand performance, Thomas Knight; Raymond Kelly was the accompanist. The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of: President, Rodney G. Moore; treasurer, Noll Clark; and secretary, Frank S. Marshall. Joseph A. Kritzer, Danille Gray, John S. Jackson, J. A. ## LAND PURCHASE

John H. Johnson has purchased 17,000 square feet of land on Butman road from the C. I. Hood estate. The land adjoins a site owned by the T. W. Johnson Co.

"Our bathroom became a problem"

"Bob says that I'm the best housekeeper in New England. That's not true, of course,—but I am sure there isn't a more particular one in the world. Imagine how I felt when my spic-and-span little bathroom developed an odor which we couldn't get rid of.

"It wasn't really objectionable, but it was always noticeable. We had the plumbing inspected. There was nothing wrong with it. I scrubbed and scrubbed and scrubbed. I used ammonia and lye and all the home-tried compounds—everything I could think of. It didn't do a bit of good. I was simply miserable.

"Bob came in with a grin one evening. 'Trust more man sometimes,' he said—I think we've found the remedy for the bathroom.' We had. Bob had brought home our first bottle of Sylpho-Nathol.

"I wouldn't have thought it possible that anything as easy to use could make that room fresh and sweet again in such a short time. It was almost miraculous. I wouldn't be without Sylpho-Nathol for anything. And I have found so many other necessary uses for it—it has freshened up the whole house."

For many years, thousands of thorough New England housekeepers have used Sylpho-Nathol day in, day out.

In mop-water, it assures the cleanliness that keeps families healthy. It is a necessary safeguard for sinks and drains; for damp, musty, hard-to-get-at places; for cellars; for fly-breeding garbage receptacles. And, of course, it should be used regularly around the bathroom fixtures—and as a flush for the closet bowl.

Sylpho-Nathol is 4½ times stronger than carbolic acid—yet is as safe to have in the house as a cake of scouring soap. It cannot hurt your skin. It comes in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Most good grocers and druggists have it. If yours hasn't, he can get it. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

City Council Meeting

person for three years, Albert W. Vid for four years, and Joseph H. Silet for five years.

On roll call vote each nominee was confirmed by unanimous confirmation.

Mayor Submits Vetoes

The mayor submitted his vetoes of the orders previously passed by the council to wit:

That the city clerk shall retain counsel for the purpose of filing injunction proceedings to prevent the payment of the purchase price of the record touring car bought by the city.

The vote of censure, passed upon the mayor for his failure to provide council with requested information relative to the purchase of the car.

The vote, advising the city auditor not to issue a warrant for the payment of the car unless the matter presented to him in legal form. The vetoes were embodied in a lengthy communication, addressed to the council.

Councillor McPadden Speaks

Councillor McPadden replied to the communication insofar as it spoke of a councillor who introduced the order branding him as an "obstructionist."

"Let me say," began the councillor, "that at no time have I been guilty of any obstructionist's person or motives. I have simply tried to safeguard the interest of the people who elected me."

"I want the mayor to know that the councillor to whom he refers is here doing his duty as he sees it, regardless of whether it pleases the city's chief executive or not. As I see it, it would be more fitting and proper if he appeared before this council in person to make known to the people of the city why he persists in illegal and irregular conduct in office."

"I have never contended," continued the councillor, "that this body has the right, under the charter, to spend money, but I do hold to the contention that all expenditures must originate here. The general expense fund is not what its name implies—a general fund to cover all emergencies—and in my opinion it is a fund to be played off the budget or spent at the desire and whim of any individual."

"Now that the purchase price of the mayor's Packard car has been paid, any further action to stop it would be a nullity. Therefore, the only alternative is a suit brought against the Packard Motor Car Co. to endeavor to recover this money, amounting to $2995. Such a suit could test the validity of the purchase and determine, once and for all, whether the mayor has the right to tap the general expense fund at his pleasure and whenever the spirit moves."

Councillor McPadden then moved that the mayor's veto of the order previously passed, whereby the city clerk was instructed to engage counsel to bring injunction proceedings, be laid on the table. This was passed unanimously.

Bringing Matter to Head

The councillor then presented a second motion relative to the retention of counsel to bring suit against the Packard Co. but when Councillor Gallagher suggested that the matter be brought out at the next meeting, with the mayor, auditor, purchasing agent, public service board and budget and audit commission present, Mr. McPadden withdrew his motion, to take it up again at a subsequent meeting.

Councillor Gallagher said that he did not agree with the mayor that he can go to the general expense fund whenever and for whatever he likes.

"This body is not a nullity, or a little debating society, as he would like to think," declared the councillor. President Bagley said that he had been informed by the city solicitor that Theodore Waddell, state director of accounts, has stated that the mayor has the right to charge up purchases against the general expense fund, but Councillor McPadden took issue and said that Mr. Waddell's opinion is one that may be fallible.

The Mayor's Communication

The mayor's communication that accompanied the vetoes, stressed the point that the council has nothing whatsoever to do with the city's money and added:

"I shall for the rest of my term hold you strictly to this fact and if necessary, have the matter decided in court." He contended that he alone, as the sole jurisdiction over the general expense fund and stated:

"I beg to assure your council that you may properly assume that all city officials and department heads are trying to do their duty legally and properly and your body might well take example from them. The department heads under the direction of the mayor are functioning properly and will continue to do so if not interfered with by the legislative body of the government which interference is expressly forbidden by the city charter."

"And in conclusion I want to say to you, gentlemen, that I have been animated through my months of service to the city of Lowell with the desire for a harmonious discharge of the city's business. I have attempted to confine myself to the executive functions which the law imposes on me as mayor of the city."

"Some members of your body have attempted to interfere in other departments of the city government, contrary to the law and the city charter. I have borne it in the anticipation and hope that you would soon learn the different functions of the different parts of the city government and confine yourselves to your own department—the legislative—and let other departments, department heads and officers confine themselves to theirs."

An attempt was made to override the mayor's veto of the vote of

THE LATE RT. REV. MGR. O'BRIEN

In the death of Rt. Rev. Monsignor William O'Brien, this community loses its oldest and most venerable clergyman, a spiritual leader who had always shown the deepest devotion to the welfare of all the people and an untiring zeal for the spiritual and temporal advancement of the flock committed to his care. Kind, gentle, courteous, sympathetic, he endeared himself to the people of his congregation to whom he ministered with his whole-souled charity and his spiritual guidance came at once as an inspiration and a benediction. He belonged to the older class of clergymen in this city, numbering as he did among his closest friends, the late Rev. Fr. Ronan of St. Peter's, Rev. Fr. Garin and Rev. Fr. McGrath of the Oblate order and Rev. St. John Chabre of St. Anne's Episcopal church.

True to the teachings and practice of the church in which he became a leader, he was a patriotic American and in all his occasional talks to the children of the parish schools he took special care to impress upon their minds their dual duties to God and country. A lover of liberty in the broadest sense, he hated oppression in every form and cherished the hope that ultimately justice and freedom would be vouchsafed to all mankind. As a priest, a devout servant of the Master, he has done his work well; he has left many visible monuments to his memory, but his greatest monument is one not visible to human eye as it exists in the love and veneration of his people, the prayers and outpouring of sorrow at his rather sudden passing and the spiritual treasures hoarded in heaven by a life of labor and sacrifice in the service of God.

THE RAILROAD STRIKE

Despite occasional acts of violence in railroad yards here and there, we are confident that the strike will very soon be settled. It is announced that the chief stumbling block to a settlement at present is the retention of the seniority rule which the railroads would abolish. This the strikers will not submit to as it would deprive experienced men of the rewards due to their skill and judgment and put the unskilled employees who entered the service during the strike ahead of the older and more expert shopworkers. It would be unwise on the part of the railroads to insist upon the abolition of the seniority rule inasmuch as the new hands, if given preference over the men who have grown old in the service, could never command the respect of those so demoted. Such a change would destroy the morale of the shops and do harm instead of good. If this is all the railroad executives have to stand upon, they should yield at once, for the reason that the change they insist upon would demoralize the service.

These sporadic troubles reported from Concord, N. H., Worcester and some other points are the work of hot heads and do harm. But the leaders must do their utmost to keep their men under control and above all, to avoid any such thing as interference with the operation of trains. There is a great intensity of feeling on both sides in this railroad strike, so that a slight incident might act as a match to kindle a conflagration. That is why forbearance should be practiced on both sides lest any event should occur on either side to make a settlement more difficult than it otherwise would be.

SETTLE COAL STRIKE

There is no indication that the striking miners will return to their places in the mines even if the latter be opened as proposed under state or federal protection. This protection can help only the non-union men who wish to go to work and most of these are already employed in the union mines. It is a mistake to suppose that men untrained to the business can go into the mines and use blasting powder and perform other work of a technical nature without danger of causing explosions that will destroy the mines and the lives of those employed.

The miners' business at best is very hazardous. The great loss of life annually in proof of this and hence, the men should get a fair day's wage and they should be guaranteed continuous work if they are to live by the business of mining coal.

The whole trouble has been allowed to hang fire, with the result that now as the coal supply is running short, everybody becomes nervous. The situation has been aggravated, it is true, by the Herrin, Ill., and other outbreaks, but the longer the trouble goes unsettled, the worse will be the feeling on both sides.

The president has offered protection to all who wish to work. The miners do not wish to return until they get an acceptable settlement. Hence the necessity of taking some step to reach a basis of settlement without turning the mines over to them or allowing them to override the law or the government.

The supremacy of law and the authority of the government in enforcing it must be upheld at all hazards, as otherwise we should see a reign of terror and anarchy not a whit better than the Bolshevik regime in Russia.

TIMELY WARNING

In accordance with its duties the budget and auditing committee has notified different departments that they have already exceeded the monthly proportion of their appropriation and that if they do not reduce expenditures, they will not have enough money to carry them through the year.

This will call for supplementary budgets which, like the excess revenue already distributed, will not count in the tax rate. That is why Mayor Brown thinks there may be a reduction in the tax rate; but he must know that the rate under the circumstances will not indicate the total expenditure for the year.

The Board of Public Service is one of those notified of traveling at too fast a rate in spending the funds provided. But it may be necessary to dispose of those too expensive trucks purchased by the mayor without the sanction of the board.

Other expenses were also incurred without the sanction of the board and this has helped to hasten the day when the men employed will have to be dropped unless there comes a supplementary appropriation which may be difficult to procure under existing conditions.

MILLER VS. HARDING

New York republicans are evidently grooming Governor Miller as a candidate to be set up against President Harding in 1924. While giving the president and his administration a perfunctory endorsement, the republican state committee proclaims Governor Miller as "the leading statesman of the day." That is undoubtedly an indirect slap at the president.

It is a manifest of republican condemnation of Harding's idea of evading responsible leadership of congress in not pressing his policies upon both branches as did President Wilson and as has done Governor Miller in New York. What is needed at Washington is positive, clear-headed leadership as opposed to the vacillating policy and the indecision of Harding that are causing conflict and making legislative progress well nigh impossible. Republicans of New York are tired of it, as are others, and the worst is yet to come, in relation to some of the most important questions of the day.

NEBRASKA SPEAKS

Again has the republican administration at Washington received a rebuff, this time from the state of Nebraska, which has repudiated the Old Guard and nominated for the United States senate a progressive republican, the person of Robert H. Howell. This is another rebuff to be added to those administered by Pennsylvania, Indiana, Iowa, and North Dakota. It certainly appears that if we had a national election tomorrow, the republican party would be hurled as deeply as was the democratic in 1920—all because of a woful lack of results in the practical solution of the great questions of reconstruction such as the tariff, the merchant marine, the bonus and the settlement of labor troubles.

AIR GLIDING

An airplane without a motor flew for five minutes at Ipswich, Mass. It is the glider type, manned by its inventors, three young technical students.

This particular machine, which will compete at the international gliding contest in France during August, may be the forerunner of planes that will move in the air like sailboats on water.

It is an experimental model, not practical yet. But it is interesting as a step in the progress toward the day when men will master the air as well as the eagle or albatross.

Incidentally, the glider takes us back to the early experiments of the Wright brothers, before they adopted motors.

ELECTRICITY

Sixty-six thousand volts of electricity are said to have passed through the body of young Edward Sadowsky, at Westfield, Mass. Playing, he had climbed a 150-foot steel tower and got tangled in high tension wires.

The lad, nine years old, was rescued after the current was shut off. Brought to the ground, he walked part way to the ambulance.

Two thousand volts would have killed him instantly. In terrific quantities, such as lightning, electricity of ten is like an over-dose of arsenic. This mysterious force will be the universal power of the future.

THE CANDY BILL

Cost of running the national government now is nine cents a day for each of us, and for candy we spend two cents a day apiece.

William Moffatt of the National Salesmen's association, says the nation's candy bill is $750,000,000 a year. Half of this big sum is spent by the kiddies, in pennies and nickels.

We notice the government's cost because most of it is assessed in a lump, while candy and similar luxuries take their toll in small but steady nibbles.

LEADERS

American auto factories in June turned out 271,000 cars. At this rate, Americans are buying in a year more autos than exist in all other countries of the world combined.

In the world are 13,600,000 autos. And 10,600,000 of them are in America. That should stop much grumbling against our standard of living and average prosperity.

Ex-Governor Eugene N. Foss has entered the fight for the democratic nomination for governor, a fact that will probably add to the spectacularity of the campaign. He is an auto politician who did some good things when in office. But the voters of today have forgotten all about them and will hardly see the necessity of picking the "Old Boy" from the field.

There should be no trouble beyond a period of hard and enthusiastic work in putting the movement for the high school athletic field over the top. It will be of great service to the youth of the city and an aid in building up young people with strong and healthy bodies.

SEEN AND HEARD

One day last week a man didn't cut himself with a safety razor.

They killed a 60-pound turtle for Taft in London. The sea air sure gave him an appetite.

Sometimes a woman marries a man to have something to lean on, and then goes and sits down on him.

This strange animal that leaps 30 feet, roaming the Kentucky woods may be a pedestrian practicing for his return to town.

A Thought

Time was, I shrank from what was right. From fear of what was wrong; I would not brave the sacred fight. Because the foe was strong.

But now I cast that finer sense. And a sorer shame assailed.

Such dread of sin was indolence. Such aim at heaven was pride. —John Henry Newman.

Today's Word

Today's word is avarice. It's pronounced a-v-a-rice, with the accent on the first syllable. The first a in the word is short. The second a is as the a in ask. It means: Excessive love of money or gain; covetousness. The adjective is avaricious. It comes from the French "avarice," taken from the Latin avaritia (from avarus, meaning avaricious.) It's used like this: "To desire money for its own sake, and to hoard it up, is avarice."

Quite Professional

Wouldn't Miss It

Jones suffered from a weak heart, a weak liver, and weak digestion. In fact, he was one of those people who have to think they have something serious the matter with them. Recently he went to see a friend at the seaside in the hope of obtaining relief from at least one of his chronic ailments. A few days after his arrival he was walking along the beach with his host, when suddenly he remarked: "I drank a glassful of sea water yesterday and I really think I derived relief from it. I wonder," he added, "do you think I might take a second glass?" His host hesitated for a while. Then: "Yes," he said, "I think you might. I don't fancy it will be missed."

Did the Peer Pay Them

A peer who has the reputation of doing stunts in money matters hired a taxi on a wet afternoon to take him to Victoria station, where he handed the cabman less than the legal fare. The driver demanded another sixpence, but was met with a prompt and firm refusal. "You came the longest way in order to extort money," declared the man of title. "Why didn't you drive through St. James' park?" "Cos St. James' park is closed," said the driver, "that's why." "Nonsense," I know better," objected his lordship, sternly. "It's quite right, sir," persisted the driver. "They say that Lord —" (naming the peer who confronted him) "dropped a shilling in the park yesterday and the gates are closed until they find it!" —London Mail.

Pretty Ignorant

Representative Cannon was arguing a tariff question at a dinner in Louisville. "My opponent," he said, "reminds me of the young lady at the races. This young lady's escort said to her: 'Podasokus is the favorite. Suppose I put a 10-spot on him for you both ways?' 'O, yes, that will be jolly,' said the young lady. 'Well, the race was run and Podasokus, the favorite, was nowhere! He came lounching in about 17th. How much do I get?' cried the young lady, as poor old Podasokus arrived, and she clapped her little hands together for joy. 'Why—er—nothing,' said her escort. 'But how silly you are!' said the young lady sharply. 'Didn't I bet on Podasokus both ways? Then I gain, of course, whether he won or lost.' —Detroit Free Press.

In Our House

My mother waddles when she walks. In our house. And so at futtering feeds she barks. In our house. Are things like never, never crisps— We live on spinach, squash and beans. In our house.

My father's laid up with the gout. In our house. A dreadful thing to have about. In our house.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

I have occasion to cross Central bridge quite frequently and consequently these things strike me. Yesterday was no exception. The excessive heat of the day and the cool-appearing waters of the Merrimack offered a temptation to several youngsters in that vicinity to take a dip and thereby escape, for a time at least, the humid atmosphere of the sultry day. It is only natural that they should do this, but I can point out better places than that chosen by the youngsters here on the Centralville side of the bridge. A huge rock is used for diving purposes and the more experienced darters strike out into the swift current of the river, where, before a large gathering on the bridge, they indulge in all kinds of aquatic stunts of a dangerous nature. That order sent out by the board of health against bathing in that part of the river because of contamination was apparently never heard of by these bathers. From the stiff limb of a neighboring tree, hangs a rope, from which fully-clothed youngsters swing back and forth over the waters, some of them getting an occasional ducking, and all of them taking a perilous chance by doing so.

Tired congressmen, senators and representatives, as well as busy debutantes and other society folk of fashionable Washington, need no longer worry about going to church on Sunday, for they need not go. The radio, which has performed so many wonders of late, is now employed by modern churches to broadcast sermons and music to those who prefer the quietude and peace of their abode. A recent announcement states that a certain church in the most developed section of the capital broadcasts three sermons every Sunday together with the full musical program of the various services, and these within a radius of 500 miles. In the good old-fashioned days, when churchgoers always looked forward to Sabbath services, especially the women, who delighted in prancing to their respective meeting houses, "all dressed up in their Sunday finery."

Traffic Supervisor Ed. Connor remarked at some length the other day on the many troubles of the traffic officers, particularly by people who have near-collisions with passing automobiles. When asked if they are hurt, most of them reply in the negative and pass along. Their injuries, consisting of bruises in most cases, which are not felt at the moment, develop the next day and they seek out the traffic officer to ascertain the number of the machine which inflicted the injuries. Of course, when a person claims that he has received no hurt and passes the matter off lightly, an officer cannot be expected to record a violation number and the change of mind of the injured party leads to an absurd situation. Only one remedy presents itself, it seems. Every person who is a factor in such an incident should try to secure all possible information at once, thus protecting themselves in case of the injury developing a more serious aspect.

Playground features this year seem destined to outdo anything in previous years. In the boys' activities, baseball will be played by not only one team from each playground as in former years, leaving the latter fellows out in the cold, but an additional league has been formed for the boys under 12 with an inter-sectional arrangement which will not cause worry to mothers by having their children going to a distant part of the city, as in the case of the older boys. Of course the "champs" in each group will have to meet toward the end of the season, but the best of care will be given them. Other athletic events of interest are being carried out, and will keep the youngsters' minds and legs busy until school resumes its sessions in September. The girls are not being neglected, as is evidenced by the formation of the new baseball league. It is somewhat of a radical departure for the school girls to take up such an active game, confined, practically, to boys up to the present time. The girls who are attracted to active competition with boys must have had something to do with the undertaking of this project in playground work.

One of the local business men received an interesting foreign draft the past week. It is drawn on the Asia Banking Corporation and is to be paid in Hankow, China, a city of 900,000 inhabitants, mailed from Shanghai 600 miles distant, on June 22, and arrived in Lowell July 18. At one end of the draft there is a series of Chinese hieroglyphics, and the general wording of it is entirely different from our forms. It clearly specifies twice that the money is to be paid in U. S. gold. The postage for sending the letter on its transcontinental trip was ten cents.

INSURANCE MEN FROLIC AT CANOBIE LAKE

Figuring on a good time rather than on debts, the Lowell Life Insurance Underwriters advanced on Canobie Lake yesterday morning for their first yearly outing. The custom has been to unite with the Boston underwriters and hold a joint picnic, and this year the Lowell men decided to hold their own outing.

With over 100 in attendance, they left for the park in a special electric car, and many more went over the road in machines. There was quite a number of guests from Boston and other cities, who also went by machine. On reaching the grounds the first event on the program was the battle between the ballplayers of the John Hancock Co. and the Metropolitan Co. The game of battle had been thrown into the arena some time ago and their was intense rivalry. At the end of the second inning, with the score 2 to 2 in favor of the Hancock's, the Metropolitans grabbed the umpire and new men were rushed into the breach. The game was finally won in the seventh inning by the Hancock's by the score of 18 to 10. Charles C. Gilman, past president of the Boston association, finished the game as umpire. The lineup: John Hancock—Allard, C. Prescott, P. Pascal, 1b, Riley, 2b, Golden, 2b, Brown, 3b, Taylor, cf, Connor, cf, Horner, 1b, Metropolitans—Kerzack, C. Cawley, p, Hackett, 1b, Miller, 2b, Tilton, 2b, Perkins, 3b, McCarthy, cf, Jettette, cf, Mellor, cf.

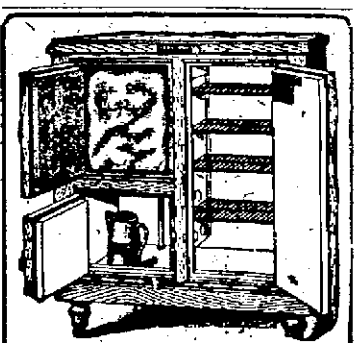

At the finish of the game the picnicers lined up and a group picture was taken. About two o'clock a regular banquet was served in the dining hall of the park restaurant and it received the mark of approval of the hungry diners. During the afternoon a series of races and athletic events were run off and afforded great sport for the men.

There were several invited guests including Charles C. Gilman, past president of the Boston underwriters and secretary of the national organization, Frank W. Ganss, president of the Boston group, Lloyd K. Allen, Boston secretary, Clinton Ferguson, and Robert Moore, prominent Boston insurance officials.

The committee in charge consisted of the following men: Chairman, F. Quinn, E. J. Chamberlain, president of the local club, H. J. Gregoire, Thos. Beane, Leo Kerzack, William Brown, John F. Collins, Harry Pascal, Robert Mulvey, and Alphons Fortier.

OUT-DOOR MOVIES IN LAKEVIEW AVENUE

The second in the series of out-door movies on the Lakeview Avenue ball grounds was held off last night under the auspices of the park department, before an audience of men, women and children, the latter greatly outnumbering the elders. The graphoscope machine worked to perfection and an hour's enjoyable program was carried out without a hitch. About 9 o'clock the first picture flashed on the improvised screen and was hailed with clamorous shouts on the part of the 500 or more film fans. A five-reeler, "The Man Trackers," featuring Frank Larkin, was the main attraction, and the action of the hero and heroine were followed with anxious eye by those present. A one reel comedy, "Makers of News" concluded the performance, and in the course of a few minutes the old ball ground was once more deserted.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem THE PEST

Of the many folk who drive, the majority will strive To be moderately careful as they go; It is more or less their code as they spin along the road To give other drivers something of a show; Now and then, of course, you're stuck by some driver of a truck Who will hog the road while traveling in first; But of all the pests there are on the front seat of a car, It's the chauffeur of a taxi who's the worst!

He will pass you on the right, and it fills him with delight When he makes you execute a sudden swerve, And his eyes with pleasure shine when he crowds you out of line Or he blocks you when you want to turn a curve; And he knows a joy unique when he hears your brake-bands shriek As he shoots across the roadway like a flash; He's a most annoying bird and his risibles are stirred When you just escape involvement in a smash!

Oh, he holds the rules in scorn, and he never blows his horn, And he loves to make your tresses stand on end, And he likes to bawl you out when you're nervous and in doubt. He is every driver's foe and no man's friend! So I'm waiting with a thrill till I get such wondrous skill I can heat him at his own peculiar sport; Then I'll somehow so contrive that he'll have to turn and drive Up the stairway to the courthouse into court! ## Modley Tells How to Get Best Results From Super-Regenerative Receiver

To set this circuit in operation, carefully check all connections, according with Figure 2, published here yesterday. Then place a pair of headphones between the positive terminal of the "B" battery and the inductance of the controller circuit. Then light the filament of the tube. Set condenser, C1, at very near the full scale value.

Adjust the temperature of the filament and C1 battery until a very high pitched audible tone is heard.

Remove the phones from the controller circuit. It continues to oscillate.

phones. The advance of the tickle control having been continued, the hissing begins to lessen and finally almost entirely stops.

At that time the circuits are approximately properly adjusted for reception.

In order to reach this stage, some little adjustment of filament current "B" battery and circuits, may be necessary. After the proper combination is found, however, practice with the circuits will soon enable their reuse.

Acting By Radio a Weird Sensation---Applause Comes By Mail

Acting by one person over the radio-phone isn't new any longer.

But presenting a play by the entire company is more recent.

It's harder than acting the parts on the stage, say those who have tried it.
That's because they cannot tell whether the play is "going over."
There is no audible applause in the auditorium. There is no visible audience. It is all a weird, uncomfortable sensation.

Yet, once they have tried acting by radio the players like it. For there is no perspiring behind hot footlights;
no quick changes, no need of makeup.

Among the first who tried "acting"
a whole play by radio were Graco

George and Herbert Hayes. They near a microphone in a San Francisco broadcasting station and recited their parts. They could not tell whether they had only one person or a million for their audience. But the letters of appreciation that came in later told believers it was nearer a larger group.

Encouraged by the enthusiasm shown in the reception of plays by radio, a San Francisco newspaper tried the stunt of broadcasting its serial story. Fred V. Williams, new-paper writer, began his latest product in several serials. Cards from readers throughout the area have proved to the newspaper that this form of broadcasting was popular.

Drug Stores Lose Licenses

BOSTON, July 21.—Thirty Massachusetts druggists have been deprived of their federal permits, to sell spirituous liquors on prescription during the year ending July, 1923, prohibition Director Potter said today. Most of the druggists, it was said, have stores in Greater Boston. Director Potter added that he recommended revocation of 17 additional permits.

The report that motorists traveling through Maine would have to obtain additional registration has been dispelled by the statement of Governor Baxter. There are quite a number of lowly people who tour through Maine during the summer and they were quite perturbed by the report.

The statement is to the effect that the ordinary motorist will be charged nothing extra for operating his car in the state of Maine, providing he has a license in some other state. Tourist drivers, however, will be required to have special registration to run their cars in the state of Maine.

Champion Jai Alai Player to Bring Game to U. S.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Juggling a speeding, overgrown bullet is the impression left with the spectator of a Jai Alai player in action.

Emilio Eguluz, star Cuban player and world's champion at the game, has come to the United States to arouse American interest in Jai Alai. Jai Alai is a sort of glorified handball, but the ball is thrown from a basket arrangement attached to the wrist instead of being propelled by the palm of the hand.

So great is the speed of the ball that throws of 650 feet are not uncommon, and it is almost certain death to be hit in the head.

The Jai Alai courts are 222 feet long, 36 feet wide, with walls on front, back and one side 36 feet high. Scoring is the same as in handball, but the play is slightly different.

The ball may be played directly off the front wall, or a carom shot may be made from the side wall to the front wall, or the ball may be played off the rear wall while in flight, by a quick scoop up to hurl it against the front or side wall.

The ball used is almost twice as hard as a baseball, eight days being needed to manufacture one.

Eguluz, who is 26, has had a remarkable career in his march to stardom.

A poor boy in Havana, he was the mascot of one of the Jai Alai teams when playing there.

With the outlawing of the game in Cuba by President Micalao on account of the excessive gambling on the results, the players left for Spain.

Young Eguluz went along, a stow-away on the boat.

Discovered, he worked his way across.

In Spain he still followed the game, practicing as he got a chance.

Gradually he rose to the top of the ranking players.

He went to Italy, and to South America, cleaning up at loppolition, and finally with the restoration of play in Cuba returned to his native land, not the ragged boy who had left, but the world's champion of the national game of his native land.

Peculiar Styles of Delivery Win Fame for Pitchers

BY BILLY EVANS

Unusual deliveries are the exception in baseball. Most pitchers are content to stick to the fast ball, curve and a change of pace.

When some pitcher springs a new one on the unsuspecting fans and players, it is only natural that his efforts should be widely exploited.

Elmer Strickland and Jack Chesbro won fame and columns of publicity years ago with the spitball delivery. This style of delivery, because of its great effectiveness became very popular.

The great Christy Mathewson was known throughout the sporting world for his "fadeaway." Other pitchers have used the fadeaway, but none were able to put it over with the success of "Matty."

Russell Ford, on his entry into the American league, was the most talked about man in baseball. At first Ford was credited with using a spitball that he could make break as he desired.

Ford was the sensation of the American league for several years. When it developed that Ford was meeting with great success not through the spitball but rather the emery ball, an illegal method.

Ford carried a piece of emery paper concealed in the pocket of his glove which had a good sized opening. Ford would roughen the ball on the emery paper. Then, according to the way he delivered the ball, would get the break desired.

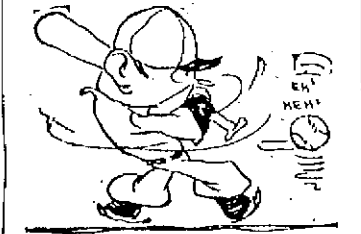

Next appeared on the scene Eddie Cicotte. The former White Sox pitcher conceived the idea of loading the seams. This enabled the pitcher to get a firmer grip on the ball, and also caused it to curve in a more pronounced way.

This added weight through forcing dirt or other substances in the seams made it possible for Cicotte to do freak things with the ball. Cicotte was also the inventor of the shine ball, and the black and white ball.

In using the shine ball Cicotte used a foreign substance which, when applied to the ball and then rubbed on the uniform, caused a spot as big as a half dollar to take on a high polish or shine. This spot lessened friction, and with it Cicotte could get a better break on the ball than with a spitball.

The black and white ball was merely an optical illusion. Cicotte would discolor about half the ball. Then as he delivered the ball to the plate and it rotated in the air it would greatly confuse the batter, as he would lose sight of the ball momentarily as the black side came toward him.

Carl Mays is a much talked about pitcher because no other twirler in either major league resorts to the underhand delivery that is peculiar to Mays.

The mastery of the pitcher became so great that the spitball and all other black ball deliveries made possible by doctoring the ball, were legislated out of the game.

The latest pitcher to make a bid for fame with a peculiar style is Herb Pruett of the St. Louis Browns.

Pruett throws a fadeaway that in many ways is similar to the one Mathewson used. The fact that Pruet is a left-hander makes the ball all the more puzzling.

Pruett's fadeaway has only a slight curve to it as it fades away from the batter, so to speak. Rather it acts more like a slow swirl, although it has proved much harder to throw. It breaks rather sharply downward.

ERIN TO BRING BACK OLYMPIC GAMES

BY MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, July 21.—For the first time in 500 years Irishmen from Ireland and men of Irish blood from all over the world will meet Aug. 6 in Anonah, Taitteann, the ancient Irish Olympic games.

The prize Irish athletes of the entire world are expected to take part. The games are being held in Anonah, a small town in the north of Ireland, and all steps are being taken to accommodate the big crowds expected, particularly from the United States, Canada and Australia.

The Irish Olympic originally was proposed in the Dail Eireann by Eamon de Valera and was enthusiastically carried, funds being voted for the purpose.

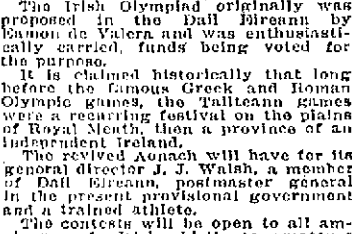

It is claimed historically that long before the famous Greek and Roman Olympic games, the Taitteann games were a recurring festival on the plains of Anonah, then a province of an independent Ireland.

The revived Anonah will have for its general director J. J. Walsh, a member of the Dail Eireann, and will be under the present provisional government and a trained athlete.

The contests will be open to all amateurs, either of whose parents was of Irish birth, and to amateurs both of whose parents were of Irish birth.

The prizes will be gold, silver and bronze medals awarded in suitable cases, and a gold medal will be awarded to the winner of the 100-yard race.

The international part of the program, in which Americans of Irish descent may take part, will include foot racing, basketball, golf and swimming. A 20-mile marathon, jumping, weight throwing, discus and javelin, boxing, "teamwork," cycling, football, handball, tennis, golf and swimming. A committee will be formed in the United States to promote interest in the games.

WINDS UP MOST SUCCESSFUL CARD

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 21.—The Park American stake of $2000 for 2.11 pacers, free-for-all pace worth $1000 for $1200 and the 2.14 pace for $1000 today wound up the week's grand circuit racing program here.

The meeting was the most successful ever staged at Recreation Park.

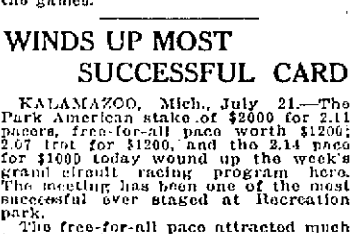

This free-for-all pace attracted much interest today, the crowd being estimated at 15,000.

The Park American containing all the stakes horses eligible, Roy Graton, Margaret Johnson and Single O were among the contenders in the free-for-all. The trot and 2.14 pace drew 11 starters each.

The four events yesterday brought an average for the 15 heats of 2:05 2-5. The judges were called upon to decide three of the heats and in several others the finishers were unusually close.

SWIMMING RACE

Walter Kendall sports the title of champion of the city as the result of an exciting two-mile swimming race at Recreation park yesterday afternoon between Frank Higgins and himself. Kendall, the winner, is only 15 years of age, and was given a great ovation at the end of the race. Frank Murphy was starter and referee.

The Merkleins will play the White Stars at Shepley park next Sunday at 2:30. The White Stars players are asked to report at 1:30.

TAKES OVER STORE

Louis G. Clement, who is very well known in the clothing trade, has taken over the Ironsides, a garment company store, 241 Clinton street. The store was long conducted by the late John T. Roy, and is very well established here. Mr. Clement is well and favorably known in this city for his excellent clothing man. Until recently he was employed as manager of a similar store where he was very successful. Mr. Clement plans to stock his store with a full and complete line of men's clothing and will feature a men's furnishings department.

REPUBLICAN OUTING

The third annual republican outing at Westford will be held in the town Saturday, Aug. 19. The program will consist of sporting events and band selections, while it is expected that Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and other prominent state and federal officials will address the gathering.

INDIANS WIN AGAIN

Speaker's Band Runs String to 11—Hornsby Hits 26th Homer

NEW YORK, July 21.—Speaker's Indians continue their upward struggle in the American league pennant chase, defeating Washington by a score of 11 to 4 in a 10th straight victory. The Cleveland club, due to the Detroit's 5 to 1 defeat of the Yankees, is within half a game of the first division.

The Yankees, with superb hurling by Carl Mays and timely hitting by Secord and Sackey Ward, finally put the Tiger line to flight. They had previously lost a long string of games to Cobb's men.

Kid Gleason's Chicagoans were halted for the moment in their upward scramble by the Red Sox, who took a 2-1 victory in a 10th straight game. Van Gilder hurled the Browns to victory over the Mackmets, 4 to 0, and the positions of the league leaders did not change.

Gleason took the second game of the Cincinnati series, 7 to 3, and held their half game lead over the Cardinals who, with another homer by Hornsby, won from the Phillies in 12 innings, 5 to 4.

The Pirates won from the Phillies in 12 innings, 5 to 4.

Hitting spree tamed the Cubs, 11 to 7.

TWO DRIVERS SET DOWN AT NORTHAMPTON

NORTHAMPTON, July 21.—Peter Kennedy in the 2.17 pace, Little Mary in the 2.24 trot, and Iva Lou in the 2.11 pace, were the race winners on the third day of the Bay State Circuit meeting, yesterday afternoon.

The meeting was a success, with the judges, who were in the field, and the giving of the third heat of the 2.11 pace to Iva Lou over Loleta, featured the interesting program.

Herman Tyson and Al Martin were the drivers to whom the judges directed their attention. Martin was driving a 2.17 pace, and he was the first heat of the 2.24 trot handily, the second heat he placed second with the mare, the manner in which he drove displacing the judges.

Before the start of the third heat the judges decided to let another driver take the mare, but Martin refused to stand for such action and sent his entry to the back of the track.

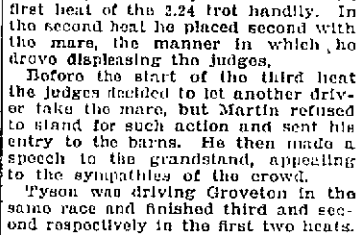

Spech to the grandstand, appealing to the sympathies of the crowd.

Tyson was driving Grovaton in the same race and finished third and second respectively in the first two heats. In the third heat Harry Brusso drove the son of Native King, but could not stand for such action and sent his entry to the back of the track.

In the final heat, in which he again placed third. It is said to be the first time in his career that a horse has been taken from the Delaware reinsman.

Little Mary won her third victory on the circuit this season. Little Mary at the polo ground Hollywood Fancy at the first heat, and she was the only one to remain in front despite determined opposition in the distance.

The next heat was easy for the Hollywoyoke off, M. pad uhm? M. M. yoke owned horse, Grovaton challenged in the final heat, but fell a length after reaching checker's horse, a massive loving cup was presented David H. Young, owner of the horse, by William M. Kimball.

SEMI-FINAL ROUND IN LONGWOOD CUP

BROOKLINE, July 21.—William T. Tilden of Philadelphia against Lawrence H. Rice of Boston and H. Norris Williams, 2nd, of Boston against Walter C. Johnson, 2nd, of Philadelphia, were the contestants in the semi-final round of the Longwood bowl tennis singles scheduled for this afternoon at the Longwood Cricket club. The end for the semi-final doubles this afternoon brought Phil Bottoms of San Francisco and a player of Philadelphia against Irving C. Wright and Raymond B. Bidwell, both of Boston. The winners of the match will meet Tilden and Johnson in the final tomorrow.

Rice advanced to within "striking distance" of the singles final by his rather unexpected defeat yesterday of Nathaniel W. Niles, Massachusetts state champion, in four sets. Tilden, playing yesterday, had defeated Niles in three sets in the record time of 25 minutes. The Boston player did not win a game.

The match between Rice and Niles was the second of the season for the two state veterans. In their first meeting for the state singles title Niles won four sets, but he turned the tables yesterday. Niles led in the ninth game of the fourth set yesterday, but was defeated after deuce had been called twice.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Congress A. C. and the Belmonts will play the Fair grounds next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. The following members of the Congress team are requested to report at 1:30: R. Miller, Kelly, Quigley, Pirth, Hounell and Cullinan.

The Merkleins will play the White Stars at Shepley park next Sunday at 2:30. The White Stars players are asked to report at 1:30.

ADMISSION CHARGE KEEPS DOWN CROWD

CHICAGO, July 21 (by the Associated Press).—While the first attempt to charge admission to a championship golf tournament at the National Press met at Skokie last week brought in more than $15,000, it resulted in keeping down the galleries to one of the smallest assemblies that have watched a big tournament in recent years. Receipts showed that fewer than 16,000 persons paid admissions during the five days of the tournament.

Out of the receipts the government got more than $1500 in taxes. Much of the rest of the admission receipts went to reimburse the Skokie club for expenses incident to the tournament, and most of the balance for cash prizes to the leaders.

MYOPIAS CAPTURE FIRST CONTEST

HAMILTON, July 21.—The Back River Polo club of Montreal and the Myopia Polo club of this town, met this afternoon in another match of the international tournament. The locals won yesterday's six chukker contest, 12 to 6.

In yesterday's match, youth triumphed over experience. The Canadians found the speed terrific and succeeded in scoring only one goal in the last three chukkers. They failed to tally in the last two periods.

A feature of the initial contest was the play and riding of John Hay Whitney, a relative of Harry Payne Whitney, the internationalist.

Galloway, "Bing" Miller and Rommel Are Choice of Athletic

During the first two months of the American league race the remarkable showing of the Athletics was the sensation of the circuit.

Mack's team, generally picked by the experts to finish last, was in the first division practically all the way.

While the Athletics are slowly seeking their level, due to erratic pitching, yet the club has three players who have done noble work in making Mack's club a much talked about aggregation.

THE GREAT ROSE BEATEN BY PRINCESS ETAWAH

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 21.—The defeat of the leading money winner, The Great Rose, by Princess Etawah, was the feature of the Grand Circuit racing at Recreation park yesterday, the mare from the Murphy stable winning the $3000 stake for 2.13 trotters in a rather disappointing race.

The Great Rose was a strong favorite but was away off form, never having a serious contender in the race. The Great Rose was a strong favorite but was away off form, never having a serious contender in the race.

JIMMY SHOULD CHANGE HIS LAST NAME

Eddie Cawley, fearless leader of the Y.M.C.A. Twilight league team, and about the most popular player in the circuit, is in sort of a jam with certain of his Belvidere friends. It all came about because there happens to be another Cawley playing baseball in the city. Last night Jimmy Cawley played shortstop for the Centralville team. As box scores do not give first names, what were Eddie's friends to think when they saw the name "Cawley" in a Centralville lineup?

On the morning of the game, Eddie was greeted with such expressions as "You're a fine sap for deserting us; gone over with the Centralvillians, eh? where do you get that stuff?" and the like.

Eddie wishes to have it known he is still with the Belvidere outfit till the ship sinks, the bears back up and all that stuff. He plays with the Centralvillians on Sundays but not in Twilight league games.

EXCELLENT GAME ON SO. COMMON RESULTS IN TIE BETWEEN K. OF C. AND CENTRALVILLE

Six innings of nearly airtight baseball, with but one error to mar its excellence, and that error a very excusable one, resulted in a 3 to 3 tie between the South Common last evening, the occasion being the third meeting between the Centralville and the K. of C. The game was very close, with the game going to Centralville on 3 to 1 and 2 to 2 scores, and but for a rally by the Knights in the fifth the third would have been a 2 to 1 whitewash.

darkness. Not a single member of the heavy hitters saw first.

After hitting fruitlessly in the third and fourth, the first two hits off Garry, the Knights tied it up in the fifth. Pirtell started with a fly to Bradbury. Dillon singled to right. Condon made the second out, retiring on strike. Crowe, with a busy evening, landed the pill in deep centerfield, sending Dillon across. Kelleher hit over second scoring Crowe, and Hartley doubled in the center. Kelleher hit in with the tying run. Mortality ended the inning by a fly to McVey.

The remainder of the game was hitless and runless, and at the end of the sixth Umpire Grady called the game on account of the gathering darkness.

ABOUT THE PLANET MARS

Staff of Lowell Observatory
Elated Over Recent Studies
About Planet

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., July 21.—Members of the staff of Lowell observatory here are elated over recent studies of the planet Mars, which they assert, bear out the theories of the late Percival Lowell, founder of the observatory, as to snowfall and vegetation on the little red planet. Mars, nearest neighbor of this world with the exception of Venus, is closer to the earth now than at any time in 13 years. Observations have been in progress for the past five months, each hour of every night that weather conditions would permit. Hundreds of photographs and charts have been made. The seasons on Mars have the same significance as on our earth and occur in the same manner, but are about twice the length of our own, according to Doctors E. C. and V. M. Slipher of the observatory staff. A statement by them on the results of the latest observations here follows:

"The large winter cap of white

about the south pole of Mars, which for some months has appeared to consist of only mist or cloud covering the south polar regions of the planet down to latitude 40 degrees, is now dissipating and disclosing a mantle of snow beneath. The spring season for the southern hemisphere is now approaching, the season there at present corresponding to our March 21, and these changes are characteristic of late winter over the south of Mars. "In the northern hemisphere autumn is arriving and the polar cap there has already become conspicuous, having increased rapidly during the last few Martian nights. On the night of June 17 it was observed that when the planet's longitude 265 came into Martian sunrise, and therefore visible to us, that a vast area there had during the preceding night been covered by a bright canopy. This bright hood faded off toward the equator but was discernible down nearly to 50 degrees north latitude and yielded the darker markings of the northern part of the planet. This event marked the first really big autumn storm in the northern hemisphere of Mars so far this year. On that date the Martian season corresponded to our Sept. 18. Early indications of autumn made their appearance a month and a half ago at a Martian season corresponding to our late August. These observations have been recorded on photographs.

"These conditions and changes occurring in unison with the planet's seasons indicate that conditions are more analogous to those of the earth than to any of the other planets."

RICE CROP IS SERIOUSLY THREATENED

TOKIO, July 21.—The rice crop of Japan has already been severely threatened owing to a prolonged drought. While the "Nyuba" or rainy season started well, a heavy down-pour occurring on June 10, there has been little or no rain since and in some districts the farmers are already planting buckwheat, beans, and other cereals in their paddy fields. This lack of water applies to virtually the whole country and in some places there is even a shortage of drinking water. Farmers have been even fighting among themselves to get a share of the scanty supply. The residents of Tokio have been warned to preserve water.

INTEREST IS NOT SUFFICIENTLY WIDE

PORTLAND, Me., July 21.—E. L. Keesler of Charlotte, N. C., said interest in building and loan associations is not sufficiently wide, while J. Warren Smith of Redlands, Cal., claimed there is a "lamentable lack of knowledge" on the part of the public of the system by which they are operated, in addresses before the United States League of Loan and Building associations yesterday. Missionary work and more publicity were suggested as remedies.

Wife's Pluck and Sacrifice Brings Success to Author

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE.

CHICAGO, July 21.—A wife's faith in her mate, her fortitude and unending self-sacrifice in the face of all adversity to bring her husband fame—that's the story behind the story of a new book that probably will not its author a fortune in royalties.

Thomas Temple Hoyne wrote the book. But Mrs. Hoyne published it, helping to operate a tiny job press between meal times.

For three years she had tried to have regular publishers print the book. But they refused.

The book "Speculation" attacks some of the popularisms of the day in the field of economics and politics. "It's too bold a mirroring of facts," Mrs. Hoyne says publishers told her. Hoyne himself became discouraged. He was willing to abandon his literary ambitions.

But Mrs. Hoyne kept her courage.

pawned her jewelry and other valuables and camped on the front door steps of the publishers' homes—without success.

The going became harder. They moved into a one-room home, office and printing establishment.

"We'll put that book on the market if we have to die in the attempt," said the wife.

And she started running off the book, section by section, on a small job press.

Continued

though his spirit has returned to God, who gave it.

"Lowell has lost another of its worthy adopted sons."

HUMPHREY O'SULLIVAN

"In the death of Monsignor O'Brien, I have lost my dearest and best friend in Lowell."

"Anyone who knew Monsignor O'Brien could help but admire his wonderful mental and kindly disposition towards all the citizens of Lowell and particularly towards the poor and needy."

"His personal benefactions to St. Patrick's conference of St. Vincent de Paul society have reached princely amounts since its organization and it was his intention to contribute in like amounts to every conference in the city, of every nationality. If he had lived this is entirely outside his multitude of personal gifts of which we know nothing."

"His death is an irretrievable loss to us and it will be many years before his equal will rise in our city."

HON. JOHN JACOB ROGERS

Early this morning Congressman Rogers, speaking of the death of Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Brien, said that the loss of the distinguished churchman was irreparable. "I knew the monsignor, very well," he said, "as a quiet, unobtrusive, gentleman, and I am sure the influence of his useful life will remain as a fragrant memory. Every year seems to exact a toll of deaths of men prominent in the life of the community and the passing of such a sterling citizen and leader as Fr. O'Brien will bring grief to hundreds of people in our city."

HON. PERRY D. THOMPSON

"It was with instant and profound sorrow today that I learned of the death of Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Brien," said Hon. Perry D. Thompson. "I shall always remember pleasant and helpful associations with him while I served four years as mayor. Many, many times he called upon me and it was with real pleasure that I was privileged to sit with him in his own home on a number of occasions. These meetings could not fail to result in the retention by me of some carefully spoken word of counsel or advice and I came to look upon him as a friend—approachable, thoughtful, public-spirited, kind and generous, a Christian gentleman, working unflinchingly for the betterment of the community he loved so well."

HON. JOHN F. MEEHAN

The good priest who passed away last night had no greater admirer than Hon. John F. Meehan, former mayor of Lowell. Speaking of Fr. O'Brien to day, Mr. Meehan said: "The news of Fr. O'Brien's death shocked me immeasurably. I had looked up to him for many years as friend, counselor and father. His passing means a great deal to me as it will to every soul in his parish. I knew Fr. O'Brien extremely well and I never knew a kinder priest in my life. With his kindness, want of courtesy, consideration and generosity that endeared him to everybody. All of the people of the parish loved him and while he didn't mix in with the people much of late years, he was a father to them all, and one whom they could approach in their hour of trouble. He was the last of the long line of O'Briens who administered to the spiritual welfare of the people of St. Patrick's parish and it will seem strange to us all to have other than an O'Brien for pastor. And not only were the O'Briens associated for years with St. Patrick's parish, they were also closely identified with the establishment and development of Catholicity in Lowell. The last of a great line of priests has gone."

Death of Mgr. O'Brien

Scientifically during the joys and sorrows of nearly a quarter century. In this time he witnessed the growth of the parish until it was interrupted by the creation of two new parishes; one, St. Columba's, taken entirely from St. Patrick's, and the other, St. Margaret's, taking another large section. Still the parish flourished, and the magnificent accomplishments of its gifted and tireless pastor are conspicuous landmarks in the history of Lowell.

The first great trouble to afflict the new pastor of St. Patrick's came in the early morning of January 11, 1901, when the beautiful old church was consumed by fire and soon became a mass of ruins. Immediately afterward, Fr. William, sorrowful but in no wise dispirited, began the construction of the new church, which stands today as an everlasting memorial of his devotion to the parish. During the construction of the new church he allowed absolutely no deviation in the work of the parish, masses on Sunday being celebrated in the hall of St. Patrick's Boys' school, in Associate hall, and in every place in which religious worship could be carried on effectively, with a minimum of discomfort.

Within two years the doors of the new St. Patrick's were thrown open to the parishioners, with beautiful appointments and elaborate and impressive surroundings which makes it the equal of any similar edifice in the city.

The addition of two extra stories to the boys' school building, and the formation of the Catholic Young Men's League therein, was an occurrence in the early part of the deceased monsignor's apatrate which showed his de-vision to the young folks of the parish, and the continued prosperity of that organization has exemplified the gratitude of the parish youth to the pastor's keen recognition of their needs.

Within the last year Monsignor O'Brien, to use the little conferred on him by the Roman Catholic pontiff, Pius X, in 1911, and conferring honorary membership of the papal household, had accomplished another of his great achievements, the construction and dedication of St. Bridget's chapel in St. Patrick's cemetery. This edifice, one of the most beautiful and best equipped of its kind in the United States, was planned by the monsignor, as well as supervised by him during the process of construction. May 30, 1922, the date of its consecration by His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell, was the great day of Rt. Rev. Mgr. O'Brien's life, for, with solemn services, and in the presence of thousands of the city's people, that which he considered the crowning achievement of his life was accomplished, and he was indeed content.

Still the unquenchable spirit and the dominating mind prevailed, and he attempted one more task. Early in the year he purchased the site for a new home for the Xavierian Brothers, with whom he had a long and affectionate friendship as teachers of the boys' school in Fletcher street, and work on its reconstruction was begun at once. However, the gallant priest, under the burden of his great years and tremendous labors, was not destined to witness the close of his undertaking, his sudden illness and death last evening bringing to a close a life which can ill be spared by the city and citizens of Lowell.

Tomorrow afternoon after 2 o'clock the members of the parish and other friends of the deceased clergyman will be permitted to view the body for the last time, and gaze upon the features of the beloved pastor.

The solemn high mass of requiem Monday morning will be celebrated by Rt. Rev. Michael T. McManus of Brookline. Rev. John J. Gilday of South Lawrence will be deacon, and Rev. Timothy P. Callahan of Stoughton, sub-deacon. Rev. William A. Darcy of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross in Boston will be master of ceremonies. Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's church, this city, will deliver the eulogy.

Although the first thought that occurred to the parishioners was that the monsignor would be laid at rest with his uncles in St. Patrick's churchyard, it is announced that the interment will take place from St. Bridget's chapel, the work of his own hands.

A Friend of Ireland

Monsignor O'Brien was always a great friend of the Irish movement. In the Old Land League days, he was a regular attendant at the big meetings and as rector of St. Patrick's church, his house was often thrown open to the Irish delegates who visited here. John Dillon, Michael Davitt, T. P. O'Connor and John Redmond were among those who enjoyed his hospitality. T. P. O'Connor after spending an evening as the guest of Rev. Fr. O'Brien, said: "I have been tenfold repaid for my visit to Lowell by forming the acquaintance of such a true friend of Ireland and such a fine type of the 'Sogarth Arcon' as the Rev. William O'Brien." On one occasion, in 1903, there was a split among the friends of Ireland relative to the methods adopted and when Fr. O'Brien was told that his endorsement of the constitutional movement here would help, he said "I will endorse any legitimate movement to help Ireland toward the goal of freedom." He attended the meeting of the United Irish League and thus gave it an impetus in the community that had much to do with its future success.

Rev. Fr. O'Brien had made frequent trips to Ireland and followed the progress of every movement for the benefit of the Irish people since Davitt founded the Land League in 1880. His contributions were always generous and given with an expression of the pleasure it gave him to aid a cause so worthy. The recent outbreak brought him but sorrow and disgust, as he said it seemed that the old malign influence that had so often blasted Ireland's hopes had not yet departed. The monsignor had planned a trip to Ireland this summer, but the steamer on which he was to sail was disabled and as a result of this and the outbreak of civil strife, he decided to cancel his trip.

THE ARMSTRONG CIRCUIT

Paul F. Godley Analyzes

Regenerative Part For Edification of Radio Fans

BY PAUL F. GODLEY
America's Foremost Radio Authority.
(This is the second of a series of articles on the Armstrong super-regenerative circuit.)

An analysis of the super-regenerative receiver circuit printed in these columns yesterday shows it to consist of two oscillatory circuits which are supplied with energy by one three-element vacuum tube.

The first of these circuits has inductance and capacity of such value as to enable it to be tuned to wave lengths between 200 and 600 meters. The "tickler" coil in the wing circuit provides a means for a "feedback" of signals for amplification.

When the "feedback" coupling has been made great enough the circuit will begin the generation of high frequency—radio—oscillations. Although the tone qualities of any signal will be destroyed, the regenerative amplification will be greatest at this time.

The diagram shows the regenerative receiver part of the super-regenerative set.

Signal energies picked up by, or induced in, the secondary circuit are repeated by the tube into the plate circuit. They are considerably amplified. By coupling the plate and grid circuits, the amplified impulses may be fed back through the tube.

High Intensity

The intensity of the impulses thus developed is very great. Theoretically this regenerative action may take place as often as 250,000 times while the letter "B" is being pronounced. As the coupling between the plate and grid circuits is tightened, more and more of the amplified energies of the plate circuit are fed back into the grid circuit until finally the dissipation of signal energy which has been going on in this grid circuit is completely offset.

At this point regenerative amplification is at a maximum. It is impossible, however to maintain this adjustment.

Irregularities of filament temperature, minute as they are, cause slight variations in the amplification of the tube and the energy fed back to the grid circuit is sufficient to more than offset the losses there. The resistance of the circuit then, no longer exists. It has passed through zero, and has become a negative quantity.

Instead of dissipating the oscillatory signal energy, it is actually generating oscillatory energy—the power being supplied by the batteries.

TIME FOR FILING

CALIFORNIA PAPERS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Filing of candidates for the California primary in August, had closed today. The time expired last night.

Among the last minute petitions was that of Union Sinclair of Pasadena, author of the United States senator on the socialist ticket, adding his candidacy to those of Senator Miam W. Johnson and Charles C. Moore, republicans and William J. Pearson democrat.

Representative Julius Kahn was listed for both the republicans and the democrats in the fourth district, and in the fifth district John Nolan filed on the tickets of both parties.

Governor Stephens is opposed for re-election by Fred W. Richardson, republican; Mattison B. Jones, democrat, and Alexander Horr, socialist.

Babe Adams, Bigbee and Maranville Are Pirates' Mainstays

BABE ADAMS AND MARANVILLE

Despite the fact the Pittsburgh Pirates have slumped in their play the work of Maranville cannot be overlooked.

There are few better shortstops in the game than the diminutive Maranville.

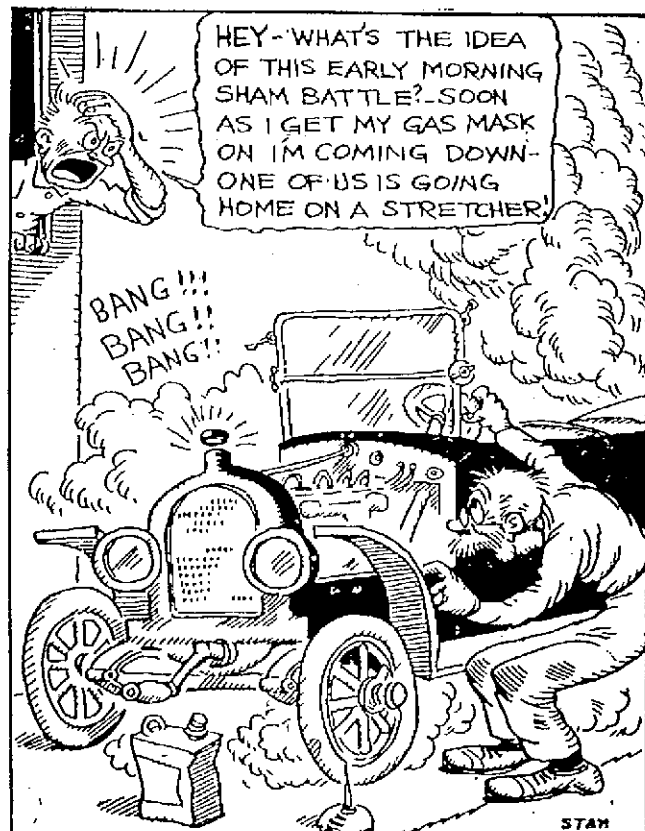

When he came to the Pirates in 1921 the club was regarded as just so-so. He welded the Pirates into a first going machine, that for a greater part of the year showed the way to the Giants.

Maranville has the old fighting spirit. He inspired his teammates with it. As a result the Pirates have been a pretty tough team to beat ever since Maranville joined the club.

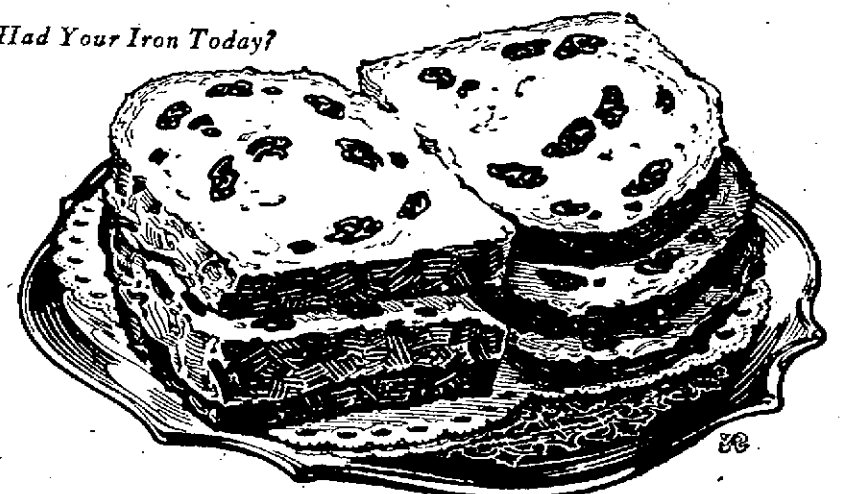

Other Pirates who might receive some consideration are Outfielder Bigbee and Pitcher Babe Adams, who, despite his years, is still a great pitcher.

Had Your Iron Today?

That Delicious Bread —of Energy and Iron

SERVE raisin bread twice weekly on your table for three reasons:

1. Flavor; 2. Energy; 3. Iron

You remember how good a generously filled, full-fruited raisin bread can be. Your grocer can supply a loaf like this.

Insist—if he hasn't one he can get it for you. Full-fruited bread is full of luscious seeded Sun-Maid raisins—rich in energizing nutriment in practically predigested form.

Raisins also furnish fatigue-resisting iron for the blood. Serve plain raisin bread at dinner or as a tasty fruited breakfast toast with coffee.

Make delicious bread pudding with left-over slices. No need to waste a crumb of raisin bread.

Begin this week the habit of raisin bread twice weekly in your home, for raisin bread is both good and good for you.

Adventures of the Twins

MRS. WOODCHUCK HELPS TO DELAY BELIEF TO MINK

MRS. WOODCHUCK SAW THE LITTLE FAIRY DOCTOR AND THE TWINS COMING

Everybody in all Whispering Forest and Bright Meadowland tried to keep Dr. Snuffles and his helpers, Nancy and Nick, from getting as far as Mercy Mink's house.

Marty had swallowed a fish-bone, and as long as it stuck in his throat he couldn't eat a bite. That tickled all the wood-folk and meadow-folk mightily for no one's life was safe when Marty was hungry and around looking for a meal.

Mrs. Woodchuck saw the little fairy doctor and the twins coming. She walked until they got opposite her front door and then—

"Oh, oh, oh!" she cried. "Oh, oh! Somebody help! Quick!"

Marty Mink and his fish-bone flew out of Dr. Snuffles' hand. He hurried into Mrs. Woodchuck's hall and right back to her sitting-room.

GINGER ALE SALAD
By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH
Cooking Authority for N.E.A. Service

2 tablespoons granulated gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup sugar

2 tablespoons lemon juice
Few grains of salt
1 cup ginger ale
2 cups mixed fruit

Soak the gelatin in the cold water one-half hour. Add sugar and boiling water, lemon juice, salt and ginger ale. Allow the mixture to cool, over ice if possible. When it begins to set add fruit. Turn into a wet mold, or molds, and let stand several hours. Unmold on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise, to which beaten cream has been added.

Molded salads for luncheon or supper when served with mayonnaise or beaten cream may be both salad and dessert. Sandwiches of plain bread and butter, or toasted cheese sandwiches, are good to serve with these salads.

Any kind of fruit may be used, or a combination of several fruits; any except fresh pineapple—that prevents the jelly from stiffening—but canned pineapple is all right.

Any of the prepared cold fruit gelatin may be used. This recipe calls for plain gelatin. The fruit combination may be marshmallows cut in small pieces, bananas, oranges, strawberries and canned pineapple.

POLICE TAKE $20,000 WORTH OF BOOZE

SALEM, July 21.—Liquor valued at $20,000 was seized on Hale street in Beverly Farms by police today, and the two drivers of the trucks were arrested. They were Alfred Provender of Peabody and Guy W. Cunningham of Beverly.

Police said they believed that the cargo was being transported from a boat at West beach. Revenue officers took charge of the burlap packages and cases of liquor and held it in the Salem customs house.

Two men driving a touring car that followed the trucks along the highway escaped from custody after hurrying Patrolman William Brown from the machine. Brown was escorting the men to the Beverly police station.

MOVIES TONIGHT ON NORTH COMMON

A program of municipal movies will be given tonight on the North common by the park department. This is the "show" scheduled for Tuesday night of this week, but postponed because of rain.

In connection with the outdoor picture program being given this year, a new curtain has been tried out and has worked so well that the department will purchase one at once. It is a rubber curtain and enables persons 100 feet away to see a picture clearly. Last year plain cotton sheeting, painted, was used, but the maximum range for clarity was hardly 50 feet.

FUNERALS

CASBY.—The funeral services of Geo. W. Casby were held at his home, 45 Willow street, yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. E. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated. The deceased was James Thompson, 11 O. Mauney, Paul McPhail, Louis Cassius, Donald A. MacFarlane and Angus Lament. The funeral was held in the family lot in Edson cemetery, where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Kennedy. The funeral was held under the direction of Undertaker W. Herbert Blake.

MIDDLETON.—The funeral of John J. Middleton took place yesterday afternoon. Private prayers were offered at his home, 100 West avenue. The deceased was James Thompson, 11 O. Mauney, Paul McPhail, Louis Cassius, Donald A. MacFarlane and Angus Lament. The funeral was held in the family lot in Edson cemetery, where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Kennedy. The funeral was held under the direction of Undertaker W. Herbert Blake.

ROACH.—The funeral of Mrs. Della Roach took place this morning from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Catherine J. Deane, 142 Middlesex street, at 9 o'clock. She was largely attended by many sorrowing relatives and friends. The funeral was held at St. Patrick's church where at 9 o'clock a funeral mass was celebrated by Rev. Thomas J. McDonough. The funeral was held under the direction of Undertaker W. Herbert Blake.

BRINMAN.—The funeral of John F. Brinman took place this morning at 9 o'clock from his late home, 15 Sixth street, and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The funeral service proceeded to St. Michael's church where at 9 o'clock a solemn high funeral mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Thomas J. McDonough. The funeral was held under the direction of Undertaker W. Herbert Blake.

GEORGEY.—The funeral of Mrs. Wilfred Georgey took place this morning from her home, 28 Common street. A solemn high funeral mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Jean Baptiste church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Armand Biron, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. Felix Choquette, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. The choir under the direction of J. E. Nolet, rendered the Gregorian chant, Joseph Paradis presiding at the organ. The bearers were Charles and Omer Georgey, Joseph Therien, Arthur Arvinks, Omeris Forget and Odilon Bourassa. The funeral was held under the direction of Undertaker Amadee Archambault & Sons.

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

New Angle to Liquor Traffic Shown in Case Before Judge Pickman Today.

A new phase of the liquor question arose in the district court this morning when a lawyer asked the court to make a finding in keeping with the spirit of the law, which is now in the process of formulation, and which will become a statute within a month. In substance, this law will prevent the introduction in court of evidence, in the form of liquor, which a man has in his personal possession. The lawyer called the arrest of a man on such evidence an infringement on personal liberty.

Judge Pickman agreed that there was a difference in the possession of liquor in a private house and a store in regard to the intent to sell the same, but in this case the man, John Manekos, had given that evidence of his intent to sell by his story. He fined him $150. He appealed and his case will be heard in superior court.

According to the story of the government, the man had been taken into custody as a suspicious character. He was carrying a bag at the time and when this was opened the officers found two gallon jugs of liquor. Manekos explained it by saying that it was his liquor and that he was going to a farm to have a good time. He said he intended to sell the "shine" and send the proceeds to his wife in Greece.

The question as to how far a person can go in his efforts to persuade another to refrain from work in time of a strike is absolutely against justice, according to the court and Judge Pickman fined the defendant $25. Victor Carrier, who broke a store window while intoxicated, was released to the probation officer. He was given three weeks to pay the cost of repairing the damage he had done, amounting to $16.

Another broken window at a drug store brought John Hill into court on the charge of drunkenness. The judge fined him $25, and the defendant was placed on probation with the understanding that he would pay not less than $1 a week until the total amount was paid. Frank A. Collins, an old offender, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was sentenced to the house of correction for three months. Ludwig Langlois was placed on probation for a year, and ordered to pay the cost of transportation to the state house, where he was sent to recommitment.

Peter Precante and Joseph Marcotte were arraigned together, the first on the charge of drunkenness, and driving a machine while in that condition, and the latter on the charge of drunkenness. Precante was found not guilty on both charges, while Marcotte was fined $2, as it was his second offense.

McKenzie, a taxi driver, was before the court for driving without a license. He pleaded guilty and was released to the probation officer, with three weeks to pay his fine of $12.

LOCAL TEXTILE STRIKE

Dye House Employees at Mass. Mills Quit Work—Hanley's Statement

The latest development of the strike at the Massachusetts mill is the walk-out of about 50 per cent. of the employees of the dye house of the mill, which occurred yesterday afternoon. According to reports at strike headquarters about thirty of the sixty employees of that department left their work after being informed that their wage reduction would be. The men are not connected with any labor organizations, but they are now making arrangements to become organized under the banner of the United Textile Workers of America.

Commenting upon the statement made yesterday by Agent Mitchell of the Massachusetts mill to the effect that intimidation had been going on and that threats had been made against some of the employees of the mill, Chairman John Hanley of the strike committee, said if any intimidation has been carried on or threats made, it was not on the part of members of the United Textile Workers of America, for the members of the organization have always been urged and warned not to resort to any tactics that were not considered peaceful, while picketing, and so far all have followed instructions to the letter.

"It seems strange," said Mr. Hanley, "that, two or three days after a strike has taken place at the Massachusetts mill, the agent should come out with such a statement, while during the 23 weeks that pickets have been on duty at the Hamilton Mfg. Co., there has never been a complaint from either the mill officials nor the police. Picketing at the Massachusetts is being done by the same element that has picketed the other mill for months. It is all members of the United Textile Workers of America."

Law and Order
The members of the United Textile Workers of America have always behaved in law and order and we have demonstrated this in the past. We have had strikes in Lowell and other cities but have always conducted them in a very peaceful manner with the result that often times the newspapers and city officials have commended us for our good behavior. Now Agent Mitchell says he believes that the intimidation or threatening was not committed by former employees of the mill, and we agree with him in that respect. He also states that those who are doing it have been sent here by some agency. If it is true that intimidation and threatening has been going on, we are again in accord with the agent in believing that the trouble makers have been sent here by some agency, but not one connected with the labor organizations. We are inclined to believe, however, that all this is a purely propaganda to secure public opinion against the strikers."

A meeting of the Polish workers of the Massachusetts mill will be held at the Polish club at the corner of Lakeview avenue and Coburn street tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The speaker will be addressed by a Polish speaker of Manchester, N. H.

DAVIDSON.—Died in this city, July 21, at the Dowling hospital, 67 Nineteenth street, Mrs. Mary E. Davidson, aged 64 years and 10 days. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Walter J. Mabel, and one grandchild of this city. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker George W. Healey.

FUNERAL NOTICES

LACOMBE.—The funeral of Mrs. Marguerite Lacombe will take place Saturday morning at 8 o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Daigneault, 324 Middlesex street. A solemn high funeral mass will be sung in Notre Dame de Lourdes church at 9 o'clock. Friends are invited to attend. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery. Arrangements in charge of Funeral Director Joseph Albert.

NOONAN.—Died July 19, Michael J. Noonan. Funeral will take place on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock from his late home, 67 Andrew street. A solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at the Immaculate Conception church at 10 o'clock. Burial will take place in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements will be in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

DAVIDSON.—Died in this city, July 21, at the Dowling hospital, 67 Nineteenth street, Mrs. Mary E. Davidson, aged 64 years and 10 days. Funeral services will be held at the funeral church, 235 Woodford street, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Friends invited without further notice. Cremation will take place at Forest Hills crematory Monday. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

Hamilton Mfg. Co.
Picketing at the plant of the Hamilton Mfg. Co. has been temporarily stopped by union officials, as it is felt that the picketing of the Massachusetts plant is more important for the present. Those who were doing picket duty at the Hamilton have joined the ranks of the Massachusetts pickets and are helping their brethren in an endeavor to have those employed at the plant fall in line with the strikers. Picketing at the plant of the Bay State Cotton Corp. was brought to a stop a few weeks ago. Very few of the strikers of the Merrimack Mfg. Co. are organized and for that reason little attention is given that mill.

WELL KNOWN TRIANGLE
BELMONT, N. Y., July 21.—A month ago William Mohman's sweet-heart arrived from Germany and two weeks later they were married. The bride took a dislike to her mother-in-law and to living in the country and begged Mohman, a baker, to move to New York city, but he refused. Yesterday the bride left him, saying she would not return. Today Mohman committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn.

Loans Passed by Council Last Night Carries the City $5563.93 Beyond Debt Limit

The financial status of the city of Lowell reached the crisis stage today when it became known that the loans passed and authorized by the city council last night, amounting to $220,000, carried the city $5563.93 beyond the debt limit.

As of July 1, the city stood $271,000.

$35,000 removed from the debt limit, but since that time, including last night, loans authorized but not negotiated total $277,500, which places the city in the unusual position of authorizing the borrowing of money beyond the borrowing power of municipalities.

To be sure, the strained condition may be only temporary, for a substantial loan payment will be made the last of this month, but the fact remains that today the city has contracted for larger obligations than it is entitled to assume by law.

Another avenue of escape is in the hands of the state.

MAY CURTAIL RENT ADVANCES

Might Also Lead to Rearrangement of System of Assessment

Would Make it Mandatory to Report all Increases to Board of Assessors

What may become the initial step toward a rearrangement of the city's system of assessment, is incorporated in an ordinance introduced into the city council last night by Councilor Smith J. Adams, entitled:

The gist of the ordinance is in its main provision, which is, that any and all increases made in the rental or charge for use and occupation of any building or home within the city limits, shall be immediately reported by the owner or owners to the board of assessors.

The third section carries a real bite, when it provides a fine of not less than $100 for failure to do so.

It will be recalled that some several weeks ago, Albert J. Blazon, then a member of the board of assessors, in an interview given a representative of this paper, stated that he believed thoroughly in a new system of assessment, whereby property would be taxed on its income to its owner, rather than upon its valuation.

While the present ordinance suggests a rearrangement of the present system, it does not go so far as to suggest a complete change.

HIGH SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION ANTICIPATES NEW BUILDING

Vast Amount of Finishing Work Yet Remains to Be Done, Although Plans Are to Have Plant Ready for Occupancy When School Opens in September—Many Features in Beautiful Building

As far as the Lowell high school itself is concerned—that is—the physical part, made up at present of the directing and teaching staff, with 1700-odd pupils in prospect when the fall term begins, the school is ready to occupy the new building tomorrow. Whatever detail has been involved in the transfer of hundreds of pupils from other buildings to under one roof, and of course, there has been a great mass of it, has been attended to and it is reason required, the school could begin to function immediately.

School begins on Sept. 11. The physical part of the school will be ready, but will the building itself be in a condition to receive pupils?

Much Work Remains Unfinished

PLANS MADE TO MEET SITUATION

Hoover Says Government's Plan for Coal Distribution is Ready

Railroad Supplies of Fuel Will Be Taken Care of First

WASHINGTON, July 21 (By the Associated Press).—The government's plan to direct coal distribution during the present strike emergency will be ready for announcement before night, Secretary Hoover indicated on leaving today's cabinet meeting. Railroad supplies of fuel will be taken care of before any attempt is made to direct movement of coal preferentially to any geographical section of the country, it was added.

Mr. Hoover has been at work for several days upon a plan of insuring coal distribution to the railroads during the present emergency and has conferred with members of the interstate commerce commission on the question of priorities for coal shipments.

Senator Kellogg, republican, Minnesota, has been keeping in close touch with the coal situation as affecting the northwest as has Senator Lodge, republican, Massachusetts, with respect to New England fuel supplies.

Senator Lodge visited the White House prior to the cabinet meeting and urged upon President Harding and Secretary Hoover the special coal needs of New England. Mr. Lodge said he received assurances from both officials that their plans contemplated the earliest possible shipments of coal to New England and other northern states.

MAY HAVE BOUGHT AUTOMATIC PISTOL

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—Mrs. Clara Phillips whose trial for the murder of Mrs. Albert Meadows has been set for Sept. 18, is believed to have purchased an automatic pistol two days before the young widow was beaten to death with a hammer, according to a story the Los Angeles Times published today.

The Times located a duplicate record of the sale of the pistol which police departments require all dealers in such articles to keep, and found the salesman, who said the woman who purchased the weapon seemed to resemble newspaper pictures of Mrs. Phillips.

HOOPER CALLED BY PRESIDENT

Chairman of Railroad Labor Board Rushed to Washington for Conference

State Troops on Duty in Disturbance Centers in Seven States

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(By the Associated Press) President Harding today invited Chairman Hooper of the Railroad Labor board to Washington for a discussion of the strike situation. The president it was indicated at the White House after today's cabinet meeting at which the rail strike was discussed at length, desired to obtain from Chairman Hooper through direct conference information on several points raised by the railroad executives in their discussion of the situation with Senators Cummins, Iowa, Watson, Indiana and Kellogg, Minnesota, of the Interstate Commerce commission.

Three Points
The information furnished the government through the conference, according to additional disclosures today, was that the three principal points at issue in the strike controversy were restoration of the seniority and of pension rights of the strikers and setting up a national board of adjustment.

It was said that future conferences "probably" would be held but it was not stated who would participate.

Senator Cummins seemed pessimistic over the outlook but Senator Watson was more optimistic.

The railroad executives in their conference were understood to have declared emphatically that there could be no restoration of the seniority right of those employees on strike. Restoration of seniority, they were said to hold, would violate the word of the railroads as given to the workers who all the places of those who walked out and no such violation could be considered by the railroad managements.

The seniority question, accordingly, was held to be the big point at issue.

Hooper On Way
CHICAGO, July 21.—Chairman Ben W. Hooper of the United States Railroad Labor board, left Chicago today on the Grandway Limited for Washington, in answer to a summons from President Harding to discuss the national railroad strike.

CONCORD, N. H., July 21.—Two companies of the New Hampshire national guard, ordered out yesterday afternoon by Gov. Albert O. Brown on request from Mayor Henry B. Chamberlain and the Boston & Maine railroad, following a disturbance Tuesday night in which 15 new workers were driven from their quarters, were assigned early today to their posts on railroad property here. The troops comprise 150 officers and men from Batteries C and D, and of the 10th anti-aircraft field artillery.

Adjutant General Charles W. Howard, who was on hand late last night when the troops came in on special trains, today formed a provisional battalion. Captain Arthur L. Smith of the Portsmouth battery, was placed in command.

Major George W. Morrill, state quartermaster, forwarded sufficient supplies to the troops to last for several days. Railroad officials reaffirmed statements that they have sufficient number of men to handle the

Lowell Mourns Death of One of Her Best Loved Churchmen

Sad tidings indeed were brought to residents in Lowell, particularly members of St. Patrick's parish, when it became known late last evening that Rt. Rev. Monsignor William O'Brien, I. P.P., had suddenly laid down his earthly life. The death came early in the evening. The monsignor, apparently in his usual good health, had visited the contractor engaged in the construction of the new home for the Xavierian Brothers, and returned to the rectory for supper. During the meal he complained of slight illness and was removed to his chamber, which he has occupied for nearly 22 years. It was soon evident that the elderly pastor was in a critical condition, and although everything possible in a medical way was attempted, he sank gradually and died soon after the administration of the last rites of the church.

The body of the deceased monsignor has been laid out in his own room, under the personal direction of Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, designated by His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell to take full charge of arrangements. It will repose in the rectory until Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when an office for the dead will be held by all local priests. Afterward, an opportunity will be given the people not only of the parish but of the entire city to view the remains. A guard of honor will serve at the entrance, composed of representatives of the Holy Name society, St. Vincent de Paul society and the C.Y.M.C.

The funeral ceremonies will take place Monday with a solemn high mass of requiem at 10:30 o'clock and a mass for the children at 11:15. His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell will preside at the obsequies.

Rev. Fr. Curtin could say no more regarding the arrangements made up to the present time, but stated that all masses on Sunday, December 10, 1883, the corner stone laid on April 7, 1884, and after the completion of the basement, Archbishop Williams bestowed his blessing upon it on June 23, 1885. Here services were conducted until the completion of the new church in Sixth street in 1885. The parsonage was built next and a year later the parochial school building was constructed.

In 1900 following the death of his beloved uncle, "Fr. Michael," while on a visit to Ireland, he was transferred to the pastorate of St. Patrick's church, and there has served faithfully and effectively.

PAY TRIBUTE TO HIS MEMORY

Many Friendships Cemented by Man of Faith and Wide Vision

Hardly had the news of Monsignor O'Brien's death become generally known, than men of the city, from every station and walk of life, expressed their sincerest sympathy. Naturally, he had friends closer to him than others and many of these paid glowing tribute to his life work as it was carried out in the city he had served so long and unselfishly.

REV. JOHN J. SHAW
No other Lowell clergyman was so long associated with the late Mgr. O'Brien as was the Rev. John J. Shaw of St. Michael's church. Speaking of the passing of the good priest this morning, Rev. Fr. Shaw said: "The news of his death has shocked us most deeply. The loss of a man of such high spiritual guidance is irreparable. His life was a benediction and a living inspiration both to his clergy and his people. In directing the religious activities of his parish he was ever zealous, gentle and considerate. He was especially devoted to the relief of the poor, the sick and the afflicted. To him the people went with their troubles and sorrows, and in such cases his fatherly counsel and deep sympathy gave them renewed hope and inspiration to bear life's crosses with a Christian fortitude and resignation. To the clergy, he was the exemplar of the ideal priest, and for whose sympathy and guidance gave them comfort and inspiration in all their difficulties. The life of Mgr. O'Brien though quiet and unassuming, was a continuous inspiration to his priests and his people, because of his ever deep and active zeal and devotion to the service of God and the salvation of souls."

REV. D. J. KELLEHER, P.M.D.
Rev. Daniel J. Kelleher, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's church, paid the following tribute to Monsignor O'Brien: "I have scarcely recovered from the shock caused by the unexpected death of my esteemed friend, Rt. Rev. Mgr. William O'Brien. He was a true priest, a Christian gentleman, an exemplary pastor of his great parish, and a solid and local citizen. Of course his loss will be felt. He leaves with his people for their consolation and guidance, the record of a long life that has fulfilled the generous aspirations of his youth, when he consecrated his life to the service of God. We may well feel that our dear departed friend has already heard the voice of the Master, speaking the words of love and wisdom: 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'"

REV. L. F. TIGHE, O.M.I.
The Very Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O.M.I., pastor of the Immaculate Conception church and provincial of the Oblate order in the first American province, said with regard to Monsignor O'Brien's death: "I feel that I have lost a very dear friend, and the people of the city a good pastor and faithful priest. In all his dealings with his fellow priests he has shown himself a perfect gentleman."

Yesterday Was Lowell Day at O. M. I. Cadet Camp in Wilmington

O. M. I. CADET ATHLETES

In the presence of hundreds of parents, relatives, friends and former cadets, Lowell day was fittingly observed at the O. M. I. Cadet camp in Wilmington, yesterday. Athletic sports, field events, a baseball game and an impressive "red light" parade constituted a program of unusual merit, which was carried out in characteristic O. M. I. fashion.

The morning's objective was Silver Lake where a list of water races was conducted under the watchful eye of "Mike" Ryan, athletic and swimming instructor. Competition was keen at all times but the following could not be denied and finally emerged victors:

50-yard dash for boys under 14 years of age: Edward Gibbons, first; John Regan, second. 50-yard dash for boys under 16: Hugh McGowan, first; Harry Greaves, second. 50-yard dash for boys under 18: James Curran, first; Daniel O'Connor, second. 100-yard dash for boys under 14 years of age: Harry Greaves, first; Daniel O'Connor, second.

A close relay race followed the individual events, being won by the Tent 4 representatives, consisting of Daniel O'Connor, John Butler, John O'Connor and James Curran. The winning team: Michael Ryan, referee; Edward Tansey, starter; Daniel O'Connor and James Curran, timekeepers; Francis Gargan, clerk of course.

The field events were next in order, the following leading their rivals to the top:

100-yard dash for boys under 12 years of age: Francis Regan, first; John Scanlon, second. 100-yard dash for boys under 14 years of age: Donald Dunne, first; Patrick Mullaney, second. 100-yard dash for boys under 16 years of age: Joseph Connolly, first; I. Price, second. 100-yard dash for all cadets: James Curran, first; Daniel O'Connor, second. 100-yard dash for all cadets: James Curran, first; Harry Greaves, second. 100-yard dash for all cadets: John O'Connor, first; John Savage, second.

The well laid diamond was the scene of the afternoon's activities, an excellent baseball game being played here between the cadets and the Belvidere of Lowell. The cadets triumphed 15 to 2, but the score does not indicate the fast play that was evident throughout the game. Gibbons for the cadets had 15 strikeouts to his credit. Ed Tansey made a beautiful home run and Frank Gargan contributed the fielding feature of the game with a spectacular catch in left field.

As the shades of night were falling, the cadets entered a flaming camp fire. Father Sullivan and his staff of officers occupying the center of the beautiful picture, and the visitors forming an inspiring background. Cadet "Billie" Green, of New Jersey, obliged with a cornet solo, and patriotic songs filled the air, blending harmoniously with the chirping of crickets and evening night birds. The singing over, Father Sullivan awarded the prizes to the winners of the various athletic events. He also took advantage of the opportunity to congratulate the boys for their splendid conduct during the tour of pleasant duty, and thanked them heartily for the manifest co-operation throughout the stay at the camp.

The big red light parade followed immediately after Father Sullivan concluded. The parade resembled the well known college winkle dance symbolizing victory, and the soldiers carried it out to perfection. The day's activities culminated in a ringing three cheers before the headquarters tent of the general Father Sullivan, after which the tired cadets prepared to retire to their respective tents to await the sound of dawn.

A sham battle between two "armies," the Red and the Blue, was on the program for today, and the "war" was fought with excellent results. Tomorrow the cadets will shoulder their packs and begin the last long mile of the homeward journey.

The officers of this year's camp are as follows: Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O. M. I. chaplain and organizer; Francis Gargan, military instructor; Edward Tansey, assistant military instructor; Michael Ryan, athletic and swimming instructor; and the following in direct charge: Lieut. Col. William Morgan, Adj. Richard Thomas, Capt. William Dooley, Capt. Irving Collins, former Lieut. Col. Lester Robinson, Lieut. Albert McDougal, Lieut. R. O'Brien, Lieut. I. Price, Lieut. John Conley, Lieut. Daniel Crowe and Lieut. Jack Carter.

The officers of Co. A are as follows: Maj. John O'Connor, commanding; Lieut. Francis O'Day and Lieut. James Curran; Company B—Capt. James Curran, Lieut. Francis Curran and Lieut. Thomas Kelleher; Company C—Capt. James Bushy, Lieut. Paul Garrity and Lieut. Roger Kennedy.

The camp kitchen is in charge of "Shirley" McKenzie, chef, with the following as his assistants: Lieut. Edward Duffy, P. Cushing, B. Watson, W. Kilburn, W. McCluskey and F. Wood.

CRESCENT HILLS DEFEAT DIXWELLS

In the second game of the recently organized Centralville Twilight League, played last evening on the Alken street grounds, the Crescent Hills defeated the Dixwells club by the score of 5 to 2. This is the second win for the Crescent as they previously pinned defeat on the Dixwells by the score of 11 to 2. The batteries in last night's game were as follows: Crescent Hills, Taylor p and Riley c; Dixwells, McMahon p and O'Neill c. The batting of Dixwells for the Crescent and O'Neill for the Dixwells provided the features of the game. Tonight, the Dixwells will play the Centralville Social club on the same grounds.

Fred Weissmann, attorney for the newspaper made public the letter which Young wrote to H. L. White, advertising representative of the paper in explanation of his refusal to fulfill the contract.

City Council Votes Loans Totalling Quarter Million Dollars

FRANCIS A. CONNOR

CHIEF EDWARD F. SAUNDERS

OWEN A. MONAHAN
City Messenger

Permanently Elects Edward F. Saunders Chief of Fire Department, Owen A. Monahan City Messenger and Francis A. Connor Superintendent of Public Buildings—Planning Board Confirmed and City Officials Asked to Appear Before Council at Next Meeting to Thrash Out Packard Matter

Loans aggregating a quarter of a million dollars were adopted by the city council last night, including one for $50,000 which will purchase sufficient apparatus to completely motorize the Lowell fire department. This huge amount of new money to be borrowed did not receive the approval of the entire council membership, for a small group, led by Councilor James

J. Gallagher, favored an application of the brakes as the city's borrowing capacity neared the maximum. It was a meeting that ran the entire gamut of municipal business from soup to nuts and more actual accomplishments were jammed into the two-hour session than has been the case for some time.

Three Officials Elected
Acting upon nominations presented to it by Mayor Brown, the council unanimously elected Edward F. Saunders chief of the fire department for a term of three years; Francis A. Connor superintendent of public buildings, for a term of two years and Owen A. Monahan city messenger for a two-year term. The trio are hold-over of the council and their permanent elections are retroactive to Jan. 1.

Cornelius F. Cronin, nominated for the position of superintendent of the city's permanent apparatus, also was elected for two years, but only by a majority vote, the count being 9 to 5, with Councilors Adams, Chadwick, Chretien, McMahon and McFadden registering opposition.

Planning Board Confirmed
The council also confirmed by a

City's Debt Limit Exceeded

cluded in the mayor's statement today, the effect of the vote will be to add $50,000 to the city's debt limit, which was one of the items that went to make up last night's total of nearly one-quarter of a million dollars.
Taken from another angle, it may be said that inasmuch as the city has not actually received loans to this whole amount, the debt limit has not been surpassed, but there remains the question of whether the city even has the right to authorize loans in an amount that automatically carries the municipality beyond the limit.
As has been said, the distance from the debt limit on July 1, according to the statement of the city auditor, was $271,936.07. Since that date there has been authorized, but not negotiated, a loan of $25,000 for macadam paving and another for $32,500 for park and playground areas. These loans, together with the $20,000 authorized last night, comprise the total which creates the excess, when comparison is made with the figure as of the first day of the month.

Last year the city borrowed within the debt limit, which is exclusive of high school, water works and auditorium money, $59,000. This year, despite the statements made by the mayor early in the spring, or during discussions on budget figures, that he would not approve loans in 1922 that would bulk greater than $300,000, loans already have been authorized to the amount of $69,500, or only $2500 less than last year's total, and with the present vote only half gone.
Loans, within the debt limit and exclusive of $200,000 borrowed as temporary money in anticipation of revenue, have been authorized as follows:

Sewer construction	$50,000
Auditorium	70,000
Permanent Pvg.	100,000
First Street Const.	70,000
Sidewalks	20,000
Macadam	20,000
First Street Const.	20,000
Anne Street Parkway	10,000
Bridges	40,000
First Street Park	25,000
Fire Apparatus	50,000
Misc. Playgrounds	25,500
Total	$592,500

In addition to this total of more than $500,000, there has been transferred from the prior revenue account to various departments, as supplementary budgets, $44,500. Of course, this is this year's tax rate, but it shows what a staggering amount of money is being used.

Councilor James J. Gallagher attempted to slow things up a bit at last night's meeting and gave warning that the city was spending money close to the debt limit. In the matter of money, but not even the councilor realized that the city's money was not only being spent, but that it was being used to pay for the city's debt.

When asked whether he would vote any other of the loan orders passed last night in addition to the one for fire apparatus, the mayor said he had not given the others any study and knew nothing about them.

"They were now orders to me," he declared.

When asked if it was not a fact that they had previously been before the council and properly advertised, he still said he knew nothing about them.

official report issued by the nationalist general headquarters early today. The irregulars are now retreating southward.

Shelling Waterford
CORK, July 21.—An official bulletin issued early today by the republican insurgent headquarters here says that according to latest reports from Waterford, the national army forces are shelling the city.

Free state troops yesterday afternoon took possession of the asylum and infirmary in Waterford, says the statement. Republican forces frustrated repeated attempts of the enemy to cross the river in boats. Owing to the fact that the cavalry barracks formed a conspicuous target for the Free State artillery, certain parts of the building were evacuated and destroyed by the republicans. The nationalists' fire from across the river killed two civilians and wounded four others. Many inhabitants have left the city because of the bombardment, and the streets have been cleared of pedestrians.

There was considerable activity on the part of both forces in county Clare and South Galway.

The official bulletin reports inconclusive fighting in the Limerick area on July 19. Several civilians were wounded by the nationalists' fire, the statement says. In East Limerick it continues, the republicans are operating mobile forces which are harassing the movements of Free State troops.

The city of Cork is comparatively quiet.

poses no such change. Its main provision is aimed at a proper classification of advances in rentals in order that the assessors may take cognizance of the changes and increase the valuation figures if they so desire.

The second section of the ordinance provides that all rent advances made from January 1 of this year until the time of passage of the ordinance, shall be reported to the assessors within 30 days from the date of such passage. The penalty clause also seems to apply to this section, as well.

Whether such reports, providing, of course, the ordinance becomes effective, would benefit the assessors at all, this would be a question for the time the ordinance would be passed in the ordinary course of events, the rate already will be announced, for it is now planned that the rate will have been reached by the middle of next month and surely the new ordinance, if passed, would not come effective until after that time.

However, the ordinance is looked upon as most significant and capable of causing more or less of an upheaval in the system of assessment and taxation, should it be followed to its natural conclusion.

The ordinance, in full, follows:

Section 1—All persons, firms or corporations, resident or non-resident in the city of Lowell owning real estate in said city and not using or occupying the same for themselves or their family, or receiving rent or other income from said real estate, shall after the date of the passage of this ordinance, notify the board of assessors in writing of any increase made by said owners in the rental or charge for use and occupation of said real estate at the time said increase in rental or charge for use and occupation becomes effective against the tenant or occupant thereof.

Section 2—All persons, firms or corporations resident or non-resident, owning real estate in this city, the rent or charge for use and occupation of which has been increased from Jan. 1, 1922, to the date of the passage of this ordinance, shall within 30 days from the date of the passage of this ordinance, furnish the board of assessors in writing a statement of such increase in rental or increased charge for use and occupation of said real estate.

Section 3—Any person, firm or corporation failing to comply with the foregoing provisions of this ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not less than $100.

ATTENTION!

Working People!

Who is doing your dental work? How much are you paying for it?

A school teacher recently showed me a gold crown in her mouth for which she had paid $25.

Who could have given her the very same thing, same gold, same workmanship exactly as good, for $8. This is but one out of thousands of cases where people are paying from two to three times as much as they need to for their dental work.

We do give you the best work. We do give you the best material. We do stand back of our work.

We have been here for 16 years satisfying thousands of your townspeople, and we want you to take advantage of this opportunity to have

HANGMAN'S BUSINESS IS NOT SO GOOD

MONTREAL, July 21.—Pleading that his business is uncertain and that his income cannot arbitrarily be increased, Arthur Ellis, hangman, has informed the court that he can spare his wife only $75 a month instead of the $110 she asks.

Ellis, now on his way to Vancouver to handle the execution of three men, was brought into police court yesterday on a charge of assault preferred by his wife. The complaint was withdrawn after he promised to give Mrs. Ellis the $75 and the couple had shaken hands on the bargain.

But Mrs. Ellis has reconsidered, and again is pressing for the $110. Her husband has been notified that she intends suing for a separation.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF TARIFF BILL

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Today is the first anniversary of the passage of the administration tariff bill by the house. The leaders on both sides of the senate are anxious to get it into conference. They are weary of the grind of work on what has become the longest legislative day in the history of the senate, a day that now has run 208 hours or 121 more hours than there were committee amendments to the bill. In the senate it will be 12 o'clock noon, Thursday, April 20, 1922—the hour the tariff bill was called up—this bit of legislative fiction being indulged in with a hope of keeping all other except the most pressing legislation.

But this fiction has not prevented senators from talking on most every subject under the sun.

SELECT OFFICERS

BOSTON, July 21.—The National Leather & Shoe Makers' association in the final session of its 18th annual convention here yesterday elected Albert J. Ehlers of Chicago as president. Victor W. Peterson of Chicago, was re-elected treasurer and the following chosen as vice presidents: J. W. Lindsay, Atlanta, Ga.; T. G. Adams, Spokane, Wash.; L. Litchnerberger, Los Angeles; C. G. Fry, Wilkesbarre, Pa.; and M. H. Goldman, Toledo, Ohio.

pany's work. Now employees were expected to arrive today, the officials said. Crowds watched the detachment of the troops. There was no demonstration and the soldiers went quietly about their duties.

Can't Find Bullet

GREENFIELD, July 21.—Physicians said today that an X-ray photograph had failed to disclose a bullet in the hip of James Rago of Boston, who, according to the reports of his company as well as the East Deerfield police and officials of the Boston & Maine railroad, was shot while swimming near East Deerfield, Wednesday night, with fellow Boston & Maine shop workers. After Rago was wounded, he was carried by his companions to police headquarters in East Deerfield and was later removed to the Greenfield hospital. His comrades reported that several shots had been fired from bushes across the river. Hospital authorities refused to say whether it was

Direct from tea garden to teapot

Railroads Stand Firm

CHICAGO, July 21.—The strike of railway shippers today bore increasing external appearance of a finish fight.

An abortive conference at Washington last night between several railroad presidents and members of the senate interstate commerce committee only revealed strengthened determination on the part of the railroads not to weaken in their declaration to grant the demands of union men for recognition of the instructions which abolish seniority rights of the strikers, destroy their pension status and refuse creation of boards of adjustment.

The conference also revealed that it was regarded as impracticable to pass legislation to deal with the present strike.

Reports from throughout the country told of annulment of nearly 300 train and combining of numerous others. On the one hand, however, were reports of additional replacements of strikers with increasing efforts to safeguard them, while on the other the ranks of the strikers were said by union chiefs to have remained at full strength and the number actually out has been increased by walk-outs in other departments of some railroads, the latest of consequence being that by 3000 clerks on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad.

Numerous reports of violence continued, spread from Fresno, Calif., to Worcester, Mass., and additional troops were ordered out. National guardsmen are on duty in Ohio, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Georgia, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Kansas.

Troops were asked of Governor Kennard to protect Chicago. Great western railroad property at Odessa, Ia., and outbreaks at Concord, N. H., caused the governor to send state troops there.

May Not Go Out

DETROIT, July 21.—Only a remote possibility that the 400,000 members of the Maintenance of Way Brotherhood would be ordered out on strike remained today when international officers of the union went into conference with B. F. Grable, international president, to discuss the general strike situation.

So optimistic was President Grable that he intimated the conference would devote most of its attention to members who have gone out on an unauthorized strike rather than to a possible walkout of the entire membership.

MORE WATER POWER UNDER DEVELOPMENT

WASHINGTON, July 21.—There is more water power development under way than at any period in the nation's history, the federal power commission reported today in reviewing the results of its two years of administration under the water power act. Applications for waterpower development have reached a total of 321 and involve approximately 20,000,000 horse power, or more than twice the existing waterpower installation of the country. In the last year they aggregated six million horse power of proposed installations.

Although it has been able to take final action on more than half of the applications for permits and licenses filed, the commission, the report said, has been forced to delay action on many important projects due, it was said, to a wholly inadequate personnel.

OHIO COMPANY CALLS FOR AID

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 21.—Declaring that local officials are unable to cope with the situation and that "Gov. Davis has refused to furnish us any protection" the Consolidated Coal & Coke Co., of Butler, Pa., through its attorneys here today, telegraphed President Harding asking that federal troops be sent to guard the company's operations near New Straitsville, Perry county, Ohio.

Troops Preparing
HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21.—Approximately 1100 Pennsylvania national guardsmen were preparing today, in response to Governor Sproul's order to move to the bituminous coal fields in the southwestern section of the state for strike duty. In ordering out the troops Governor Sproul said the peace of the commonwealth and the rights of its citizens would be preserved no matter what the cost. Movement of the soldiers to the soft coal districts is the first to be made as a preventive measure. Heretofore, guardsmen have been ordered out when disorder occurred. This is the first time units of the National Guard have been placed on coal strike duty since 1902, when the entire guard was ordered into the anthracite fields.

CONSIDERING ACTION
MEXICO CITY, July 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The Mexican War department today was considering what action to take on the report received late last night that a Southern Pacific train was attacked a few miles from Mazatlan, on Wednesday, when the express car and several passengers were robbed of 25,000 pesos by followers of Gen. Juan Carrasco, a rebel leader.

WILL OPEN WESTFORD STREET TO TRAFFIC

The street department plans to open one side of Westford street to traffic, tomorrow. This section of the street is being paved with Amelco. While the other side is being paved, work will be begun on the excavation of the north side of Broadway preparatory to laying the same composition there.

Powers Bros., contractors for the new First street boulevard, have moved considerable equipment on to the job and will begin actual work next Monday morning. The city engineer has called for bids on short asphalt and asphalt concrete to be compressed in place on the streets, the city to prepare the base. If the bids received are satisfactory the work planned includes Mammoth road, between Second and Eighth avenues, and Alken, Moody, Kirk and Paige streets. Not less than 1000 tons of asphalt will be asked for on the reclamation.

TIME FOR FILING CALIFORNIA PAPERS
SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Filing of candidates for the California primary in August, had closed today. The time expired last night. Minute petitions were filed at Union Square of Pasadena, author, who filed for United States senator on the socialist ticket, adding his candidacy to those of Senator William W. Johnson and Charles C. Moore, republicans and William J. Harrison democrat.

ARMED MEN ROB NEW YORK MAN

NEW YORK, July 21.—Four armed men snatched a leather bag containing $2555 away from Jacob Alex, vice president of the Stutz Co., cigarbox manufacturers this afternoon at Columbus and Broome streets, on the lower East side. Pedestrians saw the bandits make their getaway in an automobile. Alex had just withdrawn the money from the Corn Exchange bank for payroll purposes.

WASHINGTON PLAYGROUND
Originality was the watchword of the varied program presented by the children of the Washington playground yesterday afternoon, under the supervision of Miss Lillian Moran and Miss Olga Shaw. This was evidenced by the girls in their folk-songs of the Romance tribes, and by the boys in their acrobatic pyramids. The program is as follows:
Duet, "Evangeline," Jennette and Leo Lavasseur.
Piano Selection, "Elsie's Waltz," Elsie Laidlaw.
Pyramid Building,
William Henry Desmarais, Leo and Harry Lavasseur, Paul Cabana and Francis Morin.

McPadden jumps Mayor
The meeting was not without its spice and paprika and was featured by a stinging arraignment of the mayor and some of his actions by Councillor John J. McPadden, speaking after His Honor had submitted three vetoes to the council, accompanied by a lengthy communication, in which he branded the councillor as an "obstructionist" and the originator of the orders having to do with the purchase of a Packard touring car.

The councillor was on his feet the moment President Bagley finished reading the communication and made counter-charges of illegal and irregular conduct in the mayor's department; declared that the general expense fund, against which the purchase price of the Packard was charged, was not a fund "to be spent, played with or looted as any man wished," but was a general fund, as the name implies, and wound up by presenting a motion to the effect that the city clerk be authorized to engage counsel to bring action against the Packard Motor Car Co. in an attempt to recover the purchase price of the machine.

Packard Matter in Foreground
Councillor Gallagher, however, went a step farther in the matter and introduced an order which would bring the mayor, purchasing agent of auditor, budget and audit commission and board of public service before the council at its next regular meeting, with all available data concerning not only the purchase of the Packard touring car by His Honor, but also the purchase of two Packard trucks for the street department.

This motion was agreeable to Councillor McPadden and it was passed. Representatives of the Trades and Labor council presented a communication to the council relative to alleged illegal actions on the part of William A. Arnold, superintendent of state aid.

It was decided to take no action until both sides of the controversy had been heard and to this end Supt. Arnold, advised by giving a hearing before the council at the next meeting.

It was thought that the mayor would send in the nomination of Mrs. Sarah Kiltredge for Mr. Arnold's place, as he

Three Nominations to Expire
By failing to act on the nominations of Dr. William F. Ryan for city physician and Edwin T. Shaw and Frank J. Hubin for assessors, the council showed a disposition to let them expire in the natural way. As all three were in the council on June 22, they will automatically become out-laws tomorrow.

Zoning Ordinance Hearing
Before the regular meeting the council gave a hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance. It was first thought that the committee on ordinances would conduct the hearing but a "riot" on the ordinance provided for a discussion before the entire body.

Councillor Gallagher, as chairman of the committee, read the ordinance, however.

Councillor Donald M. Cameron was the only absentee when the roll was called.

City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney was the first speaker. He said the ordinance had been framed as the result of a growing condition in residential sections that rapidly was becoming intolerable. He felt that such districts should be protected from the encroachments of men who seek only to make money in the building and rental of small stores. These men have no concern as to the beauty of a residential section, the solicitor continued, and expressed the hope that the council would protect home owners in all parts of the city by adopting the ordinance.

On request of Councillor Gallagher, Pres. Bagley gave the ordinance a second reading.

As there were no remonstrants, the hearing was declared closed, after proponents had been asked to register their favor by standing.

Councillor Adams moved that the or-inance be adopted, but opposition developed for the reason that several councillors felt they desired further time for study before voting upon it.

Labor Enters Protest
The first business of the regular meeting was consideration of a communication from the Trades and Labor council, signed by Charles E. Anderson, president, protesting against alleged action on the part of William A. Arnold, superintendent of state aid, in recommending to service men who approached him for aid, that they seek work at the R. & M. car shops or the Merrimack mills, in both of which places strikes now are in progress.

The communication stated that if the state aid office is being used as an employment bureau for strike-breakers, such practice should be discontinued.

Councillor Sadlier said that he felt Supt. Arnold had overstepped his authority in recommending any place to a man who comes to him for aid.

"If he cannot give a man state aid," said the councillor, "he has nothing further to do or suggest. We have a civic employment bureau to handle all such requests."

Councillor Gallagher suggested a public hearing be held on the matter so that the council may learn both sides of the question and it was voted to hold it at the next regular meeting.

Loan Orders Passed
On a roll call vote the $25,000 order for acquiring land in First street for park purposes was adopted.

A permanent paving order in the sum of $50,000 also was adopted.

When the $50,000 order for motor fire apparatus was called for adoption, Councillor Gallagher expressed the thought that the council should hesitate before passing any more loan orders.

He said he believes the fire department equipment is adequate for the city's needs at present. He favored a tractor for the Babcock truck at the Central station to be purchased immediately, but felt the other motor pieces desired might well wait until next year.

The councillor favored, however, the installation of a new fire alarm system, this year.

Councillor Sadlier spoke in favor of the order and stressed the needs of the department for new motor apparatus.

Councillors Moriarty and McMahon also favored the order in its whole amount and expressed the belief that it will be money well spent.

Councillor Gallagher, speaking again on the matter, said that if the council is to adequately protect the lives and property of its citizens, its first duty is to provide a suitable, safe and sure alarm system.

$50,000 For Fire Apparatus
On a roll call on the question of passage, Councillors Chretien, Gallagher, Genest and Stearns voted against, but it was adopted, 10 to 4, with one absent.

An order of $30,000 for sewer construction was adopted 13 to 1, Councillor Gallagher being opposed.

The council unanimously adopted

an order for bridge construction in the sum of $40,000.

In connection with this order a letter was received from Mayor Brown, in which he stated that he would approve it, if it was understood that the money shall be spent entirely for a reconstruction of the railroad bridge over Lundberg street.

An order for $25,000 for menhaden paving was the sixth loan order to be adopted and raised the total for the meeting to $220,000.

Cronin Elected 9 to 5
The mayor nominated Cornelius J. Cronin for superintendent of the employment bureau.

On a roll call vote he was confirmed, 9 to 6, with one absent. The councillors voting against the nomination were Messrs. Adams, Chadwick, Chretien, McMahon and McPadden.

On the nomination of Owen Monahan for city messenger, Edward F. Saunders for chief of the fire department and Francis A. Connor for inspector of public buildings, confirmation was voted unanimously.

Planning Board Named
The mayor then nominated as members of the planning board, Benjamin S. Pouzner for one year, Mrs. Bertha H. Olney for two years, Charles E.

Every day more and more women are proving its worth. Made of selected roots and herbs, this compound contains no harmful drugs and can be taken in safety by any woman.—Adv.

PLAYGROUND DISCONTINUED

The evening "street" playground on Chapel street, which was formerly conducted on Charles street, under the auspices of the chamber of commerce, has been discontinued owing to the objection of several residents in that vicinity. Chamber officials regret the discontinuance as the location had proved convenient to about 300 children and everything was proceeding smoothly. A new playground has been opened at Hanover and Moody streets, and it is hoped that it will be well patronized by the children of that neighborhood. ## THE LOWEST DEATH RATE AWAITING ARREST

Death and Infant Mortality Rates Struck Low Marks in 1921

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 21.—Massachusetts had the lowest death rate ever recorded in its history during the year 1921, according to the annual report of the state department of vital statistics, made public today. The lowest infant mortality rate in the commonwealth was also experienced during the same period. Alcoholism caused 97 deaths, an increase of 35 over those in 1920, corresponding to a rate of 2.5 per 100,000 population. In 1919 there were 88 deaths from this cause; in 1918, 111; in 1917, 210, and in 1916, 185. Nearly one-third (30.9) of the deaths reported in 1921 were caused by organic heart disease, pneumonia and tuberculosis in all forms. These diseases, together with apoplexy, cancer, Bright's disease, external causes, malformations and the diseases of early infancy, caused 70.1 per cent of the deaths for the year. The infant mortality table shows that there were 23,245 births in 1921 and that deaths under one year of age amounted to 7,608; 75 deaths per 1,000 live births. "A still better proof of the reduction in infant mortality," says the report, "is shown in the number of live births, interrupted only by slight decreases in the years 1894, 1898, 1901, 1919 and 1920. The actual number of infant deaths under one year of age is lower in 1921 than in any year since 1885, when the live births were only 48,799." HOYT.

Kansas Editor is Charged With Violation of Anti-Picketing Law

EMPORIA, Kan., July 21.—(By the Associated Press)—William Allen White, Kansas editor, awaited today service of a warrant for his arrest, directed by Governor Henry J. Allen, for alleged violation of the industrial court anti-picketing law, which, he was informed last night, was in preparation by Attorney General H. J. Hopkins.

Hearing of his impending arrest, Mr. White restated his defiance of the ruling of the court that to display signs in sympathy with the striking railroad shopmen was against the law. Mr. White said that he would not take down the sign which he had placed in the window of the office of his newspaper the Emporia Gazette. The sign reads: "We are for the striking railway men 50 per cent. We are for a living wage and fair living conditions." As originally placed in the window the sign read, "100 per cent" but Mr. White cut the percentage to 49 per cent Wednesday, and raised it to 50 per cent yesterday. Judge J. A. McDermott of the industrial court declares that the card in the window is lending moral support to an unlawful act and thereby creating an atmosphere in favor of law violation. Said Mr. White today: "The right to a free utterance of honest opinions is a fundamental right. Our fathers fought for it at Bunker Hill and at Gettysburg, and to restrict any from the calm expression of an honest opinion merely because there is a strike on in Kansas, is unwarranted. The governor said that Mr. White had the wrong 'slant' in placing the strike sympathy card in the Gazette window, and that he did not believe that forbidding display of the card was an attack on free speech.

POLITICAL FIGHT STILL IN DOUBT

OMAHA, Neb., July 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Adam McMullin of Beatrice today led Charles Randall of Randolph by 209 votes with fewer than 100 precincts missing in the only doubtful contest from Tuesday's statewide primary election, that for the republican gubernatorial nomination. The general opinion was that an official tabulation would be necessary to determine the winner. Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock's 3 to 1 endorsement for renomination on the democratic ticket and the victory of R. B. Howell, republican national committeeman, classed as a "progressive republican" over Congressman Albert W. Jeffers, who ran on an administration and conservative platform will bring together in November two of the state's outstanding political figures. Charles W. Bryan, brother of William Jennings Bryan, won over Dan B. Butler, in the democratic gubernatorial race.

RECRUITING STATION The local navy recruiting station signed up a new recruit yesterday in the person of John James Conlon of 314 Lakewood avenue. After a preliminary examination here, the young man was sent to Boston, and from there to the training station at Newport, R. I. It will pay you to get The Sun classified adv. habit.

EMPRESS IS TALENTED

Future Ruler of Japan is Considered Ideal Young Woman

TOKIO, July 21.—(By the Associated Press).—Princess Nagako, the future empress of Japan, whose engagement to the prince regent has just been officially announced, has attained her 20th year, and is regarded by the nation as the personification of beauty, virtue and love.

She was born in the simplest of the princely residences of the imperial family and her infancy was spent during the absence of her soldier-father, Prince Kuni, at the Russo-Japanese war, entirely under the influence of her mother, a princess of the Shunzai family, the head of the old feudal clan of Batsuna, that embodies all the stern virtues of traditional Japan.

She attended the Peers' school at a time when General Nogai was its president, and was one of the best loved girls there, being democratic in her dealings with schoolmates and teachers, of an easy and graceful bearing and quick intellect.

When two years ago she was informally selected to be the future empress, her education was especially fitted to her future duties. A study of pure Japanese style was built for her and with two girl companions she studied the Chinese classics, Japanese language and literature, ethics, history, geography and science. A special course of lectures on current events of the world enabled her to follow closely the Washington conference, and developments in China. She reads foreign books and also special political and economic articles. She is therefore thoroughly conversant with the trend of world events and thought. She also studies the Japanese constitution, the imperial household law, psychology, the new inventions.

She is a striking real beauty in French and is gifted with keen artistic temperament. She loves poetry and translated into music of her own composition a poem, "A Spring Morning." She has a good soprano voice and takes lessons in piano, water color, charcoal drawing and purely Japanese painting.

The princess is a little over the average height of Japanese women, and has always been fond of outdoor life. She has a small garden near her study where she cultivates herit flowers, strawberries and vegetables. In keeping with age-old customs she grows rice in a paddy-field of her own making an offering of the grains to the gods.

She is said to be remarkable in her devotion and every morning appears before the imperial shrine in the woods of the imperial palace to offer prayers to the imperial ancestors.

She also has learnt the use of the typewriter, one of which was brought back to her by her brother from Europe, and is fond of photography.

PROHIBITION IS DECLARED

A CIVIC ASSET

EVANSTON, Ill., July 21.—Prohibition was declared to be a civic asset by officials of chambers of commerce in some of the leading cities of the country in statements sent to the Union Signal, the official publication of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and made public by that organ.

The Union Signal quoted the following officials:

James S. Cady, secretary of the Minneapolis association: "Prohibition has proved an economic asset in our community. It has promoted thrift and has been beneficial generally to the interests of our city."

Vance C. Criss, secretary of the Springfield (Mo.) association: "Prohibition has been helpful to the community for the reason that the only generation that has not had the access to liquor that was had by young men and boys of four or five years ago. In other words, there would seem to be less opportunity by far for the members of the next generation to become addicted to the liquor habit."

Nelson Marshman, associate secretary, Springfield (Mass.) association: "I believe that prohibition has proved to be an economic asset to this community and that it has promoted thrift among our people. A statement from the various savings banks shows that more people have savings accounts and that the balances are larger."

"The charitable organizations of the city tell me that looking into consideration the recent business depression, there are fewer people receiving aid than during the time before prohibition. The former saloons in most cases are being used for other lines of business."

COMPLETE PLANS TO TRANSPORT MAILS

IS KILLED ON BROTHER'S BIRTHDAY

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 21.—Edward R. Shedd, aged 23, employed as an electrician in a power station of the Ameskeag mill, was caught in the belt yesterday and hurled through the air, being instantly killed. He met death on the fourth anniversary that his brother, Daniel K. Shedd, fell on the battlefield at Chateau-Thierry.

RAILWAY MEN TO MEET IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 21.—Electric railways of the United States and Canada represent an investment of about $5,000,000,000, and the American Electric Railway association comprises nearly 600 railway and manufacturing companies, according to executives of the association, which will hold its 11st annual convention here, simultaneously with the conventions of its subsidiary organizations, the Engineering, Transportation, Manufacturers,

Accountants and Claims associations, Oct. 2-6. This will be the first Chicago convention of the association since 1912, when exhibits were displayed at the Union stock yards. Large city and inter-urban passenger cars, motor buses and machinery of various sorts will be exhibited on the Municipal pier. The entire south side of the pier, upper level, will be used. Much of this space has already been engaged by exhibitors. Classified adv. copy must be in the day before. Tel. 4100, Sun classified adv. department.

who know, say that orderliness and readiness will transpire. With the first day of school less than 60 days away there seems to be a tremendous amount of work yet to be done. Of course, it is all included in the general term, "finishing touches," but even so, it bulks just as great.

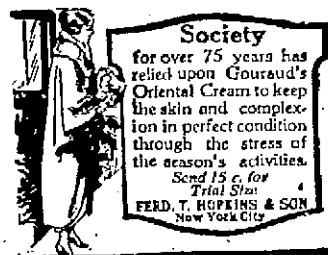

The great beauty, compactness, excellence and adaptability of the new building easily are apparent today for structurally it is complete, except, perhaps, for the auditorium, which still is being decorated and finished on walls and ceiling. This huge hall, with a stage larger than any other in the city, now is a net work of staging construction, soon to be removed, however, to allow the floor to be set.

Entire Building Attractive

While the entire building is attractive and intensely interesting and comprises a plant in which the city may well take pride, one or two rooms, or features, naturally stand out prominently in the mind of one who has been privileged to go through it. Classrooms predominate, of course, and each is properly equipped for whatever particular art or science it is to house, but, naturally, there is a marked similarity and, therefore, some of the attractiveness is overlaid. Because they are different and because nothing similar to them were included in the former school, gymnasiums for boys and girls, shower bath rooms, dressing rooms, domestic science laboratories, chemical laboratories, lecture rooms, the beautiful auditorium, the huge lunch room and rooms containing more than 1700 individual steel lockers, stand out as the most interesting features.

Beauty Centres in Auditorium

The beauty of the entire plant centers in the auditorium, to be known as the Cyrus Wendall Irish auditorium, in memory of the man who conceived the idea of just such a school plant.

Gouraud's

but who was not allowed to live to see it become an actuality. With its attractively decorated walls and ceiling and composition floor and with many easy entrances from either the floor or balcony, the hall will be one of the most useful parts of the building. Its seating capacity will be adequate for every occasion.

The main entrance from French street, through a set of three spacious doors, leads directly into the corridor that runs around the auditorium. In the basement are two gymnasiums, one for boys and one for girls, two large locker rooms for clothing during school hours and the lunch room. The lunch room will have seating accommodations at tables for 550 at one time. The serving counter runs the entire width of the room on one end and behind it are steam tables and urns and other paraphernalia necessary to the operation of a lunch room on such a large scale. Just off to one side in the store room, containing an ice chest, nine feet high and 12 feet wide.

Lunch Room Plans

It is the hope of Headmaster Henry H. Harris to have all food served in the lunch room come from the domestic science department. "Instead of having the girls in that course prepare food in sample amounts, only," said Mr. Harris, "we hope to have them bake in quantities sufficient to supply the needs of the lunch room. It will be excellent training for the students and will be a means of cutting down the cost of operation."

At the present time the corridors of the new building are filled with shipments of desks and chairs and other equipment. In rooms on the third floor desks already are in place and are rapidly being assembled and placed in position on other floors.

Main Office and Library

On the main floor will be the administrative offices and library. Several of the bookcases already are in place and the office equipment is being settled as rapidly as possible. From the office, through a switchboard, all class rooms will be connected by an interior telephone system.

A freight elevator will operate from the basement to the third floor. The old building is more or less torn up at present on account of repair work being done. New floors are being laid in the corridors, new stair treads are taking the place of those badly worn and all ceilings are being pleted.

Next fall's entering class numbers 750, the largest in the school's history and it is the plan of the administration to house all the freshmen—and only freshmen—in the older building. Seating arrangements for the entire enrollment, numbering 1700, already have been made.

MILL HAZARDS AND
HOW TO AVOID THEMIssued by the
Massachusetts Safety CouncilBy John P. Meade, director state
division of industrial safety.

In June, 1921, Mr. Hoover's committee on elimination of waste in industry, reported in its findings to the American Engineering Council at St. Louis, that incapacity from employment because of industrial injury reported annually an approximate wage loss of $1,151,000,000.

The total direct cost of industrial accidents in the United States for the same year, including medical aid and other legitimate charges, was not less than $1,104,000,000 of which $319,000,000 was borne by employers and $665,000,000 by employees and their dependents. The opinion is expressed by these eminent authorities that 75 per cent of this loss could be avoided.

In Massachusetts, one of the large industrial states, in the union, work accidents constitute a matter of public interest. During the past ten years more than one half million tabular accidents have been sustained by workmen in the industries of this state, and approximately 12,000 of these accidents involved permanent partial disability such as the loss of fingers, feet, hands, toes, limbs and the sight of eyes. Over 3400 work accidents resulted fatally, enough to constitute the population of a good sized town.

To diminish the number of work accidents requires constructive work. Education of the employee is the most important factor. This is especially true of the young people who enter industry. The hope of the future in preventing suffering and loss because of work accidents rests principally with them. Training the youth to exercise due care in the course of his employment will establish the foundation of a new attitude toward safety in industry on the part of the future men and women who will be employed in hazardous industries in the commonwealth.

In all the large manufacturing cities of the state, miners between fourteen and sixteen years of age who are employed, are required to attend the continuation school at least four hours each week. There are now forty-seven schools of this description in Massachusetts, to which comes each week 30,000 children from the mills, factories, and other places of employment in the state. Here they should be taught the significance of hazards that lurk in work places and the importance of exercising due care in the scope of their employment.

In communities where a single industry predominates, danger zones are well known to the workmen and employers. In nearly every manufacturing establishment a typical practice is responsible for painful and numerous injuries. In the textile mills, for instance, the habit of picking cotton waste from machinery while it is in motion constitutes the origin of many serious accidents. Cleaning and oiling machinery while it is in motion frequently ends in the amputation of fingers and other serious and permanently disabling injuries. Young people must refrain from such practices if they wish to avoid the pain and suffering incidental to occupational injury.

Accidents have resulted fatally because young boys engaged in the practice of operating elevators in the absence of the person authorized to do so. Others have sustained injury and mutilation by contact with running gears after they have removed guards covering them. It is gratifying to note, however, that a gradual reduction in the number of these injuries is taking place each year.

For the year ending June 30, 1919, 1921 minors between fourteen and sixteen years of age sustained tabular injuries, ten of which ended fatally and sixty-two resulted in permanent partial disability to the worker.

In the year ending June 30, 1921, five children of the same age group lost their lives because of accidents in industry and 12 suffered injuries of a permanently disabling nature. In 1919, approximately 50,000 minors between fourteen and sixteen years of age were employed. In 1920, 47,000, and in 1921, 35,000. While the number of minors in this group found in industry for the year 1921 was approximately 28 per cent, less than

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES

Texas Will Tomorrow
Choose Members for Places on State Ticket

DALLAS, Tex., July 21.—The democratic primary in Texas, which will decide many of the democratic nominees, United States senator, congressman and the state ticket will be held tomorrow.

A second primary, Aug. 28, is expected to determine the nominees in a few races. Nomination is considered equivalent to election. A majority is required for nomination in the first primary, and wherever no candidate receives a majority, the two high candidates will enter the second primary.

In the race for the United States senatorship, Senator Charles A. Culberson, incumbent, has five opponents, and in some counties possibly six. For a time James E. Ferguson, of Temple, Tex., former governor, and Mrs. Ferguson, his wife, both filed among the senatorial candidates, and as candidates against each other. They were placed in that position because Mr. Ferguson was uncertain about the attitude of the democratic state central committee towards his own candidacy, and had the committee decided his name should not go on the ballots. Mrs. Ferguson's name would have gone on, and she would have had the support of her husband. Both filed applications to have their names placed on the ballots, and the state committee accepted both applications. Mrs. Ferguson then sought to withdraw, but the state committee replied the names already had been certified to the county chairman. The attorney general gave an opinion she could withdraw if she desired, and the matter was left to the discretion of the county committee.

wherever Mrs. Ferguson's name would go on the ballot. It may appear in some counties.

Other candidates for the senatorial nomination are R. L. Henry, of Waco; Earle B. Mayfield, Austin; Clarence Osley, Fort Worth and Cullen F. Thomas, Dallas.

Texas primary elections are held on Saturdays, and the great distances make collection of returns slow. Saturday is said to have been designated election day as an outgrowth of the convention system. The conventions were held on Saturday, it is said, to accommodate those living at distances from cities. Saturday was considered a day they could best attend the political meetings. So Saturday was selected as the most convenient election day.

THE "GRAVE" MYSTERY

Much Digging

WOBBURN, July 21.—The "mystery" grave in the Golden Dome cemetery was opened yesterday and as a result the authorities have wiped the mystery from the official slate. The investigation is ended, and instead of a thrilling hunt to find those responsible for the death and secret burial of a woman, all that remains is to look back over records and find out who was laid away 10 or 11 years ago in the grave and since forgotten.

For days the Montvale section has been excited over secret burials on dark nights; women buried by lantern light; victims of heart trouble, etc. As the story went, a woman was buried in a grave in the rear of the Golden Dome cemetery, a woman whose identity was unknown and of whose death or burial there was no record. The aged superintendent of the cemetery, Harry Kritzer, dropped dead while being questioned about the affair by members of the Jewish congregation owning the cemetery.

Large Crowd

This noon the burial ground had a good-sized gathering within its confines. Some were Jews, but for the most part they were Gentiles, the latter officially present to see what the exhumation of the body would indicate. After a laborious task a flimsy pine casket was uncovered, and when the portion above the head was removed there was revealed the skull and a half of a woman, but a skull entirely bald. Incidentally the body was face down.

The box was only three feet below the surface, and as previous reports had the mystery coffin six feet under ground and brand new, immediately the impression was made that someone had switched the boxes removed, the original one found there on June 1 and substituted the old one uncovered yesterday afternoon.

Not a Jew?

The grave digger carefully scraped the sand and dirt around the head, the box being filled with dirt which had filtered through the cracks in the thin boards. Immediately Jewish members of the congregation owning the cemetery voiced the opinion that, as there was no pillow of dirt, the body was not that of a Jew.

Work was continued, and in a short time the remainder of the box was uncovered. Roots of trees had grown around the box and had penetrated its sides.

After a careful examination, Medical Examiner Stewart declared it was the skull of a man. He said that someone must have been mistaken about seeing a new box six feet in the ground and declared the box uncovered had been in the ground for years without having been disturbed other than when it was discovered last June.

He decided that the body was where it belonged, that there was no mystery, and ordered the cover replaced and the dirt shoveled back in the grave. Walking from the grave he announced that, so far as he was concerned, the incident was closed. Chief of Police McConley of Woburn took the same view.

Not Same Box, They Say

Five members of the Jewish congregation to Boston owning the cemetery, declared that on their previous visit they saw a new box, and it was six feet underground; that it was not the same box they saw yesterday and that no other grave in the cemetery had been disturbed. Attended by counsel they declared to make any further remarks other than that they would hold a meeting and decide what to do about it.

No one seemed able to explain the strange situation. It appears logical that 10 or 11 years ago some man was legally and properly buried in the grave, which is in a row exclusively for members of the congregation. The box, body and root conditions give every indication that the deceased has been buried there a long time.

A lost record, or one not properly kept would account for a lack of data about the grave. Last February a member of the congregation died and word was sent to bury him in the grave opened yesterday. The grave was opened and a box encountered. Immediately operations on the grave ended, it was filled in and the body was placed in another grave.

Early in June a delegation from the congregation went to the cemetery to inquire about the grave that had an occupant not on the cemetery books. The grave was opened again and from that visit arose the story of the new wooden box, buried six feet or more deep.

Members of the congregation called upon Harry Kritzer, the superintendent of the Little cemetery, and according to his family he was told that unless he gave up $1000 he would be exposed. He refused to pay and stories leaked out about the mysterious grave. Recently he dropped dead when investigators were questioning him.

An examination of burial permits at Boston city hall will be made in an effort to learn who the man was who was found face down in the grave yesterday afternoon. Meanwhile the bereaved members of the family of Harry Kritzer say their father was unjustly hounded to his death.

ROYAL ARCANUM
DAY OBSERVED

A joint observance of Royal Arcanum day by the members of the four local councils of the organization took place last evening in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street. There was a large attendance and the affair was graced by the presence of officers of the grand and state lodges. The program included addresses, entertainment numbers and the serving of refreshments.

In the early part of the evening a brief business meeting was held by Lowell council, 8, with Regent Frank S. Marshall in the chair. At the close of the meeting the evening's program was opened by Rodney G. Moore,

Harding To Visit Chicago

CHICAGO, July 21.—President Harding will give Chicago a tryout as a summer resort during the last in August, unless present plans go awry, F. W. Upham said today. The program for the week's visit is in the hands of Mr. Upham and Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, whose guests the president and Mrs. Harding will be.

LIE DETECTOR BARRED
FROM CRIMINAL COURT

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The "sphygmomanometer," a scientific instrument, designed to detect the presence of a falsehood, was accorded the same sort of a reception in criminal court here yesterday as was the telephone, telegraph, finger print system, when these inventions were first introduced to the general public.

Although more polite in his refusal to believe that the instrument could detect a lie than the public was, when asked to believe that the human voice could be carried over a thin wire, Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy firmly and definitely refused to allow Dr. William M. Marston of Boston, Mass., professor of psychology at the American university, to testify with regard to his tests upon James Alphonso Frye, alleged slayer of Dr. Robert W. Brown, a wealthy colored physician.

The court also refused to allow Dr. Marston to make a test in open court before the jury and intimated that the 12 men who sat in the jury box were human "sphygmomanometers," and could just as easily detect a lie as the instrument itself could.

Going further, the chief justice declared that some day, when the instrument attained the same degree of efficiency as the telegraph or the telephone exhibits today, it might be possible to make good use of the device in court, but today, the court stated, it could not be done.

regent of the Highland council and chairman of the observance committee. The speakers were Grand Regent Henry L. Hines of Springfield, N. H., Stevens of Springfield, Dr. Hugh Walker and John S. Jackson of this city and Grand SENTRY Neil Clark.

The entertainment program consisted of the following numbers: Songs, Charles Clancy, James Jones, James D. Kenney, Raoul LeClair, Frank S. Marshall; dance entitled "Lightning Steps," Al Drouin; sleight of hand performances, Thomas Knight, Raymond Kelly was the accompanist. The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of: President, Rodney G. Moore; treasurer, Neil Clark, and secretary, Frank S. Marshall, Joseph A. Kritzer, Danilo Gray, John S. Jackson, J. A. ## "Our bathroom became a problem"

"Bob says that I'm the best housekeeper in New England. That's not true, of course,—but I am sure there isn't a more particular one in the world. Imagine how I felt when my spic-and-span little bathroom developed an odor which we couldn't get rid of."

"It wasn't really objectionable, but it was always noticeable. We had the plumbing inspected. There was nothing wrong with it. I scrubbed and scrubbed and scrubbed. I used ammonia and lye and all the home-tried compounds—everything I could think of. It didn't do a bit of good. I was simply miserable."

"Bob came in with a grin one evening. 'Trust mere man sometimes,' he said—'I think we've found the remedy for the bathroom.' We had. Bob had brought home our first bottle of Sylpho-Nathol."

"I wouldn't have thought it possible that anything as easy to use could make that room fresh and sweet again in such a short time. It was almost miraculous. I wouldn't be without Sylpho-Nathol for anything. And I have found so many other necessary uses for it—it has freshened up the whole house."

For many years, thousands of thorough New England housekeepers have used Sylpho-Nathol day in, day out.

In mop-water, it assures the cleanliness that keeps families healthy. It is a necessary safeguard for sinks and drains; for damp, musty, hard-to-get-at places; for cellars; for fly-breeding garbage receptacles. And, of course, it should be used regularly around the bathroom fixtures—and as a flush for the closet bowl.

Sylpho-Nathol is 4½ times stronger than carbolic acid—yet is as safe to have in the house as a cake of scouring soap. It cannot hurt your skin. It comes in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Most good grocers and druggists have it. If yours hasn't, he can get it. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

City Council Meeting

Anderson for three years, Albert W. David for four years, and Joseph H. Elliot for five years.

On roll call votes each nominee was given unanimous confirmation.

Mayor Submits Vetoes

The mayor submitted his vetoes of three orders previously passed by the council, to wit:

1. That the city clerk shall retain counsel for the purpose of filing injunction proceedings to prevent the payment of the purchase price of the Packard touring car bought by the mayor.

2. The vote of censure, passed upon the mayor for his failure to provide the council with requested information relative to the purchase of the car.

3. The vote, advising the city auditor not to issue a warrant for the payment of the car unless the matter presented to him in legal form.

The vetoes were embodied in a lengthy communication, addressed to the council.

Councilor McPadden Speaks

Councilor McPadden replied to the communication insofar as it spoke of the councilor who introduced the order and branded him as an "obstructionist."

"Let me say," began the councilor, "that no time have any of us been prompted by personal motives. I have simply tried to safeguard the interest of the people who elect me."

"I want the mayor to know that the councilor to whom he refers is here to do his duty as he sees it, regardless of whether it pleases the city chief executive or not. As I see it, it would be more fitting and proper if he appeared before this council in person and make known to the people of the city why he persists in illegal and irregular conduct in office."

"I have never contended," continued the councilor, "that this body has the right, under the charter, to spend money, but I do hold to the contention that all expenditures must originate here. The general expense fund is not what its name implies—a general fund to cover all emergencies—and in no manner is it a fund to be played with, looted or spent at the desire and whim of any individual."

"Now that the purchase price of the mayor's Packard car has been paid, any further action to stop it would be a nullity. Therefore, the only alternative is a suit brought against the Packard Motor Car Co. to recover the purchase price of the car, amounting to $2993. Such a suit could test the validity of the purchase and determine, once and for all, whether the mayor has the right to tap the general expense fund at his pleasure and whenever the spirit moves."

Councilor McPadden then moved that the mayor's veto of the order previously passed, whereby the city clerk was instructed to engage counsel to bring injunction proceedings, be laid on the table. This was passed unanimously.

Bring Matter to Head

The councilor then presented a second motion relative to the retention of counsel to bring suit against the Packard Co., but when Councilor Gallagher suggested that the matter be brought out at the next meeting, with the mayor, auditor, purchasing agent, and commission present, Mr. McPadden withdrew his motion, to take it up again at a subsequent meeting.

Councilor Gallagher said that he did not agree with the mayor that he can do to the general expense fund whenever and for whatever he likes.

"This body is not a nullity, or a little debating society, as he would like to think," declared the councilor.

President Bagley said that he had been informed by the city solicitor that Theodore Wadwell, state director of accounts, has stated that the mayor has the right to charge up purchases against the general expense fund, but Councilor McPadden took issue and said that Mr. Wadwell's opinion is one that may be fallible.

The Mayor's Communication

The mayor's communication that accompanied the vetoes, stressed the point that the council has nothing whatsoever to do with the city's money and added:

"I shall for the rest of my term hold you strictly to this fact and if necessary have the matter decided in court." He contended that he, alone, had jurisdiction over the general expense fund and stated:

"I beg to assure your council that you may properly assume that all city officials and department heads are trying to do their duty legally and properly, and your body might well take example from them. The department heads under the direction of the mayor are functioning properly and will continue to do so if not interfered with by the legislative body of the government, which interference is expressly prohibited by the city charter."

"And in conclusion I want to say to you, gentlemen, that I have been educated through my months of service to the city of Lowell with the desire of a unanimous discharge of the city's business. I have attempted to confine myself to the executive functions which the law imposes on me as mayor of the city."

"Some members of your body have attempted to interfere in other departments of the city government, contrary to the law and the city charter. I have borne it in the anticipation and hope that you would soon learn the different functions of the different parts of the city government and confine yourselves to your own department—the legislative—and let other departments, department heads and officers confine themselves to theirs."

An attempt was made to override the mayor's veto of the vote of petition of the Saco-Lowell shops to censure, but it lost when only seven votes could be mustered in favor.

Councilors Genest, McMeniman, McMahon and Genest were opposed and three were registered as not voting.

THE LATE RT. REV. MGR. O'BRIEN

In the death of Rt. Rev. Monsignor William O'Brien, this community loses its oldest and most venerable clergyman, a spiritual leader who had always shown the deepest devotion to the welfare of all the people and an untiring zeal for the spiritual and temporal advancement of the flock committed to his care. Kind, gentle, courteous, sympathetic, he endeared himself to the people of his congregation to whom his saintly life, his whole-souled charity and his spiritual guidance came at once as an inspiration and a benediction. He belonged to the older class of clergymen in this city, numbering as he did among his closest friends, the late Rev. Fr. Roman of St. Peter's, Rev. Fr. Garin and Rev. Fr. McGrath of the Oblate order and Rev. St. John Chabre of St. Anne's Episcopal church.

True to the teachings and practice of the church in which he became a leader, he was a patriotic American and in all his occasional talks to the children of the parish schools he took special care to impress upon their minds their dual duties to God and country. A lover of liberty in the broadest sense, he hated oppression in every form and cherished the hope that ultimately justice and freedom would be vouchsafed to all mankind. As a priest, a devoted servant of the Master, he has done his work well; he has left many visible monuments to his memory, but his greatest monument is one not visible to human eye as it exists in the love and veneration of his people, the prayers and outpouring of sorrow at his rather sudden passing and the spiritual treasures hoarded in heaven by a life of labor and sacrifice in the service of God.

THE RAILROAD STRIKE

Despite occasional acts of violence in railroad yards here and there, we are confident that the strike will very soon be settled. It is announced that the chief stumbling block to a settlement at present is the retention of the seniority rule which the railroads would abolish. This the strikers will not submit to as it would deprive experienced men of the rewards due to their skill and judgment and put the unskilled employees who entered the service during the strike ahead of the older and more expert shopworkers. It would be unwise on the part of the railroads to insist upon the abolition of the seniority rule inasmuch as the new hands, if given preference over the men who have grown old in the service, could never command the respect of those so demoted. Such a change would destroy the morale of the shops and do harm instead of good. If this is all the railroad executives have to stand upon, they should yield at once, for the reason that the change they insist upon would demoralize the service.

These sporadic troubles reported from Concord, N. H., Worcester and some other points are the work of hot heads and do harm. But the leaders must do their utmost to keep their men under control and above all, to avoid any such thing as interference with the operation of trains. There is a great intensity of feeling on both sides in this railroad strike, so that a slight incident might act as a match to kindle a conflagration. That is why forbearance should be practiced on both sides lest any event should occur on either side to make a settlement more difficult than it otherwise would be.

SETTLE COAL STRIKE

There is no indication that the striking miners will return to their places in the mines even if the latter be opened as proposed under state or federal protection. This protection can help only the non-union men who wish to go to work and most of these are already employed in the union mines. It is a mistake to suppose that men untrained to the business can go into the mines and use blasting powder and perform other work of a technical nature without danger of causing explosions that will destroy the mines and the lives of those employed.

The miners' business at best is very hazardous. The great loss of life annually is proof of this and hence, the men should get a fair day's wage and they should be guaranteed continuous work if they are to live by the business of mining coal.

The whole trouble has been allowed to hang fire, with the result that now as the coal supply is running short, everybody becomes nervous. The situation has been aggravated, it is true, by the Herrin, Ill., and other outbreaks, but the longer the trouble goes unsettled, the worse will be the feeling on both sides.

The president has offered protection to all who wish to work. The miners do not wish to return until they get an acceptable settlement. Hence the necessity of taking some step to reach a basis of settlement without turning the mines over to them or allowing them to override the law or the government.

The supremacy of law and the authority of the government in enforcing it must be upheld at all hazards, as otherwise we should see a reign of terror and anarchy not a whit better than the Bolshevik regime in Russia.

TIMELY WARNING

In accordance with its duties the budget and auditing committee has notified different departments that they have already exceeded the monthly proportion of their appropriation and that if they do not reduce expenditures, they will not have enough money to carry them through the year.

This will call for supplementary budgets which, like the excess revenue already distributed, will not count in the tax rate. That is why Mayor Brown thinks there may be a reduction in the tax rate, but he must know that the rate under the circumstances will not indicate the total expenditure for the year.

The Board of Public Service is one of those notified of traveling at too fast a rate in spending the funds provided. But it may be necessary to dispose of those too expensive trucks purchased by the mayor without the sanction of the legal board.

Other expenses were also incurred without the sanction of the board and this has helped to hasten the day when the men employed will have to be dropped unless there comes a supplementary appropriation which may be difficult to procure under existing conditions.

MILLER VS. HARDING

New York republicans are evidently grooming Governor Miller as a candidate to be set up against President Harding in 1924. While giving the president and his administration a perfunctory endorsement, the republican state committee proclaims Governor Miller as "the leading statesman of the day." That is undoubtedly an indirect slap at the president.

It is a manifest of republican condemnation of Harding's idea of evading responsible leadership of congress in not pressing his policies upon both branches as did President Wilson and as has done Governor Miller in New York. What is needed at Washington is positive, clear-headed leadership as opposed to the vacillating policy and the indecision of Harding that are causing conflict and making legislative progress well nigh impossible. Republicans of New York are tired of it, as are others, and the worst is yet to come, in relation to some of the most important questions of the day.

NEBRASKA SPEAKS

Again has the republican administration at Washington received a rebuff, this time from the state of Nebraska, which has repudiated the Old Guard and nominated for the United States senate a progressive republican in the person of Robert H. Howell. This is another repulse to be added to those administered by Pennsylvania, Indiana, Iowa, and North Dakota. It certainly appears that if we had a national election tomorrow, the republican party would be buried as deeply as was the democratic in 1920—because of a woful lack of results in the practical solution of the great questions of reconstruction such as the tariff, the merchant marine, the bonus and the settlement of labor troubles.

AIR GLIDING

An airplane without a motor flies for five minutes at Ipswich, Mass. It is the glider type, manned by its inventors, three young technical students.

This particular machine, which will compete at the international gliding contest in France during August, may be the forerunner of planes that will move in the air like sailboats on water.

It is an experimental model, not practical yet. But it is interesting as a step in the progress toward the day when men will master the air as well as the eagle or albatross.

Incidentally, the glider takes us back to the early experiments of the Wright brothers, before they adopted motors.

ELECTRICITY

Sixty-six thousand volts of electricity are said to have passed through the body of young Edward Sudowsky, at Westfield, Mass. Playing, he had climbed a 150-foot steel tower and got tangled in high tension wires. The lad, nine years old, was rescued after the current was shut off. Brought to the ground, he walked part way to the ambulance.

Two thousand volts would have killed him instantly. In terrific quantities, such as lightning, electricity often is like an over-dose of arsenic. This mysterious force will be the universal power of the future.

THE CANDY BILL

Cost of running the national government now is nine cents a day for each of us, and for candy we spend two cents a day apiece.

William Moffatt, of the National Salesman's association, says the nation's candy bill is $760,000,000 a year. Half of this big sum is spent by the kiddies, in pennies and nickels.

We notice the government's cost because most of it is assessed in a lump, while candy and similar luxuries take their toll in small but steady nibbles.

LEADERS

American auto factories in June turned out 271,000 cars. At this rate, Americans are buying in a year more autos than exist in all other countries of the world combined.

In the world are 13,699,000 autos. And 19,500,000 of them are in America. That should stop much grumbling against our standard of living and average prosperity.

Ex-Governor Eugene N. Foss has entered the fight for the democratic nomination for governor, a fact that will probably add to the spectacularity of the campaign. He is an astute politician who did some good things when in office. But the voters of today have forgotten all about them and will hardly see the necessity of picking the "Old Boy" from the field.

There should be no trouble beyond a period of hard and enthusiastic work in putting the movement for the high school athletic field over the top. It will be of great service to the youth of the city and an aid in building up young people with strong and healthy bodies.

SEEN AND HEARD

One day last week a man didn't cut himself, with a safety razor.

They killed a 160-pound turtle for Tatt in London. The sea air suits gave him an appetite.

Sometimes a woman marries a man to have something to lean on, and then goes and sits down on him.

This strange animal that leaps 30 feet, rearing the Kentucky woods may be a pedestrian practicing for his return to town.

A THOUGHT

Time was, I shrank from what was right. From fear of what was wrong; I could not brave the sacred fight. Because the foe was strong.

But now I cast that drier sense And sorer shame aside; Such dread of sin was indolence. Such aim at heaven was pride.

—John Henry Newman.

Today's Word

Today's word is avarice. It's pronounced a-vay-ris, with the accent on the first syllable. The first a and the l are short. The second a is the a in ask. It means—Excessive love of money or gain; covetousness. The adjective is avaricious. It comes from the French "avare," taken from the Latin avaritia, (from avare, meaning avaricious). It's used like this: "To desire money for its own sake, and to hoard it up, is avarice."

Quite Professional

Wouldn't Miss It

Jones suffered from a weak heart, a weak liver, and weak digestion. In fact, he was one of those people who have or think they have something serious the matter with them. Recently he went to see a friend at the seaside in the hope of obtaining relief from at least one of his chronic ailments. A few days after his arrival he was walking along the beach with his host, when suddenly he remarked: "I drank a glassful of sea water yesterday and I really think I derived relief from it. I wonder," he added, "do you think I might take a second glass?" His host hesitated for a while. Then: "Yes," he said, "I think you might. I don't fancy it will be missed."

Did the Peer Pay Them?

A peer who has the reputation of being stingy has money matters hired a taxi on a wet afternoon to take him to Victoria station, where he handed the cabman less than the legal fare. The driver demanded another shilling, but was met with a prompt and firm refusal. "You came the longest way in order to extort money," declared the man of title. "Why didn't you drive through St. James' park?" "Cos St. James' park is closed," said the driver, "that's why." "Nonsense! I know better," objected his lordship, sternly. "It's quite right," persisted the driver. "They say that Lord —" (naming the peer who confronted him) "dropped a shilling in the park yesterday and the gates are closed until they find it!" —London Mail.

Pretty Ignorant

Representative Cannon was arguing a tariff question at a dinner in Danville. "My opponent," he said, "reminds me of the young lady at the races. This young lady's escort said to her: 'Podasokus is the favorite. Suppose I put a 10-spot on him for you both ways?' 'O yes, that will be jolly,' said the young lady. 'Well, the race was run and Podasokus, the favorite, was nowhere. How much do I get?' cried the young lady, as poor old Podasokus arrived, and she clapped her little hands together for joy. 'Win nothing,' said her escort. 'But how silly you are!' said the young lady sharply. 'Didn't I bet Podasokus both ways? Then of course, of course, whether he won or lost!' —Detroit Free Press.

In Our House

My mother waddles when she walks in our house; And so at fattening foods she balks in our house; Potatoes, bread and juicy meats—Are things she never, never eats—We live on spinach, squash and beans in our house.

My father's laid up with the gout in our house. A dreadful thing to have about in our house. He doesn't touch a scrap of meat Or anything that's a scrap of meat—They're serving nothing fit to eat in our house.

I wonder what they're driving at in our house. He can't eat this—Ma won't eat that in our house. And yet Ma takes a pound a day, And Daddy goes in here to stay; While I am fading fast away in our house. —Judge.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

I have occasion to cross Central bridge quite frequently and consequently see strange things. Yesterday was no exception. The excessive heat of the day and the cool-appearing waters of the Merrimack offered a temptation to several youngsters in that vicinity to take a dip and thereby escape, for a time at least, the humid atmosphere of the sultry day. It is only natural that they should do this, but I can point out better places than that chosen by the youngsters here, on the Centralville side of the bridge. A huge rock is used for diving purposes and the more experienced divers strike out into the swift current of the river, where, before a large gathering on the bridge, they indulge in all kinds of aquatic stunts of a dangerous nature. That order sent out by a board of health against bathing in that part of the river because of contamination was apparently never heard of by these bathers. From the stiff limb of a neighboring tree, hangs a rope, from which fully-clothed youngsters swing back and forth over the waters, some of them getting an occasional ducking, and all of them taking a perilous chance by doing so.

Tired congressmen, senators and representatives, as well as busy debutantes and other society folk of fashionable Washington, need no longer worry about going to church on Sunday, if they are so inclined. The radio, which has performed so many wonders of late, is now played by modern churches to broadcast sermons and music to those who prefer the quietude and peace of their abode. A recent announcement states that a certain church in the most exclusive section of the capital broadcasts three sermons every Sunday together with the full musical program of the various services, and these within a radius of 500 miles. In the good old-fashioned days churchgoers always looked forward to Sabbath services, especially the women, who delighted in parading to their respective meeting houses "all dressed up in their Sunday finery."

Traffic Supervisor Ed. Connors remarked at some length the other day on the many troubles of the traffic officers, particularly by people who have serious collisions with passing automobiles. When asked if they are hurt, most of them reply in the negative and pass along. Their injuries, consisting of bruises in most cases, which are not felt at the moment, develop the next day and they seek out the traffic officer to ascertain the number of the machine which inflicted the injuries. Of course, when a person claims that he has received no hurt and passes the matter off lightly, an officer cannot be expected to record a registration number and the change of mind of the injured party leads to an absurd situation. Only one remedy presents itself. Every person who is injured in such an incident should try to secure all possible information at once, thus protecting themselves in case of the injury developing a more serious aspect.

Playground features this year seem destined to outdo anything in previous years. In the boys' activities, baseball will be played by not only one team from each playground as in former years, leaving the littler fellows out in the cold, but an additional league has been formed for the boys under 12 with an inter-sectional arrangement which will not cause worry to mothers by having their children going to a distant part of the city, as in the case of the older boys. Of course the "champs" in each group will have to meet toward the end of the season, but the best of care will be given them. Other athletic events of interest are being carried out, and will keep the youngsters' minds and legs busy until school resumes its sessions in September. The girls are not being neglected, as is evidenced by the formation of the new baseball league. It is somewhat of a radical departure for the school girls to take up such an active game, confined, practically, to boys up to the present time. The girls who are attaining prominence in this boys game and in active competition with boys must have had something to do with the undertaking of this project in playground work.

One of the local business men received an interesting foreign draft the past week. It is drawn on the Asia Banking Corporation and is to be paid in U. S. currency. The draft was made in Hankow, China, a city of 300,000 inhabitants, mailed from Shanghai 600 miles distant, on June 22, and arrived in Lowell July 18. At one end of the draft there is a series of Chinese hieroglyphics and the general wording of it is entirely different from our forms. It clearly specifies twice that the money is to be paid in U. S. gold. The postage for sending the letter on its transcontinental trip was ten cents.

INSURANCE MEN FROLIC AT CANOBIE LAKE

Figuring on a good time rather than on debts, the Lowell Life Insurance Underwriters advanced on Canobie Lake yesterday morning for their first yearly outing. The custom has been to unite with the Boston underwriters and hold a joint picnic, and this year the Lowell men decided to hold their own outing.

With over 100 in attendance, they left for the park in a special electric car, and many more went over the road in machines. There was quite a number of guests from Boston and other cities, who also went by machine.

On reaching the grounds the first event on the program was the battle between the players of the John Hancock Co. and the Metropolitan Co. The game of battle had been thrown into the arena some time ago and there was intense rivalry. At the end of the second inning, with the score 12 to 2 in favor of the Hancock's, the Metropolitans crashed on the umpires and new men were rushed into the breach. The game was finally won in the seventh inning by the Hancock's by the score of 18 to 10. Charles C. Gilman, past president of the Boston association, finished the game as umpire. The lineup: John Hancock—Allard, C. Prescott, P. Pascal, B. Riley, S. Golden, B. Brown, B. Taylor, C. Connor, C. Horne, H. Metropolitan—Kerzock, C. Cayley, P. Hackett, B. Miller, B. Tilton, B. Perkins, B. McCarthy, J. Jettette, C. Mellor, H.

At the finish of the game the picnicers lined up and a group picture was taken. About two o'clock a vegetable banquet was served in the dining hall of the park restaurant and it received the mark of approval of the hungry diners. During the afternoon a series of races and athletic events were run off and afforded great sport for the men.

There were several invited guests including Charles C. Gilman, past president of the Boston underwriters and secretary of the national organization, Frank W. Gagne, president of the Boston group, Lloyd K. Allen, Boston secretary, Clinton Ferguson, and Robert Moore, prominent Boston insurance officials.

The committee in charge consisted of the following men: Chairman, P. F. Quinn, E. J. Chamberlain, president of the local club, H. J. Gregoire, Thos. Deane, Leo Kerzock, William Brown, John F. Collins, Harry Pascal, Robert Mulvey, and Alphonse Fortier.

OUT-DOOR MOVIES IN LAKEVIEW AVENUE

The second in the series of out-door movies on the Lakeview avenue ball grounds was recited off last night under the auspices of the park department, before an audience of men, women and children, the latter greatly outnumbering the elders. The graphophone machine worked to perfection, and an hour's enjoyable program was carried out without a hitch. About 9 o'clock, the first picture flashed on the improvised screen and was hailed with clamorous shouts on the part of the 500 or more film fans.

A five-reeler, "The Man Trapper," featuring Frank Larkin, was the main attraction, and the action of the hero and heroine were followed with anxious eye by those present. A one reel comedy, "Makers of News" concluded the performance, and in the course of a few minutes, the old ball ground was once more deserted.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem THE PEST

Of the many folk who drive, the majority will strive. To be moderately careful as they go; It is more or less their code as they spin along the road. To give other drivers something of a show; Now and then, of course, you're stuck by some driver of a truck Who will hog the road while traveling in first; But of all the pests there are on the front seat of a car, It's the chauffeur of a taxi who's the worst!

He will pass you on the right, and it fills him with delight When he makes you execute a sudden swerve, And his eyes with pleasure shine when he crowds you out of line Or he blocks you when you want to turn a curve; And he knows a joy unique when he hears your brake-bands shriek As he shoots across the roadway like a flash; He's a most annoying bird and his risibles are stirred When you just escape involvement in a smash!

Oh, he holds the rules in scorn, and he never blows his horn, And he loves to make your tresses stand on end, And he likes to bawl you out when you're nervous and in doubt—He is every driver's foe and no man's friend! So I'm waiting with a thrill till I get such wondrous skill I can beat him at his own peculiar sport; Then I'll somehow so contrive that he'll have to turn and drive Up the stairway to the courthouse into court! ## Godley Tells How to Get Best Results From Super-Regenerative Receiver

By PAUL F. GODLEY

America's Foremost Radio Authority (This is the fifth of a series of articles on the Armstrong super-regenerative circuit.)

The inductive coupler used in the super-regenerative set may be assembled very handily by arranging a variable standard make alongside a coil about five inches in diameter wound with 25 turns of number 22 double cotton-covered magnet wire have been wound.

The supporting form of this coil should be of such size that it may be set up close and still permit the ball of the variometer to turn freely. Care should be taken to see that the windings upon the coil are running in the same direction as those upon the variometer as they sit side by side. If the connections indicated in Figure 3 are used. Otherwise regenerative action would be impossible.

With the completion of this coupler and the air core choke, and the purchase of the other parts listed in this column yesterday, the radio fan is ready to hook up his set.

To set this circuit in operation, carefully check all connections, according with Figure 3, published here yesterday. Then place a pair of headphones between the positive terminal of the "B" battery and the inductance, of the controller circuit.

Then light the filament of the tube. Set condenser, C1, at very near the full scale value.

Adjust C2, temperature of the filament until a very high pitched audible tone is heard.

Remove the phones from the controller circuit. It continues to oscillate.

Tube R is next lighted and the pick-up circuit and tickler are adjusted for a given station until the circuit is oscillating strongly. If a fairly strong "pluck" is heard in the telephone, both when the finger is placed upon, and removed from, the grid terminal of the tube R, the circuits are in oscillation.

phones. The advance of the tickler control having been continued, the hissing begins to lessen and finally, almost, if not entirely, stops.

At that time the circuits are approximately properly adjusted for reception.

Acting By Radio a Weird Sensation—Applause Comes By Mail

ACTING BY RADIO. (ABOVE) GEORGE AND HERBERT HAYES. (BELOW) FRED WILLIAMS' BROADCASTING A SERIAL STORY

Acting by one person over the radio-phones isn't new any longer.

But presenting a play by the entire company is more recent.

It's harder than acting the parts on the stage, say those who have tried it. That's because they cannot tell whether the play is "going over."

There is no audible applause, as in the playhouse. There is no visible audience. It is all a weird, uncomfortable sensation.

Yet, once they have tried acting by radio the players like it. For there is no perspiring behind hot footlights, no quick changes, no need of makeup.

Among the first who tried "acting" a whole play by radio were Grace

George and Herbert Hayes. They sat

near a microphone in a San Francisco broadcasting station and recited their parts. They could not tell whether they had only one person or a million for their audience. But the letters of appreciation that came in later they believe it was nearer the larger figure.

Encouraged by the enthusiasm shown in the reception of plays by radio, a San Francisco newspaperman tried the stunt of broadcasting its serial story. Fred V. Williams, newspaper writer, began his latest product in serial form. Cards from radio fans throughout the area have proven to the newspaper that this form of broadcasting was popular.

Drug Stores Lose Licenses

BOSTON, July 21.—Thirty Massachusetts druggists have been deprived of their federal permits to sell spirituous liquors on prescription during the year ending July, 1923, Prohibition Director Potter said today.

Most of the druggists, it was said, have stores in Greater Boston. Director Potter added that he recommended revocation of 17 additional permits.

MOTORISTS NOT HELD UP IN MAINE

The report that motorists traveling through Maine would have to obtain additional registration has been dispelled by the statement of Governor Baxter. There are quite a number of Lowell people who tour through Maine during the summer and they were quite perturbed by the report.

The statement is to the effect that the ordinary motorist will be charged nothing extra for operating his car in the state of Maine, providing he has a license in some other state. Truck drivers, however, will be required to have special registration to run their cars in the state of Maine.

LOWELL DIVISION SHOWS DEFICIT

According to a statement just issued by the Eastern Massachusetts street railway, the Lowell division of that company shows a deficit of $4,553.09 for the month of June. The total revenue for the month was $96,412.61. The total operating expenses and taxes $73,555.70, the interest on cost of property $21,420, making the total cost of service $100,994.70.

They were the property of Frank E. Jewett & Co., of 81 West Adams street, older and vinegar manufacturers. The bank book and checks were turned over to the police by the finder.

Gypsies Rescued From Boston Mob

BOSTON, July 21.—Suspected of having kidnapped a white child who was found in one of their wagons, a band of gypsies was pursued through the Roxbury district by a large crowd last night. The police arrived in time to save the gypsies from a beating. When taken to police headquarters, the travelers offered proof, including a birth certificate, that the child was theirs. They also said that they had been detained in 20 cities between Chicago and Boston, until they could show that the child had not been stolen.

Hold Important Positions

LONDON, July 21.—Two Americans are now identified with important committees of the Council of the League of Nations. Prof. George Ellery Hale, director of the Mount Wilson observatory of the University of California has been appointed a member of the committee on intellectual co-operation. Dr. Josephine Baker of Boston, has won the honor of being the first woman to be identified with the league in a professional capacity. She is a member of an important health committee.

ABOUT THE PLANET MARS

Staff of Lowell Observatory
Elated Over Recent Studies
About Planet

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., July 21.—Members of the staff of Lowell observatory here are elated over recent studies of the planet Mars, which they assert, bear out the theories of the late Percival Lowell, founder of the observatory, as to snowfall and vegetation on the little red planet. Mars, nearest neighbor of this world with the exception of Venus, is closer to the earth now than at any time in 18 years. Observations have been in progress for the past five months each hour of every night that weather conditions would permit. Hundreds of photographs and charts have been made. The seasons on Mars have the same significance as on our earth and occur in the same manner, but are about twice the length of our own, according to Doctors E. C. and V. M. Slipher of the observatory staff. A statement by them on the results of the latest observations here follows:

"Winter has been occurring in the southern hemisphere of the planet Mars and the extensive dark areas there are now faint and have been so for some time, betokening the dead season of vegetation in conformity with the view held by Lowell regarding the seasonal changes on the planet.

about the south pole of Mars, which for some months has appeared to consist of only mist or cloud covering the south polar regions of the planet down to latitude 40 degrees, is now disappearing and disclosing a mantle of snow beneath. The spring season for the southern hemisphere is now approaching, the season there at present corresponding to our March 21, and these changes are characteristic of late winter over the south of Mars.

"In the northern hemisphere autumn is arriving and the polar cap there has already become conspicuous, having increased rapidly during the last few Martian nights. On the night of June 17 it was observed that when the planet's longitude 265 came into Martian sunrise, and therefore visible to us, that a vast area there had during the preceding night been covered by a bright canopy. This bright hood faded off toward the equator but was discernible down nearly to 50 degrees north latitude and veiled the darker markings of the northern part of the planet. This event marked the first really big autumn storm in the northern hemisphere of Mars so far this year. On that date the Martian season corresponded to our Sept. 18. Early indications of autumn made their appearance a month and a half ago at a Martian season corresponding to our late August. These observations have been recorded on photographs.

RICE CROP IS SERIOUSLY THREATENED

TOKIO, July 21.—The rice crop of Japan has already been severely threatened owing to a prolonged drought. While the "Nyubai" or rainy season started well, a heavy down-pour occurring on June 10, there has been little or no rain since and in some districts the farmers are already planting buckwheat, beans, and other cereals in their paddy fields. This lack of water applies to virtually the whole country and Korea and in some places there is even a shortage of drinking water. Farmers have been even fighting among themselves to get a share of the scanty supply. The residents of Tokio have been warned to preserve water.

INTEREST IS NOT SUFFICIENTLY WIDE

PORTLAND, Me., July 21.—E. L. Kessler of Charlotte, N. C., said interest in building and loan associations is not sufficiently wide, while J. Warren Smith of Redlands, Cal., claimed there is a "lamentable lack of knowledge" on the part of the public of the system by which they are operated, in addresses before the United States League of Loan and Building Associations yesterday. Missionary work and more publicity were suggested as remedies.

ALLEGED BURGLARS IN DISTRICT COURT

The two young men who were arrested in the unoccupied home of Boyden H. Pillsbury at 237 Neam street last night, were arraigned in court this morning, charged with breaking and entering and larceny, as their cases were continued to July.

Paul Abbott, 20 years of age, was held in $1200 bail, as the value of the covered station property was appraised at $1000, and Augustine Fitzgerald, 19 years of age, was held in $500.

The young fellows were arrested the house last night about 7.45. Silent Walsh and Officers Morris and Considine. Neighbors had seen them prowling around the house and notified the police. When they arrived and entered the house they found that every room had been ransacked. In one room they found a heap of jewelry ready to be carried off. The officers, after a search, only found the two in a closet in the attic.

When questioned, the pair admitted the break and said it was the second time they had been there. The last time they had pried open a window leaving a door open on their exit, so that they might return. Abbott told the police of a locker he had at the Y.M.C.A. and in this they found the bags containing a collection of jewelry, watches, combs and valuable he looms.

Dr. Pillsbury had gone on an automobile trip and the house was unoccupied at the time. He is travelling through Canada and expects to return home within a week, so the case was continued till his return.

Adventures of the Twins

MRS. WOODCHUCK HELPS TO DELAY BELIEF TO MINK

MRS. WOODCHUCK SAW THE LITTLE FAIRY DOCTOR AND THE TWINS COMING

Everybody "In all Whispering Forest and Bright Meadowland tried to keep Dr. Snuffles and his helpers, Nancy and Nick, from getting as far as Mary Mink's house.

Mary had swallowed a fish-bone, and as long as it stuck in his throat he wouldn't eat a bite. That tickled all the wood-folk and meadow-folk mightily for no one's life was safe when Mary was hungry and around, looking for a meal.

Mrs. Woodchuck saw the little fairy doctor and the twins coming. She waited until they got opposite her front door and then—

"Oh, oh, oh!" she cried. "Oh, oh! Somebody help! Quick!"

Mary Mink and his fish-bone flew out of Dr. Snuffles' hand. He hurried into Mrs. Woodchuck's hall and right back to her sitting-room.

"What's the matter? Who's hurt?" he called. And then he spied Mrs. Woodchuck rocking herself back and forth in a corner and wailing.

"It's my thumb!" cried Mrs. Woodchuck. "I was putting in a nail when the hammer slipped and oh, oh, oh, you'll have to fix it, doctor!"

"Mr. oh, my!" exclaimed the doctor. "That's too bad. Let me see it! Why, there isn't a mark! Are you sure such is the right thumb?"

"Of course," declared Mrs. Woodchuck tartly. "It's my right hand, isn't it?"

Then the three started for Mary's house again.

But some more things were to happen.

POLICE TAKE $20,000 WORTH OF BOOZE

SALEM, July 21.—Liquor valued at $20,000 was seized on Hale street in Beverly Farms by police today, and the two drivers of the trucks were arrested. They were Alfred Provancher of Peabody and Guy W. Cunningham of Beverly.

Police said they believed that the cargo was being transported from a boat off West beach. Revenue officers took charge of the burlap packages and cases of liquor and held it in the Salem customs house.

Two men driving a touring car that followed the trucks along the highway escaped from custody after hurrying Patrolman William Brown from the machine. Brown was carrying the men to the Beverly police station.

MOVIES TONIGHT ON NORTH COMMON

A program of municipal movies will be given tonight on the North common by the park department. This is the "show" scheduled for Tuesday night of this week, but postponed because of rain.

In connection with the outdoor picture programs being given this year, a new curtain has been tried out and has worked so well that the department will purchase one at once. It is of rubber composition and enables persons 100 feet away to see a picture clearly. Last year plastic curtains were used, but they were not so good for clarity as this one.

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

New Angle to Liquor Traffic
Shown in Case Before
Judge Pickman Today

A new phase of the liquor question arose in the district court this morning when a lawyer asked the court to make a finding in keeping with the spirit of the law, which is now in the process of formulation, and which will become a statute within a month. In substance this law will prevent the introduction in court of evidence, in the form of liquor, which a man has in his personal possession. The lawyer called the arrest of a man on such evidence an infringement on personal liberty.

Judge Pickman agreed that there was a difference in the possession of liquor in a private house and a store in regard to the intent to sell the same, but in this case the man, John Manekos, had given tacit evidence of his intent to sell by his story. He fined him $100. He appealed and his case will be heard in superior court.

According to the story of the government, the man had been taken into custody as a suspicious character. He was carrying a bag at the time and when this was opened the officers found two gallon jugs of liquor. Manekos explained it by saying that it was his liquor and that he was going to a farm to have a good time. He said he intended to sell the "shine" and send the proceeds to his wife in Greece.

The question as to how far a person can go in his efforts to persuade another to quit work was laid down by the court in the case of Manikio Lebedent, who was charged with assault and battery on a young woman, who is still at work in the Massachusetts mills. The defendant admitted the assault, but denied that she was a picket or belonged to any union. The use of force by any person to persuade another to refrain from work in time of a strike is absolutely against justice, according to the court and Judge Pickman fined the defendant $25.

Victor Carlier, who broke a store window while intoxicated, was released to the probation officer. He was given three weeks to pay the cost of repairing the damage he had done, amounting to $10.

Another broken window at a drug store brought John Hill into court on the charge of drunkenness. The damage in this offence was $35, and the defendant was fined $25.

With the understanding that he would pay not less than $3 a week until the total amount was liquidated, the defendant was sentenced to the house of correction for three months.

Peter Prescott and Joseph Marquette were arraigned together, the first on the charge of drunkenness and driving a machine while in that condition, and the latter on the charge of drunkenness. Prescott was found not guilty on both charges, while Marquette was fined $3, as it was his second offence.

Paul McKenzie, a taxi driver, was before the court for driving without a license. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

Mr. Earl C. Stevenson and Miss Ella L. Clement were married Wednesday at the home of Rev. A. E. Dille at Amherst. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Foss of North Wilbraham. They will make their home at 611 School street, this city.

Dye House Employees at Mass.
Mills Quit Work—Hanley's Statement

The latest development of the strike at the Massachusetts mill is the walk-out of about 50 per cent. of the employees of the dye house of the mill, which occurred yesterday afternoon. According to reports at strike headquarters about thirty of the sixty employees of that department left their work after being informed that their wage reduction would be. The men are not connected with any labor organizations, but they are now making arrangements to become organized under the banner of the United Textile Workers of America.

Commenting upon the statement made yesterday by Agent Mitchell of the Massachusetts mill, to the effect that intimidation had been going on and that threats had been made against some of the employees of the mill, Chairman John Hanley of the strike committee, said if any intimidation has been carried on or threats made, it was not on the part of members of the United Textile Workers of America, for the members of the organization have always been urged and warned not to resort to any tactics that were not considered peaceful, while picketing, and so far all have followed instructions to the letter.

"It seems strange," said Mr. Hanley, "that two or three days after a strike has taken place at the Massachusetts mill the agent should come out with such a statement, while during the 23 weeks that pickets have been on duty at the Hamilton Mfg. Co., there has never been a complaint from either the mill officials nor the police. Picketing at the Massachusetts mill is being done by the same element that has picketed the other mill for months, that is, all members of the United Textile Workers of America.

The members of the United Textile Workers of America are in law and order and we have demonstrated this in the past. We have had strikes in Lowell and other cities but have always conducted them in a very peaceful manner with the result that oftentimes the newspapers and city officials, by commendation and encouragement of the strikers, have been going on, we are again in accord with the agent in believing that the trouble makers have been sent here by some agency, but not one connected with the labor organizations. We are inclined to believe, however, that the talk about intimidation and threatening is purely propaganda to secure public opinion against the strikers."

A meeting of the Polish workers of the Massachusetts mill will be held at the Polish club at the corner of Lakewood and Coburn streets, tonight, at 7:30 o'clock. The gathering will be addressed by a Polish speaker of Manchester, N. H.

Picketing at the plant of the Hamilton Mfg. Co. has been temporarily stopped by union officials, as it is felt that the picketing of the Massachusetts plant is more important for the present. Those who were doing picket duty at the Hamilton have joined the ranks of the Massachusetts pickets and are helping them in their endeavor to have those employed at the plant fall in line with the strikers. Picketing at the plant of the Bay State Cotton Corp. was brought to a stop a few weeks ago. Very few of the strikers of the Merrimack Mfg. Co. are organized and for that reason little attention is given that mill.

WELL KNOWN TRIANGLE
BELLMORE, N. Y., July 21.—A month ago William Mohman's sweetheart arrived from Germany and two weeks later they were married. The bride took a dislike to her mother-in-law, and to living in the country and begged Mohman, a baker, to move to New York city, but he refused. Yesterday the bride left him, saying she would not return. Today Mohman committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn.
